Rescuers Battling To Reach Miners

TOWER CITY, Pa. (AP) — Rescuers dredged through splintered timbers and muddy debris today trying to reach nine miners trapped in a flooded-out mine and given little chance of survival. One miner died and three were injured when a three-foot-high wall of water surged through a tunnel wall at midday Tuesday. Despite repeated attempts through the night, rescuers working in teams of five could come no closer than a few hundred feet from where the miners were thought to be. There was no sign of life from within the flooded Porter Tunnel of the Kocher Coal Co. mine in Schuylkill County near here, rescuers said. The mile-long tunnel is under a 400-foot mountain.

"I don't know if we'll find anybody alive in there," said a grimy-faced worker who left the damp, black tunnel at change of shift midnight Tuesday.

"We keep shouting, but we don't hear a thing," he said. About 100 men were working underground at the time of the accident. Three of those who scrambled to safety were hospitalized in guarded condition. Wives, mothers and relatives kept vigil at the main entrance, gazing tight-lipped at the gaping tunnel. They could only pray the miners had found an air pocket on high ground.

"There's always that possibility, but the probability is very unlikely," said John Shuck, district manager of the federal Mining Enforcement and Safety Administration.

Walter Vincinelli, state commissioner for deep mine safety, said teams made their way through a network of connecting passageways at a higher level than the tunnel floor.

Most of the water drained immediately from the tunnel, which is 18 feet wide and 10 feet high.

The mine burrows into the side of a mountain dotted with abandoned shafts overhead. Officials could not say where the water came from, but the old shafts above are filled with water.

"We had a breakthrough of impounded water," said Leon Richter, vice president in charge of deep mining for the Kocher Co. "We do not know where it came from."

Richter said the company always drills bare holes at least 20 feet ahead of a work area to let overhead water drain. The spot where the water broke through was drilled Monday, 35 feet ahead of operations, Richter pointed out.

The dead man was identified as Gary Klinger, 19, of Hegins. Klinger was loading coal about 5,000 feet from the portal when the water came, Richter said. He apparently drowned.

"There was only a short warning before it hit," said Jim McFale, who was working in Klinger's crew. "We heard a rumble and then the water was coming down on us."

The gush carried McFale, 24, about 100 feet down the tunnel. He clung to timbers and managed to climb up a ladder and out an air shaft.

Milliken Gets Rebuffed In Weighmaster Transfer

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Rebuffed in his attempt to give state police authority to enforce trucking regulations, Gov. William Milliken said Tuesday he will try it the legislature's way.

Milliken ordered a bill be prepared to transfer authority over truckers from the Department of Commerce to the state police. An aide said that would accomplish the transfer as Milliken had ordered, but also would meet the objection that Milliken was avoiding the legislative process on the issue.

The state Senate on a show of hands Tuesday approved the resolution blocking the governor's order to transfer 81 weighmasters from the commerce department to the state police. The order was opposed by the Teamsters Union. Majority Democrats complained Milliken tried to make an endrun around the legislature by ordering the switch himself.

Republicans in the Senate failed to muster enough support for roll-call votes, and the resolution passed when 19 of the 35-man chamber raised their hands.

The state House, also controlled by Democrats, approved the resolution some time ago.

Milliken said he was disappointed by the action, and noted that "both houses ... have refused even to take a record roll-call vote."

The House first took a roll call, and defeated the resolution, then reconsidered it and passed it on a voice vote.

"It is ironic that the legislature has accused me of trying to circumvent the legislative process and then refused to allow its votes to be publicly recorded on this important issue which means so much to efficiency in government and traffic safety," Milliken said.

Senate Majority Leader William Faust, D-Westland, said he felt Milliken's bill would pass the Senate.

Faust has criticized Milliken's attempt to make the transfer by executive order, but said Tuesday: "I don't have much trouble with the concept."

But the Teamsters are expected to continue their powerful opposition to the idea. They claimed it might weaken state enforcement of the trucking industry's monopoly protections, such as route regulations.

Milliken said the transfer would eliminate the need for coordination between state police and motor carrier officers, while working on the same task.

He also said it would improve communications by providing weighmasters with state police radios, would give them more training, and would provide them with more protection in state police backup and the use of firearms.

Supporters of the order argue the unarmed commerce agents are wary of cracking down on trucking violations, especially at night when they are out of touch with department bases.

And they said truckers apparently fear tougher enforcement of speed and weight limits by the state police — a charge the Teamsters deny.

The transfer also had the support of the commerce department and state police, as well as the Michigan State Employees Association.

Social Security Tax Boost Gains Support

By JIM LUTHER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Virtually every American is almost certain to get a tax cut this year. But there's a good chance that by next January you'll pay higher payroll taxes to finance Social Security, and the burden may fall more heavily on the poor. This year's reduction, still being considered by Congress, would mean lower federal income taxes for all but the wealthiest families.

But while there is general agreement in Congress on the need to cut income taxes to stimulate the economy, there is growing concern the Social Security system will go bankrupt unless it is able to keep collecting more taxes than it pays out in benefits.

Although President Carter has not yet offered his own recommendations, the Senate Finance Committee took a first step Tuesday that could mean a hike in the Social Security tax and higher benefits for retirees.

The panel, writing a report on its fiscal 1978 spending and tax plans, agreed the budget should recognize the possibility of the tax increase and the likelihood of a $500 million boost in benefits.

While that tentative decision is not binding, it does indicate strong support in the tax-writing committee for the tax hike.

On the good news side, the panel endorsed phasing out the "earnings test," which costs a recipient $1 in benefits for each $2 of income above $3,000 a year. The panel recommended $500 million to finance a start in the phase-out and other benefit increases.

The panel estimated the already scheduled July 1 cost-of-living increase in Social Security benefits will be 5.5 per cent.

President Ford asked Congress in 1976 to raise Social Security taxes. The idea was rejected on both sides of Capitol Hill as unwise in an election year. But there was a general recognition that Social Security taxes would have to be raised soon or regular tax revenues would have to be diverted into the pension system.

Pension experts say the system should have enough money on hand to finance nine months of benefits. By Oct. 1, Finance Committee specialists say, Social Security will have only enough funds for five months. By 1982, unless taxes are raised, the system's assets will be able to finance only 45 days of benefits.

Ford's proposed tax hike would have cost a $15,000-a-year worker and his employer an additional $1 each per week. The hike on workers who earn less would have been proportionately lower.

The Finance plan would bring in less revenue than Ford's, but also would mean a hike of less than $1 per week if raised the same way — by increasing the tax rate and applying it to a higher wage base.

Under current law, an employee pays 5.85 per cent of his first $16,500 annual earnings (a maximum of $965 a year) into Social Security; the sum is matched by the employer. If Congress uses that formula for a tax increase, workers at all income levels would share the burden.

Tanker Crackup Injures Senator

SOUTH LYON, Mich. (AP) — State Sen. Basil Brown was seriously injured today when his car collided with a tanker truck near here, police said.

He was taken to Botsford Hospital in Farmington Hills for treatment.

South Lyon police said Brown, a Highland Park Democrat, suffered a broken leg, broken ribs and a punctured lung. But hospital officials said he was still under evaluation for the extent of injuries and refused to disclose them.

Police said Brown's car struck the rear of a double-tanker truck on Interstate 96. The truck was going up a hill at about 35 miles per hour with its hazard lights flashing, and Brown apparently did not notice its reduced speed, police said.

Brown's car was jammed under the back of the truck and dragged 100 feet before the front of the car broke off. The front portion of the car was dragged another 600 feet while the remainder of the car, the portion Brown was in, was left behind, police said.

Police said Brown was trapped in his car for an hour and 15 minutes. He was cited for failing to stop in the assured clear distance.

Brown, 49, faces a 1973 charge in East Lansing municipal court of drunken driving, and was arrested on the same charge in 1968. Police said there was no evidence of alcohol use by Brown in today's accident.

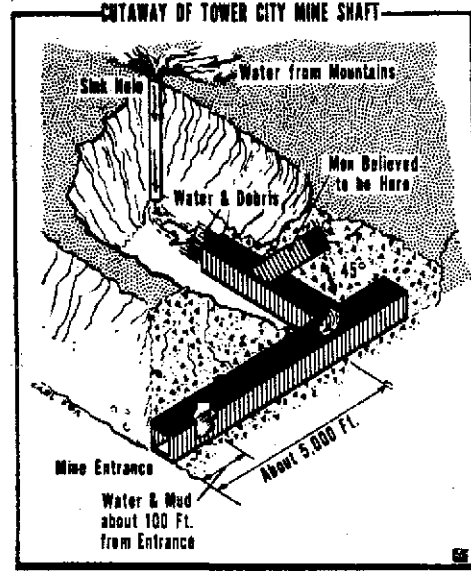

The tanker, which carried 16,000 gallons of gasoline, did

Mittan Backed Transfer Plan

State Rep. Ray Mittan (R-Niles) said this morning he supported Gov. William Milliken's aim to make weighmasters state police and allow them to use firearms.

Mittan said he supported the governor's aim primarily because of a request by Gary Mitchell, a former Berrien county sheriff and now a weighmaster for the commerce department.

As a Berrien deputy, Mitchell was wounded while attempting to halt a robbery at the Fairplain branch of Farmers and Merchants National bank

Dec. 3, 1965. Berrien Deputy Elton Stover died of gunshot wounds from the robbery.

"At the present time, Mitchell is one of the officers in the commerce department," Mittan said. "And Gary called me and said 80 per cent of the people in his department wanted to go to the state police for the simple reason that the Department of Commerce has taken their weapons away from them. Certainly, Mitchell knows what it means to have a gun when somebody is shooting at you. And our highways are full of trucks carrying contraband."

Child TV Addicts Called Fearful

NEW YORK (AP) — One-quarter of American children are fearful when they go outdoors to play and two-thirds are afraid someone will break into their homes to harm them, according to a study by Temple University.

"There is a strong suggestion that children reported to be heavy television viewers — four hours or more per weekday — show significantly higher levels of these fears," the study also reported Tuesday.

The survey of a national sample of 2,358 children aged 7 to 11, along with 1,700 parents, also reported:

—Nearly half of the children wish their fathers would spend more time with them and more than a third wish their mothers would spend more time with them.

—The vast majority of the grammar school-aged children are happy about their families and believe their parents are proud of them.

—Nearly two-thirds think their parents treat them "more like a grown-up" than "like a baby."

—More than one-quarter of American children — more than one-half of the black children — are not living with their biological fathers. Less than one-third of the children whose parents are separated or divorced see their fathers on a regular basis.

The study reported that the fear of going outside is more common among girls than boys, and that it also is more common among youngsters from families with income below $5,000 and among those from Hispanic-American backgrounds.

The survey was designed and sponsored by the Foundation for Child Development, a private foundation involved in research and policy affecting children.

It was conducted by Temple's Institute for Survey Research last September through December.

Government Lawyers Nick Blade Business

Razor blades are a tiny article amassing into big business. Annual sales of this steely contribution to human presentability run well over $1 billion in the U.S.

Because their production is a masterpiece in factory efficiency, the key to success is marketing the output. It is a strategy comparable to the English military in Lord Nelson's and Wellington's day of finding a game plan to thwart Napoleon's ambitious scheme to meld Western Europe into a political-economic alliance that would render the British Empire as obsolete as the dodo bird.

The U.S. market in conventional blades divides roughly 60 per cent to Gillette, 22 per cent to Schick, with most of the remainder going to American Safety Razor (Personna, Gem and Flicker brand names).

The Phillip Morris Company acquired American Safety Razor in 1960. While the ASR subsidiary has made a modest profit for the parent firm, Phillip Morris wants to sell it and concentrate the proceeds in its more profitable tobacco and beer lines.

A willing buyer is the Bic Pen Company. This is a U.S. subsidiary of a French company which has risen meteorically by peddling disposable razors, fountain pens, cigarette lighters and other gadgetry. The founder, Marcel L. Bich, is a German who has become Francocized beyond all past antecedents.

Up until two weeks ago it appeared that Bich and Phillip Morris had reached a deal.

The final discussions took place before the Federal Trade Commission's staff lawyers who had persuaded the FTC to issue a preliminary notice that the sale would have to clear any anti-trust implications.

The deal fell apart at this meeting because the FTC lawyers would not budge from their position that since the Bic disposable razor is a fast growing factor in the U.S. market, Bich's control of the ASR brand name lines would remove actual or potential competition with Bic disposable.

Bich made it clear he does not contemplate producing Bic disposable in this country, but would continue importing them from his French plant.

No give from the FTC barristers.

As a last gasp effort, somebody tossed out the possibility of Bich divesting himself of the ASR brand names within two years.

He consented on the stipulation of being able to sell the brand lines for a reasonable price.

So Bich called off the negotiations.

A day or two later Phillip Morris announced it would phase out its razor blade plant at Staunton, Virginia. The factory's annual payroll is $8.7 million a year. Losing it will add to the Shenandoah Valley's 8 per cent unemployment rate.

The local union at the plant, Staunton's business leaders, and the parties to the razor deal are besieging Congress to force the full Commission to grant a rehearing.

Bich's background is a virtual guaranty that he would push the ASR brand lines more vigorously against Gillette and Schick (than has Phillip Morris, and that he would move Bic disposable against everyone in the conventional field, his own brands included).

Yet the FTC lawyers choose to look at only one corner in the razor blade field.

We laugh today at the preoccupation of medieval scholars debating how many angels could stand on a pinhead.

This demonstration by the FTC's legal eagles brings to mind what George Wallace has to say about the pointy heads down in Foggy Bottom.

The Bic case is just one more illustration of how the public is taxed to pay the upkeep of theorists, who left to their own devices, could not run a peanut stand (no pun intended in President Carter's direction).

Sportsmanship's Scarce On The Nation's Roads

Sportsmanship remains a scarce trail on the highways. Fair play at the wheel involves more than avoiding deliberate discourtesy. It requires each driver to assume the responsibilities that go with control of a dangerous machine. Most accidents are caused by recklessness or inattention.

Too many motorists drive as though they were alone on an endless road without intersections and natural obstacles.

The driver whose mind wanders is not observing the rules of the game. Remembering traffic laws and the rules of the road, avoiding the consequences of the mistakes of other drivers and the carelessness of pedestrians, guarding the safety of one's passengers, all these require concentrated and persistent mental effort.

The modern highway is no place for the absentminded, fools or daredevils, and fortunately there are comparatively few. Were it otherwise, accidents would be even more frequent. Every driver could use a reminder of the obligations a motorist assumes when he takes the wheel.

Palatable Sea Water's On The Way

Thousands of communities throughout the United States have water supplies which do not meet U.S. Public Health Service recommendations. While more than two-thirds of the world's surface is water, less than 10 percent of it is fit for human consumption.

These facts explain why both the U.S. government and a number of private enterprises have been spending large sums to research ways of turning sea water into a potable substance. As some success is being achieved, more interested is shown in this field, which could be one of the most vital areas of self-preservation for the next generation.

A few huge desalting plants already are in operation. Others are planned. Some of them are economically competitive with fresh water sources.

As investments in desalination plants continue to grow, one point is evident. Sea water conversion may be a relatively new enterprise, but already it is becoming big business.

LMC BOND ISSUE IS QUESTIONED

Editor,
It occurs to me to wonder why the electorate of the Lake Michigan college district is not allowed to vote on the issuance of $3.5 million in bonds to help pay for a new LMC Community Center. If, indeed, it will mean an increase in tax for us around one mill.

Are the Lake Michigan college trustees autonomous, without obligation to anyone that they can approve such a bond issue without anyone's approval but their own? (How about the Berrien county board of commissioners?) I'd be interested to know.

Possibly not all voters are enthusiastic or convinced of the need for a new community center to the tune of $5 million plus — or, indeed, the "second master plan encompassing a media center, expanded vocational courses, and actual doubling in size of the 257-acre campus."

What's your opinion, voters —

you who are not going to be allowed to vote on this matter?

SHE APPRECIATES ARTICLES IN H-P

Editor,
This letter of appreciation isn't hot-off-the-press-current regarding specific items published in the paper but the reason behind my writing is an ongoing thing — history, tradition, a sense of the past reflected in present actions directed toward the age-old custom of passing along the torch for a good future.

Beginning at the end, one of the things I've enjoyed reading in the paper were the three items in mid-February written by San Dee Wallace about three homes in this area of historical and architectural interest. As a fairly recent newcomer to this area which I've chosen for retirement living, from these well-written articles.

Since her name (and picture) were part of the series, I also was glad to learn that the area has a dedicated group such as Mrs. Ross Spencer and the others mentioned who have been formed as an historic sites committee of the Fort Miami Heritage Society of Michigan, Inc.

That item, too, which appeared in the Feb. 3 issue of the paper, was very enlightening, all four of them in total giving me the urge to study up on local history so I could perhaps be of some use and then perhaps be able to pull my weight at least slightly.

The last thank-you relates to the truly outstanding coverage you gave to the organizational meeting of the Lake Bluff Preservation Association... not "do-gooders" but rather a group of serious-minded people who love St. Joseph and want to do what they can to work within existing City frameworks to encourage everyone to preserve, maintain and improve what is basically good and worth saving for posterity: to work for a good solid beautiful future for St. Joseph. I think St. Joseph is a lovely beautiful little city and would hope there are many others who join me in wanting it to remain so.

SOMERLAYTON BRIDGE HISTORY DETAILED

Having researched local railroad history for several years, perhaps I may be allowed to correct some inaccuracies which have appeared in print recently about the origin and early ownership of Somerlayton bridge.

Somerlayton bridge, completed in May 1897, was built by the Benton Harbor and Southeastern Railway Co. as part of the rail line it was then constructing between Benton Harbor and Berrien Springs.

Governors Pick Up The Tune

WASHINGTON — The nation's governors, who are here for their annual winter conference, have already paid Jimmy Carter the supreme political compliment: They've stolen his themes.

If imitation is the sincerest form of flattery, then a peek at recent gubernatorial rhetoric should bring a blush to Carter's cheeks.

In state after state, chief executives of widely varying political persuasion are placing top priority on making state government more efficient and more responsive to the people.

They are talking about zero-base budgeting, "sunset" laws to weed out nonproductive agencies and government reorganization. At the same time, they are searching for more equitable formulas for distributing tax burdens and benefits.

They are worried about this winter's energy crisis and the absence of reliable information about oil and gas supplies for the future. They are concerned about continuing high unemployment, the specter of renewed inflation, the plight of their cities, Medicaid fraud and welfare reform.

In short, they are singing Carter's song — and why not? The lyrics are familiar enough. Many of the governors heard Carter run through a similar repertoire at a whole string of earlier summer and winter get-togethers when he was just another member of their group.

Some of today's governors — Brown of California, Dukakis of Massachusetts, Boren of Oklahoma, to name just a few — were elected on platforms and personal campaign styles strikingly similar to Carter's.

Carter had no monopoly on either the issues or the symbols that touched the nerve of the electorate in the past few years: he merely had the boldness and determination to pursue them on a national scale.

Now that he is president, his influence is making itself felt throughout the country. His perceptions of the public's concerns, and his priorities for dealing with them, are being mirrored in the political agendas governors from Maine to Alaska have outlined in their own states.

The Carter impact is unmistakable if one compares the "State of the State" messages delivered by all of the governors in early 1976 with the speeches they made this year.

Like the presidential "State of the Union" message each January, these ritual addresses are seldom much use in determining what the government — federal or state — actually might do in the year ahead. But they do provide a fascinating barometer of changes in the political climate.

A year ago, for example, the governors were collectively obsessed with the need to restore public trust and confidence in government. The bitter aftertaste of Watergate still lingered on their tongues; they spoke repeatedly of voter "cynicism," "alienation" and "despair."

Their mood was gloomy, reflecting the public discontent. They spoke of narrowed options, budgetary belt-tightening, lowered expectations and a new "age of limits" on what government at any level might realistically hope to accomplish.

The governors a year ago viewed the federal government with varying degrees of hostility, blaming national policies for the continuing economic slump which drained revenues from state treasuries and burdened their welfare rolls with the unemployed. Washington was a dirty word.

Now they are in a much improved humor. The Watergate fog has lifted; there is no more talk of voter despair. A cautious optimism is creeping into their assessment of the economic picture, despite the temporary setback from the natural gas crunch.

Winter Didn't Cool Politics

WASHINGTON — It's a welcome feeling to turn the calendar page now to March, with its promise of warmer days and lower heating bills.

The cold, however, hasn't prevented politics as usual.

Job-hunting is the biggest activity here, with some 800 calls a day pouring into the office of White House personnel chief James King. He now has a stack of more than 30,000 job applications, and that doesn't count those which were sent directly to the various departments.

So far, very few names collected for the Talent Bank have yet surfaced in important jobs. The Cabinet secretaries simply aren't using that rather antiseptic resource in their job hunting. But the White House recently sent a long list of Talent Bank names to each secretary, with a polite letter suggesting they be considered and a private follow-up phone call saying "must hire."

From outward appearances, Hamilton Jordan has handily won that power struggle with Jack Watson inside the White House. But insiders say Watson is far from out of it. A daily battle is waged over whose favorites get Federal jobs, and Watson has won some.

The President so far doesn't want to get involved and hasn't indicated which side he prefers. Vice President Mondale tried to play peacemaker between them, but had little success.

Charlie Ferris, former Majority Leader Mike Mansfield's top assistant, will apparently be the next chairman of the Federal Communications Commission. Ferris is temporarily working for House Speaker Tip O'Neill. A second Democratic FCC vacancy is expected to go to a woman.

John Connally is being urged by friends to begin organizing now for a 1980 presidential bid. He has White House ambitions, but is so far resisting any early move.

Wife Nellie is opposed to a long, tiring presidential campaign.

Joseph Burr, Secretary of Treasury in the last year of the Johnson Administration, turned down an offer to be president of the Export-Import Bank. Burr is a member of the Ex-Im Bank's advisory committee.

Common Cause won't replace its retiring founder and guiding spirit John Gardner, former HEW Secretary, with a new permanent chairman. Instead CC will tap a series of distinguished public figures from the business or academic world to serve brief terms, in largely an honorary capacity. CC president David Cohen will run the show.

1964 presidential candidate Barry Goldwater cut his finger badly at his hobby, which is making guns. Real ones that shoot, not your plastic toy kind. The Arizona Senator also makes model automobiles from scratch. "It keeps me out of trouble," he smiles. Unless you call cutting yourself trouble.

Attorney General Griffin Bell tells friends his selection of Pittsburgh Mayor Peter Flaherty to be deputy attorney general was "politically necessary." Flaherty was one of the first big city officials to endorse Carter for president. Runner-up for the post was a much better-qualified Washington lawyer with broader legal experience who had the handicap of having supported one of the other Democrats in the primaries.

Milliken Gets Rebuffed In Weighmaster Transfer

By MALCOLM JOHNSON
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Rebuffed in his attempt to give state police authority to enforce trucking regulations, Gov. William Milliken said Tuesday he will try it the legislature's way.

Milliken ordered a bill be prepared to transfer authority over truckers from the Department of Commerce to the state police. An aide said that would accomplish the transfer as Milliken had ordered, but also would meet the objection that Milliken was avoiding the legislative process on the issue.

The state Senate on a show of hands Tuesday approved the resolution blocking the governor's order to transfer 81 weighmasters from the commerce department to the state police. The order was opposed by the Teamsters Union. Majority Democrats complained Milliken tried to make an endrun around the legislature by ordering the switch himself.

Republicans in the Senate failed to muster enough support for roll-call votes, and the resolution passed when 19 of the 35-man chamber raised their hands.

The state House, also controlled by Democrats, approved the resolution some time ago.

Milliken said he was disappointed by the action, and noted that "both houses ... have refused even to take a record roll-call vote."

The House first took a roll call, and defeated the resolution, then reconsidered it and passed it on a voice vote.

"It is ironic that the legislature has accused me of trying to circumvent the legislative process and then refused to allow its votes to be publicly recorded on this important issue which means so much to efficiency in government and traffic safety," Milliken said.

Senate Majority Leader William Faust, D-Westland, said he felt Milliken's bill would pass the Senate.

Faust has criticized Milliken's attempt to make the transfer by executive order, but said Tuesday: "I don't have much trouble with the concept."

But the Teamsters are expected to continue their powerful opposition to the idea. They claimed it might weaken state enforcement of the trucking industry's monopoly protections, such as route regulations.

Milliken said the transfer would eliminate the need for coordination between state police and motor carrier officers, while working on the same task.

He also said it would improve communications by providing weighmasters with state police radios, would give them more training, and would provide them with more protection in state police backup and the use of firearms.

Supporters of the order argue the unarmed commerce agents are wary of cracking down on trucking violations, especially at night when they are out of touch with department bases.

And they said truckers apparently fear tougher enforcement of speed and weight limits by the state police — a charge the Teamsters deny.

SEARCHING FOR PIGS: Donald McAnelly of Coloma, left, and unidentified fireman search through dense smoke for baby pigs in barn destroyed by fire last night. Barn at Lester Cantrell farm, 68th street south of CR-376, Bangor township, was destroyed. Fire claimed lives of several newborn pigs. Firemen said barn was engulfed in flames when they arrived at 8:30 p.m. No estimate of damage was available and cause was not determined. McAnelly is a brother-in-law of Cantrell. (Tom Renner photo)

Social Security Tax Boost Gains Support

By JIM LUTHER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Virtually every American is almost certain to get a tax cut this year. But there's a good chance that by next January you'll pay higher payroll taxes to finance Social Security, and the burden may fall more heavily on the poor. This year's reduction, still being considered by Congress, would mean lower federal income taxes for all but the wealthiest families.

But while there is general agreement in Congress on the need to cut income taxes to stimulate the economy, there is growing concern the Social Security system will go bankrupt unless it is able to keep collecting more taxes than it pays out in benefits.

Although President Carter has not yet offered his own recommendations, the Senate Finance Committee took a first step Tuesday that could mean a hike in the Social Security tax and higher benefits for retirees.

The panel, writing a report on its fiscal 1978 spending and tax plans, agreed the budget should recognize the possibility of the tax increase and the likelihood of a $500 million boost in benefits.

While that tentative decision is not binding, it does indicate strong support in the tax-writing committee for the tax hike.

On the good news side, the panel endorsed phasing out the "earnings test," which costs a recipient $1 in benefits for each $2 of income above $3,000 a year. The panel recommended $500 million to finance a start in the phase-out and other benefit increases.

The panel estimated the already scheduled July 1 cost-of-living increase in Social Security benefits will be 5.5 per cent.

President Ford asked Congress in 1976 to raise Social Security taxes. The idea was rejected on both sides of Capitol Hill as unwise in an election year. But there was a general recognition that Social Security taxes would have to be raised soon or regular tax revenues would have to be diverted into the pension system.

Pension experts say the system should have enough money on hand to finance nine months of benefits. By Oct. 1, Finance Committee specialists say, Social Security will have only enough funds for five months. By 1982, unless taxes are raised, the system's assets will be able to finance only 45 days of benefits.

Ford's proposed tax hike would have cost a $15,000-a-year worker and his employer an additional $1 each per week. The bite on workers who earn less would have been proportionately lower.

The Finance plan would bring in less revenue than Ford's, but also would mean a hike of less than $1 per week if raised the same way — by increasing the tax rate and applying it to a higher wage base.

Under current law, an employee pays 5.85 per cent of his first $16,500 annual earnings (a maximum of $965 a year) into Social Security; the sum is matched by the employer. If Congress uses that formula for a tax increase, workers at all income levels would share the burden.

Tanker Crackup Injures Senator

He was taken to Botsford Hospital in Farmington Hills for treatment.

South Lyon police said Brown, a Highland Park Democrat, suffered a broken leg, broken ribs and a punctured lung. But hospital officials said he was still under evaluation for the extent of injuries and refused to disclose them.

Police said Brown's car struck the rear of a double-trucked truck on Interstate 96. The truck was going up a hill at about 35 miles per hour with its hazard lights flashing, and Brown apparently did not notice its reduced speed, police said.

Brown's car was jammed under the back of the truck and dragged 100 feet before the front of the car broke off. The front portion of the car was dragged another 600 feet while the remainder of the car, the portion Brown was in, was left behind, police said.

Police said Brown was trapped in his car for an hour and 15 minutes. He was cited for failing to stop in the assured clear distance.

Brown, 49, faces a 1973 charge in East Lansing municipal court of drunken driving, and was arrested on the same charge in 1968. Police said there was no evidence of alcohol use by Brown in today's accident.

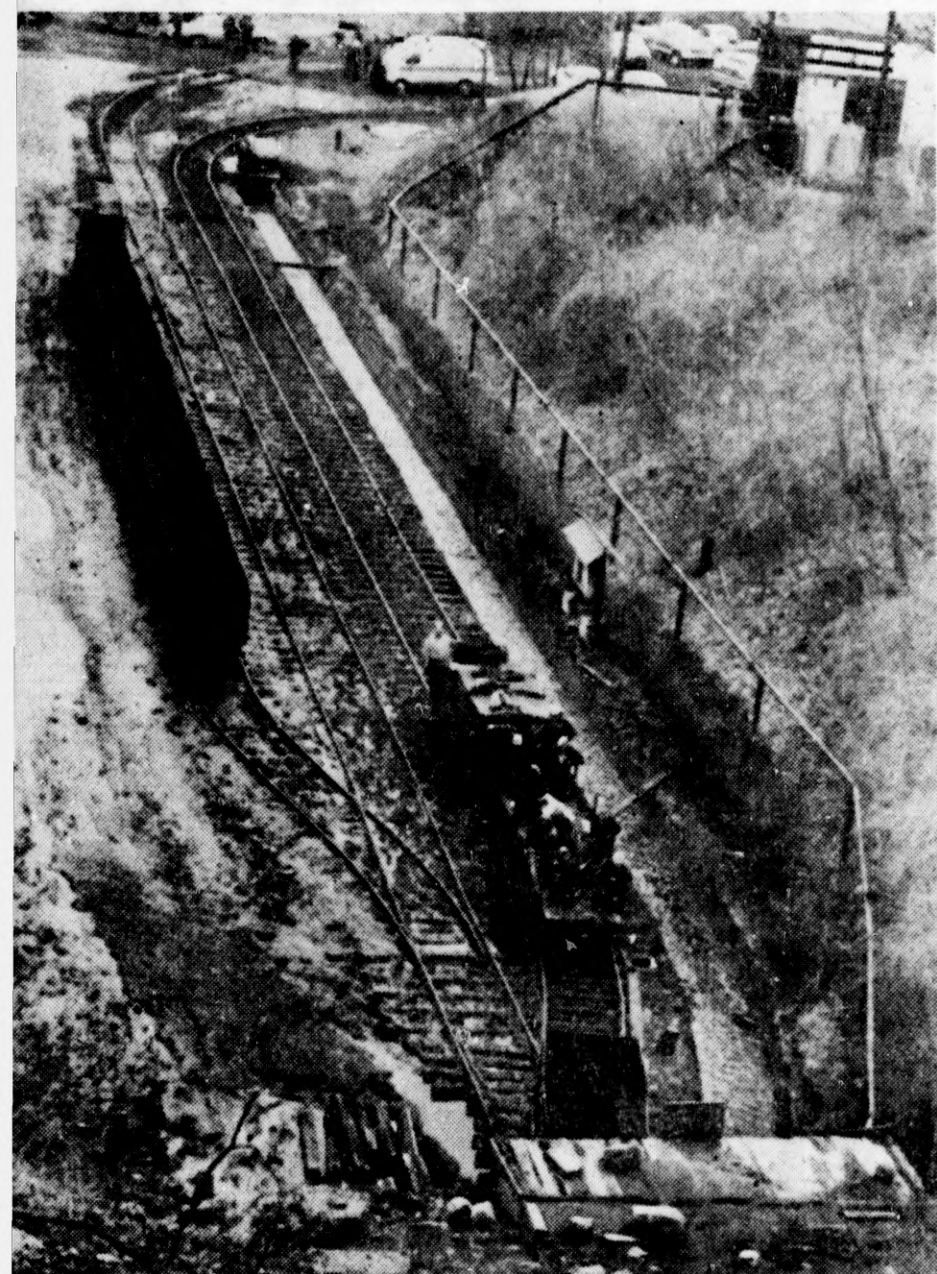

The tanker, which carried 16,000 gallons of gasoline, did

South Haven Man's Body Is Found

BEDFORD PARK, Ill. (AP) — Police in this Chicago suburb today were trying to determine the cause of death of a Michigan man whose body was found in a field on Monday.

Officials said Vance Johnson, 50, of South Haven, was identified Tuesday through fingerprints.

Rescuers Battling To Reach Miners

TOWER CITY, Pa. (AP) — Rescuers drenched through mud and muddied timbers today trying to reach miners trapped in a floodmine and given little hope of survival.

A miner died and three were injured when a three-foot wall of water surged through a tunnel wall at midday Tuesday.

Despite repeated attempts through the night, rescuers working in teams of five could come no closer than a few hundred feet from where the miners were thought to be.

There was no sign of life from within the flooded Porter Tunnel.

nel of the Kocher Coal Co. mine in Schuylkill County near here, rescuers said. The mile-long tunnel is under a 400-foot mountain.

"I don't know if we'll find anybody alive in there," said a grimy-faced worker who left the damp, black tunnel at change of shift midnight Tuesday.

"We keep shouting, but we don't hear a thing," he said.

About 100 men were working underground at the time of the accident. Three of those who scrambled to safety were hospitalized in guarded condition.

Wives, mothers and relatives kept vigil at the main entrance, gazing tight-lipped at the gaping tunnel. They could only pray the miners had found an air pocket on high ground.

"There's always that possibility, but the probability is very unlikely," said John Shuck, district manager of the federal Mining Enforcement and Safety Administration.

Walter Vincini, state commissioner for deep mine safety, said teams made their way through a network of connecting passageways at a higher level than the tunnel floor.

Most of the water drained immediately from the tunnel, which is 18 feet wide and 10 feet high.

The mine burrows into the side of a mountain dotted with abandoned shafts overhead. Officials could not say where the water came from, but the old shafts above are filled with water.

Richter said the company always drills bore holes at least 20 feet ahead of a work area to let overhead water drain. The spot where the water broke through was drilled Monday, 35 feet ahead of operations, Richter pointed out.

The dead man was identified as Gary Klinger, 19, of Hedgesville, Ky. Klinger was loading coal about 5,000 feet from the portal when the water came, Richter said. He apparently drowned.

"There was only a short warning before it hit," said Jim McHale, who was working in Klinger's crew. "We heard a rumble and then the water was coming down on us."

The gush carried McHale, 24, about 100 feet down the tunnel. He clung to timbers and managed to climb up a ladder and out an air shaft.

Mittan Backed Transfer Plan

Rep. Ray Mittan (R-Pa.) said this morning he backed Gov. William Milliken's plan to make weigh-men's state police and allow them to use firearms. Mittan said he supported the plan primarily because of a request by Gary Cantrell, a former Berrien County sheriff and now a weighman for the commerce department. Berrien deputy, Mitchell, was arrested while attempting to rob a bank at the main branch of Farmers Merchants National bank

Dec. 3, 1965. Berrien Deputy Elton Stover died of gunshot wounds from the robbery.

"At the present time, Mitchell is one of the officers in the commerce department," Mittan said. "And Gary called me and said 80 per cent of the people in his department wanted to go to the state police for the simple reason that the Department of Commerce has taken their weapons away from them. Certainly, Mitchell knows what it means to have a gun when somebody is shooting at you. And our highways are full of trucks carrying contraband."

Benton To Proceed With Public Safety Building

Benton township trustees last night directed an architect to complete plans for a fire station and police department garage, expected to cost about $250,000 to be paid from federal revenue sharing money.

Construction would be the first phase of a public safety building that would house a fire station and police headquarters,

township officers to expand into the present police quarters in the township hall.

Benton township last month was denied its bid for federal grants totaling $1,055,582 under the Public Works Act for areas of high unemployment. The money sought included $804,582 for the complete public safety building and another $251,000 to renovate the township hall.

The board's action last night ordering architectural plans followed a public hearing on how recently approved federal revenue sharing money for the township should be spent. The new money totals $153,147 and is to cover a nine-month period of Jan. 1 through Sept. 30, 1977.

Supervisor Catheryn Sirk said the first phase of the public safety building is expected to cost $250,000. Mrs. Sirk said $215,000 is available from previously received revenue sharing money. She said the remaining $35,000 would be from the forthcoming $153,147.

Citizen suggestions on how to spend the new money included street resurfacing, trash and rubbish service, child day care and senior citizens' centers, and dental care program. There was no opposition voiced against the public safety building start. The board will formally allocate the $153,147 at its March 15 meeting.

Directed to complete plans was Architect Richard Schramm of Kalamazoo. Mrs. Sirk said both the fire station and police garage would be built, unless construction bids to be sought later were well above the $250,000 mark. If so, the garage would probably be delayed, Mrs. Sirk said.

Original plans called for an 18,000 square-foot public safety building including 6,000 square feet for the fire station.

The board in general business last night approved a preliminary application to the Michigan Department of Natural Resources for a 50-50 matching grant to acquire access land to the Paw Paw river. The township now has $20,000 in past revenue sharing money for this.

The board also voted to seek bids from people who would lease the concession stand at River park off Zollar road. The board is seeking a maximum of 15 per cent of the gross receipts next season.

Township Atty. Thomas N. Robinson Jr., was authorized to explore legal procedures to collect $1,180 in delinquent property taxes, allegedly owed by King Cole cleaners, owned by Oscar T. Cole.

Treasurer Ken Malkin reported that by Feb. 28 the township had collected property taxes totaling $4,270,794, or $7.63 per cent.

Malkin also reported that the township received $129,722 from the state as reimbursement in lieu of inventory (personal property) tax. This tax was eliminated by the single business tax. Malkin said the reimbursement is 87.9 per cent of the $147,621 the township would have received from an inventory tax if it were still levied.

The board adopted a resolution urging Berrien county to draft a uniform dog control ordinance that, hopefully, would provide a $25 fine and court costs for anyone sentenced for permitting dogs to run loose. Neither the county nor the township has a dog control ordinance, it was reported. There is, however, a state statute on dog control, it was reported.

The police department was praised in another resolution for recent arrests connected to two recent armed robberies of business places.

Mrs. Luber Williams of 899 Waukonda avenue was appointed to a one-year term on the Community Development citizens' advisory committee. She was reported to be the nominee of the Twin City Area NAACP branch.

No Alley Trash Pickup In Benton

Benton township effective immediately will no longer pick up trash and rubbish in alleys, Supervisor Catheryn Sirk said last night.

Mrs. Sirk said township residents must put their trash and rubbish beside streets for collections. She said the reason is poor condition of alleys, because of severe winter weather. The change is effective until further notice, Mrs. Sirk said.

Worker Is Saved From Cabin Fire

A farm worker pulled an unconscious fellow occupant to safety from a blazing farm cabin on the Russell Tidey farm in Sodus township Tuesday afternoon, according to Berrien county sheriff's officers.

Paul Kinard was listed in stable condition this morning at Berrien General hospital, suffering from smoke inhalation.

According to deputies, Joseph W. Tharpe, 42, ran into the blazing cabin and found Kinard unconscious on the floor. Tharpe pulled Kinard outside, officers reported.

Tharpe, who also lived in the cabin off Hillandale road, told officers he was feeding livestock a short distance away about 4 p.m. when he said he saw smoke and flames coming from the building. He said he rushed back to the cabin and found Kinard on the floor, about 15 feet from the entrance.

Sodus township fire Chief Calvin Bennett said three trucks and nine firemen responded to the blaze, which started near a heater. Bennett said it took firemen an hour to extinguish the blaze which gutted the two-room wooden building.

Cause of the blaze was a "faulty heater", according to firemen. The building appeared to be a total loss.

$21,395 Budget Is Proposed For Shoreham

The Shoreham village council last night unveiled a proposed operating budget of $21,395 for the 1977-78 fiscal year, an amount $1,189 less than the present year's budget.

The council also appointed a replacement for village Treasurer Nancy Anderson who resigned last night after serving five years in the post.

Named to replace her was Mrs. Harold (Martha) Berk, 50, of 2134 Brown School road. She is to serve until the next village election in April, 1978.

Mrs. Anderson said she was resigning to devote more time to other activities.

Village President John Helsley said the council would vote on whether to adopt the proposed new budget at its next regular meeting which is scheduled for April 12.

The new budget was presented in a required public hearing held before the start of the regular meeting. There was no one present to comment on the budget.

The budget includes raises for the village president, clerk and treasurer. The president would receive a $125 raise, increasing his annual salary to $550. The clerk and treasurer would each receive $100 annually, amounting to raises of $25 and $58 respectively.

Trustee salaries would remain at $15 a meeting.

In other areas, the new budget calls for purchasing about $1,100 worth of playground equipment, compared to $2,120 last year.

The largest single reduction in spending is in the area of land improvements at park sites. Last year $3,360 was budgeted while none is budgeted this year.

There is one additional expense this year of $1,700 for resurfacing tennis courts. Other major expenditures are $4,000 for park maintenance, $3,500 for street lighting, $1,500 for legal and auditing fees, and $1,000 for insurance.

The budget sets aside $1,500 for payment to St. Joseph township for police protection and $2,400 for fire protection. The previous year, $1,200 was paid for police and $1,973 was paid for fire.

Total revenue was estimated at $23,100. The budget is based on a one mill property tax levy in the village which would raise about $4,000. Other estimated revenue sources were $14,100 in state aid, $2,800 in revenue sharing, $500 from building permits, and $1,700 from interest on investments.

In a related area, the council introduced separate budgets for its major street fund and its local street fund. The council proposes to spend $1,358 on major street maintenance and

MRS. MARTHA BERK
New Shoreham treasurer

$3,332 on local street maintenance.

The money is to be used for snowplowing and minor road repairs.

Woman, Girl Hurt In Traffic Mishaps

A 13-year-old Royaltown township girl and a Benton township woman were injured Tuesday in separate traffic accidents investigated by Berrien county sheriff's deputies and Benton Harbor police.

Beth E. Klamm, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Klamm of 3401 Niles road, Royaltown township, was treated for bruises at Memorial hospital after a two-car collision Tuesday afternoon, Berrien county deputies said.

Deputies said the girl was a passenger in a car driven by Greg W. Kabin, 16, of 3437 Niles road, Royaltown township, when it collided with a car driven by Arnold Liedtke, 40, of 4332 Hart drive, Royaltown township.

Both cars were heading north on Niles near Glenora road when the accident occurred, deputies said. Kabin was ticketed for failing to stop in the assured clear distance, deputies reported.

Gerald Jenkins, 34, of 660 North Pike road, Benton township, was treated and released from Mercy hospital Tuesday afternoon following a car-pedestrian accident on Miller street, Benton Harbor police said.

Police said Sam Smith, Jr., 41, of 505 Catalpa avenue, Benton Harbor, was westbound on Miller street and the woman was standing near a car which had pulled over to the curb for repairs. Police said Smith was ticketed for traveling too fast for conditions.

'TRAGIC' CASE, JUDGE SAYS

Mrs. Laity Bound Over

By NICK SMITH
Staff Writer

Mrs. Frances Laity, 76, wife of retired Berrien District Judge Harry Laity, was bound over to Circuit court yesterday on a charge of negligent homicide.

Mrs. Laity, of 825 Colfax avenue, Benton Harbor, is accused of driving the car that struck 12-year-old Wanda Davis in Benton Harbor Nov. 15. The girl died on the operating table hours after the accident.

"The case is tragic," visiting Judge James D. Hayne said yesterday while making the ruling, because "we've lost a little girl" and because "it was not Mrs. Laity's intent to have this dreadful accident occur."

However, the misdemeanor crime of negligent homicide requires no "proof that the defendant intended to commit a crime," the judge said. After hearing nine witnesses testify, including Mrs. Laity, Judge Hayne ruled that Mrs. Laity failed to yield right-of-way to Wanda.

The girl was walking home after delivering some items to the nearby Empire Cleaners when she was struck by a car.

The traffic signal was green for her and Empire avenue traffic when she crossed Colfax avenue, in the crosswalk south of Empire, witnesses testified. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Davis, 847 Pearl street, Benton Harbor.

Yesterday's hearing was continued from Dec. 14, the first day of the preliminary examination.

Yesterday Mrs. Laity testified that she was driving to the hair dresser's the afternoon of Nov. 15 when a man in a car began beeping his horn. She stopped on Colfax for the traffic signal at

May street, and the man got out of his car and said "Lady, do you know that you ran over a child?" she testified.

"I probably said 'My God, it can't be,'" she said. "I told him 'Thank you,'" she testified. "If he hadn't stopped me, I'd have gone on."

Just moments before the man stopped her, she said she had turned her 1975 blue Buick south onto Colfax from Empire. She told the court she'd noticed no pedestrians at the intersection and noted nothing unusual.

Daniel P. Lockhart, 29, a teacher at Morton school, said that when a blue car hit the girl she was thrown into the air right in front of the car that struck her. Another witness testified at the first day of the preliminary hearing that the girl was struck, tossed into the air, fell in front of the car and was dragged away.

Charles Bennett, of 134 Hastings, told the court he had just turned north onto Colfax from his street when he saw an oncoming car with a girl dragging under it. He blew his horn at the driver, he testified. The car hit a bump on Colfax near Hastings and, Bennett said, the body of the girl fell free.

He chased the car and when it stopped at May street he spoke with the driver, whom he identified as Mrs. Laity. "I told her she had run over a little girl. She just mumbled something, I don't know what," Bennett said. "She told me that she hadn't known she'd hit anyone," the witness added.

Dr. Alfonso A. Lopez Jr., operated on the girl after the accident, he testified. The girl bled to death from her injuries, he said, the worst of which appeared to have been inflicted while she was under the auto, the doctor said.

Judge Hayne continued a personal recognition bond for the defendant, who testified that she still drives her car.

Special Prosecutor Kurt Mah-bill, from Kalamazoo county, and Judge Hayes, from Hillsdale, were called for the case because Berrien court officials know the Laity family. Mrs. Laity was represented by St. Joseph Atty. George Keller.

Lot Size Is Topic In SJ Twp.

The St. Joseph township planning commission will decide whether to recommend a zoning change that would allow smaller lots in a subdivision at a special meeting Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at Fairplain West school.

In addition to the rezoning request of Nye's Orchards, which would affect Highlands Estates east of Niles road and north of I-94, planners will review other matters, according to Chairman Ernest Knauf.

An 89-lot subdivision south of Nelson road proposed by Peoples Savings association of Benton Harbor and a medical building planned to be built on Niles road by Drs. H.K. Maryappa and J.S. Judge will be discussed, he said.

The regular March meeting of the planning commission will be held Thursday, March 17, at 7:30 p.m. at the school. Knauf said.

BH Chief Rodez Will Train At FBI Academy

Benton Harbor Police Chief Andrew Rodez has been accepted for admission into the 106th training session of the FBI national academy at Quantico, Va.

Rodez said he will attend the session which starts April 3 and runs to June 16. The academy trains police officers from throughout the United States and several foreign countries in top level police administration and latest methods of law enforcement.

After training at the academy, the officers return to their respective departments.

Rodez, who became Benton

Harbor chief in 1973, is currently completing studies toward a doctoral degree in criminal justice from Michigan State university.

He said he can obtain additional credits toward the degree at the academy because some of the courses there are conducted by the University of Virginia.

Rodez has a bachelor's degree from Virginia Union university and a master's in special education from Northwestern Illinois State. He came to Benton Harbor from Evanston, Ill., where he was a sergeant.

New SJ Zoning Ordinance Going To Planners Again

The St. Joseph planning commission meets tomorrow to again consider a proposed new zoning ordinance and map for the city.

The regular meeting will begin at 4:30 p.m. in city hall. The proposed ordinance and map were unveiled in two public hearings in January.

At their regular meeting Feb. 3, planners postponed formal action on the proposal until certain sections could be more fully clarified.

The sections to be clarified deal with buildings whose uses do not conform to their zoning. James Muldon, senior planner with the Southwestern Michigan Regional Planning Commission, has been invited to tomorrow's meeting to discuss those sections. Muldon helped draft the proposal.

If the planners vote in favor of the proposal, it would then go to the city commission for final action.

The proposed map virtually rules out any further multi-family apartment developments in the city and shrinks the two-family residential zone to a 22-block area in the older residential area of the city.

The ordinance also creates a new "water recreation development zone" which is to be applied to the city's lakefront area below the lake bluff and extending from the river on the north to Park street on the south.

It provides for a new office commercial district covering approximately six blocks between Broad street on the south, Church on the east, Main on the West and Ship on the north.

Also on the agenda for tomorrow's meeting is a request from Florian Beles to rezone to commercial lots at 222 and 224 Van Court to make way for an 8,000 square foot office building. The lots are zoned for single-family use.

Arthritis Will Be Topic Of Meeting At Memorial

People afflicted with arthritis and others concerned with the disease have been invited to hear a discussion on the "Basic Types of Arthritis" at a meeting Thursday, March 10 at 7:30 p.m. in the Forum of Memorial hospital, St. Joseph.

Dr. Gordon F. Van Otteren of Grand Rapids will be the speaker. He also will answer questions from the audience.

The meeting will be the second arranged by the Arthritis Volunteer Action committee

Government Lawyers Nick Blade Business

Razor blades are a tiny article amassing into big business.

Annual sales of this steely contribution to human presentability run well over $1 billion in the U.S.

Because their production is a masterpiece in factory efficiency, the key to success is marketing the output. It is a strategy comparable to the English military in Lord Nelson's and Wellington's day of finding a game plan to thwart Napoleon's ambitious scheme to meld Western Europe into a political-economic alliance that would render the British Empire as obsolete as the dodo bird.

The U.S. market in conventional blades divides roughly 60 per cent to Gillette, 22 per cent to Schick, with most of the remainder going to American Safety Razor (Personna, Gem and Flicker brand names).

The Phillip Morris Company acquired American Safety Razor in 1960. While the ASR subsidiary has made a modest profit for the parent firm, Phillip Morris wants to sell it and concentrate the proceeds in its more profitable tobacco and beer lines.

A willing buyer is the Bic Pen Company. This is a U.S. subsidiary of a French company which has risen meteorically by peddling disposable razors, fountain pens, cigarette lighters and other gadgetry. The founder, Marcel L. Bich, is a German who has become Francized beyond all past antecedents.

Up until two weeks ago it appeared that Bich and Phillip Morris had reached a deal.

The final discussions took place before the Federal Trade Commission's staff lawyers who had persuaded the FTC to issue a preliminary notice that the sale would have to clear any anti-trust implications.

The deal fell apart at this meeting because the FTC lawyers would not budge from their position that since the Bic disposable razor is a fast growing factor in the U.S. market, Bich's control of the ASR brand name lines would remove actual or potential competition with Bic disposable.

Bich made it clear he does not contemplate producing Bic disposable in this country, but would continue importing them from his French plant.

No give from the FTC barristers. As a last gasp effort, somebody tossed out the possibility of Bich divesting himself of the ASR brand names within two years.

He consented on the stipulation of being able to sell the brand lines for a reasonable price.

So Bich called off the negotiations.

A day or two later Phillip Morris announced it would phase out its razor blade plant at Staunton, Virginia. The factory's annual payroll is $8.7 million a year. Losing it will add to the Shenandoah Valley's 8 per cent unemployment rate.

The local union at the plant, Staunton's business leaders, and the parties to the razor deal are besieging Congress to force the full Commission to grant a rehearing.

Bich's background is a virtual guaranty that he would push the ASR brand lines more vigorously against Gillette and Schick than has Phillip Morris, and that he would move Bic disposable against everyone in the conventional field, his own brands included.

Yet the FTC lawyers choose to look at only one corner in the razor blade field.

We laugh today at the preoccupation of medieval scholars debating how many angels could stand on a pinhead.

This demonstration by the FTC's legal eagles brings to mind what George Wallace has to say about the pointy heads down in Foggy Bottom.

The Bic case is just one more illustration of how the public is taxed to pay the upkeep of theorists, who left to their own devices, could not run a peanut stand (no pun intended in President Carter's direction).

We Could Do Without The Booster!

LMC BOND ISSUE IS QUESTIONED

Editor,
It occurs to me to wonder why the electorate of the Lake Michigan college district is not allowed to vote on the issuance of $3.5 million in bonds to help pay for a new LMC Community Center if, indeed, it will mean an increase in tax for us around one mill.

Are the Lake Michigan college trustees autonomous, without obligation to anyone that they can approve such a bond issue without anyone's approval but their own? (How about the Berrien county board of commissioners?) I'd be interested to know.

Possibly not all voters are enthusiastic or convinced of the need for a new community center to the tune of $6 million plus — or, indeed, the "second master plan encompassing a media center, expanded occupational courses, and virtual doubling in size of the 257-acre campus."

What's your opinion, voters —

you who are not going to be allowed to vote on this matter?

SHE APPRECIATES ARTICLES IN H-P

Editor,
This letter of appreciation isn't hot-off-the-press-current regarding specific items published in the paper but the reason behind my writing is an on-going thing — history, tradition, a sense of the past reflected in present actions directed toward the age-old custom of passing along the torch for a good future.

Beginning at the end, one of the things I've enjoyed reading in the paper were the three items in mid-February written by San Dee Wallace about three homes in this area of historical and architectural interest. As a fairly recent newcomer to this area which I've chosen for retirement living, from these well-written articles.

Since her name (and picture) were part of the series, I also was glad to learn that the area has a dedicated group such as Mrs. Ross Spencer and the others mentioned who have been formed as an historic sites committee of the Fort Miami Heritage Society of Michigan, Inc.

That item, too, which appeared in the Feb. 3 issue of the paper, was very enlightening, all four of them in total giving me the urge to study up on local history so I could perhaps be of some use and then perhaps be able to pull my weight at least slightly.

The last thank-you relates to the truly outstanding coverage you gave to the organizational meeting of the Lake Bluff Preservation Association...

...not "do-gooders" but rather a group of serious-minded people who love St. Joseph and want to do what they can to work within existing City frameworks to encourage everyone to preserve, maintain and improve what is basically good and worth saving for posterity; to work for a good solid beautiful future for St. Joseph. I think St. Joseph is a lovely beautiful little city and would hope there are many others who join me in wanting it to remain so.

SOMERLAYTON BRIDGE HISTORY DETAILED

Editor,
Having researched local railroad history for several years, perhaps I may be allowed to correct some inaccuracies which have appeared in print recently about the origin and early ownership of Somerlayton bridge.

Somerlayton bridge, completed in May 1897, was built by the Benton Harbor and Southeastern Railway Co. as part of the rail line it was then constructing between Benton Harbor and Berrien Springs.

On August 10, 1897 the Milwaukee, Benton Harbor &

St. Joseph coach Whitey Reimersma, his ball players and their fans have suffered through some long, dark and dreary nights during the past season. But today, a lot of memories of a 6-10 season have been forgotten in the wake of the Bears' 80-70 victory over the Niles Vikings in Class A district tournament play in the Colfax gym Wednesday night. The Vikings have beaten the Bears twice by a total of 38 points in Big Six competition this season.

The Benton Harbor branch of the Peters lumber company is enjoying the best business in its history at the present time. The new plant is running to its fullest capacity most of the time. The early months of this year have developed a surprise in a business way. They are generally the two duller months in the lumber business. During January and February, the local branch of the company has sold over 9,000,000 feet of lumber. January smashed all previous records, the sales amounting to 4,000,000.

The "Knobs of Tennessee" can be recommended as a strong production with good melodramatic effects. The character of McKinley, played by J.A. Simon, is the strongest in the piece and has become highly popular since the death of the president. Simon, of Benton Harbor, will appear in the production next Monday at the Bell.

Governors Pick Up The Tune

WASHINGTON — The nation's governors, who are here for their annual winter conference, have already paid Jimmy Carter the supreme political compliment: They've stolen his themes.

If imitation is the sincerest form of flattery, then a peek at recent gubernatorial rhetoric should bring a blush to Carter's cheeks.

In state after state, chief executives of widely varying political persuasion are placing top priority on making state government more efficient and more responsive to the people.

They are talking about zero-base budgeting, "sunset" laws to weed out nonproductive agencies and government reorganization. At the same time, they are searching for more equitable formulas for distributing tax burdens and benefits.

They are worried about this winter's energy crisis and the absence of reliable information about oil and gas supplies for the future. They are concerned about continuing high unemployment, the specter of renewed inflation, the plight of their cities, Medicaid fraud and welfare reform.

In short, they are singing Carter's song — and why not? The lyrics are familiar enough. Many of the governors heard Carter run through a similar repertoire at a whole string of earlier summer and winter get-togethers when he was just another member of their group.

Some of today's governors — Brown of California, Dukakis of Massachusetts, Boren of Oklahoma, to name just a few — were elected on platforms and personal campaign styles strikingly similar to Carter's.

Carter had no monopoly on either the issues or the symbols that touched the nerve of the electorate in the past few years; he merely had the boldness and determination to pursue them on a national scale.

Now that he is president, his influence is making itself felt throughout the country. His perceptions of the public's concerns, and his priorities for dealing with them, are being mirrored in the political agendas governors from Maine to Alaska have outlined in their own states.

The Carter impact is unmistakable if one compares the "State of the State" messages delivered by all of the governors in early 1976 with the speeches they made this year.

Like the presidential "State of the Union" message each January, these ritual addresses are seldom much use in determining what the government — federal or state — actually might do in the year ahead. But they do provide a fascinating barometer of changes in the political climate.

A year ago, for example, the governors were collectively obsessed with the need to restore public trust and confidence in government. The bitter aftertaste of Watergate still lingered on their tongues; they spoke repeatedly of voter "cynicism," "alienation" and "despair."

Their mood was gloomy, reflecting the public discontent. They spoke of narrowed options, budgetary belt-tightening, lowered expectations and a new "age of limits" on what government at any level might realistically hope to accomplish.

The governors a year ago viewed the federal government with varying degrees of hostility, blaming national policies for the continuing economic slump which drained revenues from state treasuries and burdened their welfare rolls with the unemployed. Washington was a dirty word.

Now they are in a much improved humor. The Watergate fog has lifted; there is no more talk of voter despair. A cautious optimism is creeping into their assessment of the economic picture, despite the temporary setback from the natural gas crunch.

Winter Didn't Cool Politics

WASHINGTON — It's a welcome feeling to turn the calendar page now to March, with its promise of warmer days and lower heating bills.

The cold, however, hasn't prevented politics as usual.

Job-hunting is the biggest activity here, with some 500 calls a day pouring into the office of White House personnel chief James King. He now has a stack of more than 30,000 job applications, and that doesn't count those which were sent directly to the various departments.

So far, very few names collected for the Talent Bank have yet surfaced in important jobs. The Cabinet secretaries simply aren't using that rather antiseptic resource in their job hunting. But the White House recently sent a long list of Talent Bank names to each secretary, with a polite letter suggesting they be considered and a private follow-up phone call saying "must hire."

From outward appearances, Hamilton Jordan has handily won that power struggle with Jack Watson inside the White House. But insiders say Watson is far from out of it. A daily battle is waged over whose favorites get Federal jobs, and Watson has won some.

The President so far doesn't want to get involved and hasn't indicated which side he prefers. Vice President Mondale tried to play peacemaker between them, but had little success.

Charlie Ferris, former Majority Leader Mike Mansfield's top assistant, will apparently be the next chairman of the Federal Communications Commission. Ferris is temporarily working for House Speaker Tip O'Neill. A second Democratic FCC vacancy is expected to go to a woman.

John Connally is being urged by friends to begin organizing now for a 1980 presidential bid. He has White House ambitions, but is so far resisting any early move.

Wife Nellie is opposed to a long, tiring presidential campaign.

Joseph Barr, Secretary of Treasury in the last year of the Johnson Administration, turned down an offer to be president of the Export-Import Bank. Barr is a member of the Ex-Im Bank's advisory committee.

Common Cause won't replace its retiring founder and guiding spirit John Gardner, former HEW Secretary, with a new permanent chairman. Instead CC will tap a series of distinguished public figures from the business or academic world to serve brief terms, in largely an honorary capacity. CC president David Cohen will run the show.

1964 presidential candidate Barry Goldwater cut his finger badly at his hobby, which is making guns. Real ones that shoot, not your plastic toy kind. The Arizona Senator also makes model automobiles from scratch. "It keeps me out of trouble," he smiles. Unless you call cutting yourself trouble.

Attorney General Griffin Bell tells friends his selection of Pittsburgh Mayor Peter Flaherty to be deputy attorney general was "politically necessary." Flaherty was one of the first big city officials to endorse Carter for president. Runner-up for the post was a much better-qualified Washington lawyer with broader legal experience who had the handicap of having supported one of the other Democrats in the primaries.

Stone Is Charged

TORONTO (AP) — Rolling Stones guitarist Keith Richards has been charged with possessing heroin for the purpose of trafficking, police say.

Sportsmanship's Scarce On The Nation's Roads

Sportsmanship remains a scarce trait on the highways. Fair play at the wheel involves more than avoiding deliberate discourtesy. It requires each driver to assume the responsibilities that go with control of a dangerous machine. Most accidents are caused by recklessness or inattention.

Too many motorists drive as though they were alone on an endless road without intersections and natural obstacles.

The driver whose mind wanders is not observing the rules of the game. Remembering traffic laws and the rules of the road, avoiding the consequences of the mistakes of other drivers and the carelessness of pedestrians, guarding the safety of one's passengers, all these require concentrated and persistent mental effort.

The modern highway is no place for the absentminded, fools or daredevils, and fortunately there are comparatively few. Were it otherwise, accidents would be even more frequent. Every driver could use a reminder of the obligations a motorist assumes when he takes the wheel.

Palatable Sea Water's On The Way

Thousands of communities throughout the United States have water supplies which do not meet U.S. Public Health Service recommendations. While more than two-thirds of the world's surface is water, less than 10 percent of it is fit for human consumption.

These facts explain why both the U.S. government and a number of private enterprises have been spending large sums to research ways of turning sea water into a potable substance. As some success is being achieved, more interest is shown in this field, which could be one of the most vital areas of self-preservation for the next generation.

A few huge desalting plants already are in operation. Others are planned. Some of them are economically competitive with fresh water sources.

As investments in desalination plants continue to grow, one point is evident. Sea water conversion may be a relatively new enterprise, but already it is becoming big business.

Benton To Proceed With Public Safety Building

Benton township trustees last night directed an architect to complete plans for a fire station and police department garage, expected to cost about $250,000 to be paid from federal revenue sharing money.

Construction would be the first phase of a public safety building that would house a fire station and police headquarters,

The fire station would replace station No. 1 at 1056 Territorial road, reported to be below code standards. The police station eventually would enable township offices to expand into the present police quarters in the township hall.

Benton township last month was denied in its bid for federal grants totaling $1,055,582 under the Public Works Act for areas of high unemployment. The money sought included $964,582 for the complete public safety building and another $91,000 to renovate the township hall.

The board's action last night ordering architectural plans followed a public hearing on how recently approved federal revenue sharing money for the township should be spent. The new money totals $153,147 and is to cover a nine-month period of Jan. 1 through Sept. 30, 1977.

Supervisor Cathryn Sirk said

the first phase of the public safety building is expected to cost $250,000. Mrs. Sirk said $215,000 is available from previously received revenue sharing money. She said the remaining $35,000 would be from the forthcoming $153,147.

Citizen suggestions on how to spend the new money included street resurfacing, trash and rubbish service, child day care and senior citizens' centers, and dental care program. There was no opposition voiced against the public safety building start. The board will formally allocate the $153,147 at its March 15 meeting.

Directed to complete plans was Architect Richard Schramm of Kalamazoo. Mrs. Sirk said both the fire station and police garage would be built, unless construction bids to be sought later were well above the $250,000 mark. If so, the garage would probably be delayed, Mrs. Sirk said.

Original plans called for an 18,000 square-foot public safety building including 6,000 square feet for the fire station.

The board in general business last night approved a preliminary application to the Michigan Department of Natural Resources for a 50-50 matching grant to acquire access land to the Paw Paw river. The township now has $20,000 in past revenue sharing money for this.

The board also voted to seek bids from people who would lease the concession stand at River park off Zollar road. The board is seeking a maximum of 15 per cent of the gross receipts next season.

Township Atty. Thomas N. Robinson Jr., was authorized to explore legal procedures to collect $1,180 in delinquent property taxes, allegedly owed by King Cole cleaners, owned by Oscar T. Cole.

Treasurer Ken Malkin reported that by Feb. 28 the township had collected property taxes totaling $4,270,794, or 87.63 per cent.

Malkin also reported that the township received $129,722 from the state as reimbursement in lieu of inventory (personal property) tax. This tax was eliminated by the single business tax. Malkin said the reimbursement is 87.9 per cent of the $147,621 the township would have received from an inventory tax if it were still levied.

The board adopted a resolution urging Berrien county to draft a uniform dog control ordinance that, hopefully, would provide a $25 fine and court costs for anyone sentenced for permitting dogs to run loose. Neither the county nor the township has a dog control ordinance, it was reported. There is, however, a state statute on dog control, it was reported.

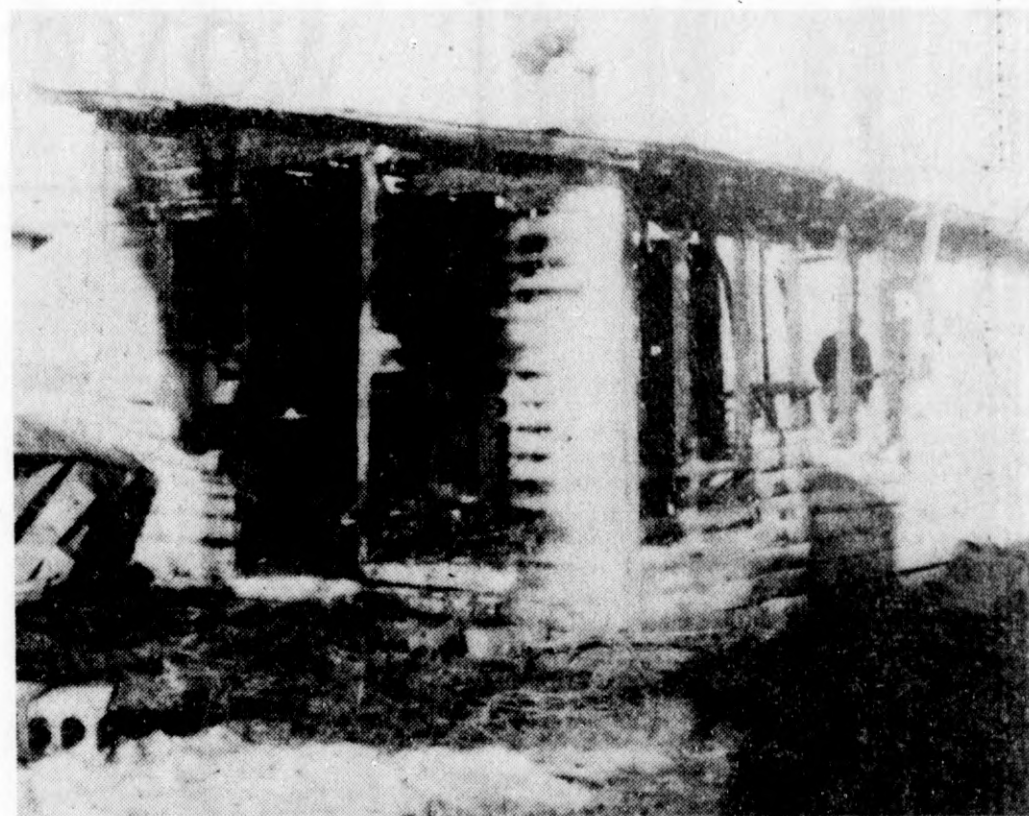

The police department was praised in another resolution for recent arrests connected to two recent armed robberies of business places.

Mrs. Luber Williams of 899 Waukonda avenue was appointed to a one-year term on the Community Development citizens' advisory committee. She was reported to be the nominee of the Twin City Area NAACP branch.

No Alley Trash Pickup In Benton

Benton township effective immediately will no longer pick up trash and rubbish in alleys, Supervisor Cathryn Sirk said last night.

Mrs. Sirk said township residents must put their trash and rubbish beside streets for collections. She said the reason is poor condition of alleys, because of severe winter weather. The change is effective until further notice, Mrs. Sirk said.

Worker Is Saved From Cabin Fire

A farm worker pulled an unconscious fellow occupant to safety from a blazing farm cabin on the Russell Tidey farm in Sodus township Tuesday afternoon, according to Berrien county sheriff's officers.

Paul Kinard was listed in stable condition this morning at Berrien General hospital, suffering from smoke inhalation.

According to deputies, Joseph W. Tharpe, 42, ran into the blazing cabin and found Kinard unconscious on the floor. Tharpe pulled Kinard outside, officers reported.

feet from the entrance.

Sodus township fire Chief Calvin Bennett said three trucks and nine firemen responded to the blaze, which started near a heater. Bennett said it took firemen an hour to extinguish the blaze which gutted the two-room wooden building.

Cause of the blaze was a "faulty heater", according to firemen. The building appeared to be a total loss.

$21,395 Budget Is Proposed For Shoreham

The Shoreham village council last night unveiled a proposed operating budget of $21,395 for the 1977-78 fiscal year, an amount $1,189 less than the present year's budget.

The council also appointed a replacement for village Treasurer Nancy Anderson who resigned last night after serving five years in the post.

Named to replace her was Mrs. Harold (Martha) Berk, 50, of 2134 Brown School road. She is to serve until the next village election in April, 1978.

Mrs. Anderson said she was resigning to devote more time to other activities.

Village President John Helsley said the council would vote on whether to adopt the proposed new budget at its next regular meeting which is scheduled for April 12.

The new budget was presented in a required public hearing held before the start of the regular meeting. There was no one present to comment on the budget.

The budget includes raises for the village president, clerk and treasurer. The president would receive a $125 raise, increasing his annual salary to $550. The clerk and treasurer would each receive $500 annually, amounting to raises of $25 and $56 respectively.

Trustee salaries would remain at $15 a meeting.

In other areas, the new budget calls for purchasing about $1,100 worth of playground equipment, compared to $2,120 last year.

The largest single reduction in spending is in the area of land improvements at park sites. Last year $3,360 was budgeted while none is budgeted this year.

There is one additional expense this year of $1,700 for resurfacing tennis courts. Other major expenditures are $4,000 for park maintenance, $3,500 for street lighting, $1,500 for legal and auditing fees, and $1,000 for insurance.

The budget sets aside $1,500 for payment to St. Joseph township for police protection and $2,400 for fire protection. The previous year, $1,200 was paid for police and $1,973 was paid for fire.

Total revenue was estimated at $23,100. The budget is based on a one mill property tax levy in the village which would raise about $4,000. Other estimated revenue sources were $14,100 in state aid, $2,800 in revenue sharing, $500 from building permits, and $1,700 from interest on investments.

In a related area, the council introduced separate budgets for its major street fund and its local street fund. The council proposes to spend $1,358 on major street maintenance and $3,332 on local street maintenance.

The money is to be used for snowplowing and minor road repairs.

Woman, Girl Hurt In Traffic Mishaps

A 13-year-old Royalton township girl and a Benton township woman were injured Tuesday in separate traffic accidents investigated by Berrien sheriff's deputies and Benton Harbor police.

Beth E. Klann, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Klann of 3401 Niles road, Royalton township, was treated for bruises at Memorial hospital after a two-car collision Tuesday afternoon, Berrien county deputies said.

Deputies said the girl was a passenger in a car driven by Greg W. Kalin, 16, of 3437 Niles road, Royalton township, when it collided with a car driven by Arnold Liedtke, 40, of 4352 Hart drive, Royalton township.

Both cars were heading north on Niles near Glenford road when the accident occurred, deputies said. Kalin was ticketed for failing to stop in the assured clear distance, deputies reported.

Gerald Jenkins, 34, of 660 North Pike road, Benton township, was treated and released from Mercy hospital Tuesday afternoon following a car-pedestrian accident on Miller street, Benton Harbor police said.

Police said Sam Smith, Jr., 43, of 505 Catalpa avenue, Benton Harbor, was westbound on Miller street and the woman was standing near a car which had pulled over to the curb for repairs. Police said Smith was ticketed for traveling too fast for conditions.

Catholic Board Reschedules March Meeting

The Lake Michigan Catholic area board of education will meet at 7:30 p.m. next Monday, instead of tonight, according to Ray Jordan, Lake Michigan Catholic schools executive director.

The board normally holds its monthly meetings on the first Wednesday of each month. Monday's meeting will be held at the Lake Michigan Catholic high school.

Mrs. Frances Laity, 76, wife of retired Berrien District Judge Harry Laity, was bound over to Circuit court yesterday on a charge of negligent homicide.

Mrs. Laity, of 825 Colfax avenue, Benton Harbor, is accused of driving the car that struck 12-year-old Wanda Davis in Benton Harbor Nov. 15. The girl died on the operating table hours after the accident.

"The case is tragic," visiting Judge James D. Hayne said yesterday while making the ruling, because "we've lost a little girl" and because "it was not Mrs. Laity's intent to have this dreadful accident occur."

However, the misdemeanor crime of negligent homicide requires no "proof that the defendant intended to commit a crime, the judge said. After hearing nine witnesses testify, including Mrs. Laity, Judge Hayne ruled that Mrs. Laity failed to yield right-of-way to Wanda.

The girl was walking home after delivering some items to the nearby Empire Cleaners when she was struck by a car.

The traffic signal was green for her and Empire avenue traffic when she crossed Colfax avenue, in the crosswalk south of Empire, witnesses testified. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Davis, 847 Pearl street, Benton Harbor.

Yesterday's hearing was continued from Dec. 14, the first day of the preliminary examination.

Yesterday Mrs. Laity testified that she was driving to the hair dresser's the afternoon of Nov. 15 when a man in a car began beeping his horn. She stopped on Colfax for the traffic signal at

May street, and the man got out of his car and said "Lady, do you know that you ran over a child?" she testified.

"I probably said 'My God, it can't be,'" she said. "I told him 'Thank you,'" she testified. "If he hadn't stopped me, I'd have gone on."

Just moments before the man stopped her, she said she had turned her 1975 blue Buick south onto Colfax from Empire. She told the court she'd noticed no pedestrians at the intersection and noted nothing unusual.

Daniel P. Lockhart, 29, a teacher at Morton school, said that when a blue car hit the girl she was thrown into the air right in front of the car that struck her. Another witness testified at the first day of the preliminary hearing that the girl was struck, tossed into the air, fell in front of the car and was dragged away.

Charles Bennett, of 134 Hastings, told the court he had just turned north onto Colfax from his street when he saw an oncoming car with a girl dragging under it. He blew his horn at the driver, he testified. The car hit a bump on Colfax near Hastings and, Bennett said, the body of the girl fell free.

He chased the car and when it stopped at May street he spoke with the driver, whom he identified as Mrs. Laity. "I told her she had run over a little girl. She just mumbled something. I don't know what," Bennett said. "She told me that she hadn't known she'd hit anyone," the witness added.

Dr. Alfonso A. Lopez Jr. operated on the girl after the accident, he testified. The girl bled to death from her injuries, he said, the worst of which appeared to have been inflicted while she was under the auto, the doctor said.

Judge Hayne continued a personal recognition bond for the defendant, who testified that she still drives her car.

Special Prosecutor Kurt Mabbitt, from Kalamazoo county, and Judge Hayne, from Hillsdale, were called for the case because Berrien court officials know the Laity family. Mrs. Laity was represented by St. Joseph Atty. George Keller.

Lot Size Is Topic In SJ Twp.

The St. Joseph township planning commission will decide whether to recommend a zoning change that would allow smaller lots in a subdivision at a special meeting Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at Fairplain West school.

In addition to the rezoning request of Nye's Orchards, which would affect Highwoods Estates east of Niles road and north of I-94, planners will review other matters, according to Chairman Ernest Knauf.

An 89-lot subdivision south of Nelson road proposed by Peoples Savings association of Benton Harbor and a medical building planned to be built on Niles road by Drs. H.K. Mariyappa and J.S. Judge will be discussed, he said.

The regular March meeting of the planning commission will be held Thursday, March 17, at 7:30 p.m. at the school, Knauf said.

BH Chief Rodez Will Train At FBI Academy

Benton Harbor Police Chief Andrew Rodez has been accepted for admission into the 109th training session of the FBI national academy at Quantico, Va.

Rodez said he will attend the session which starts April 3 and runs to June 16. The academy trains police officers from throughout the United States and several foreign countries in top level police administration and latest methods of law enforcement.

After training at the academy, the officers return to their respective departments.

Rodez, who became Benton

Harbor chief in 1973, is currently completing studies toward a doctoral degree in criminal justice from Michigan State university.

He said he can obtain additional credits toward the degree at the academy because some of the courses there are conducted by the University of Virginia.

Rodez has a bachelor's degree from Virginia Union university and a master's in special education from Northwestern Illinois State. He came to Benton Harbor from Evanston, Ill., where he was a sergeant.

New SJ Zoning Ordinance Going To Planners Again

The St. Joseph planning commission meets tomorrow to again consider a proposed new zoning ordinance and map for the city.

The regular meeting will begin at 4:30 p.m. in city hall.

The proposed ordinance and map were unveiled in two public hearings in January.

At their regular meeting Feb. 3, planners postponed formal action on the proposal until certain sections could be more fully clarified.

The sections to be clarified deal with buildings whose uses do not conform to their zoning.

James Muldon, senior

planner with the Southwestern Michigan Regional Planning Commission, has been invited to tomorrow's meeting to discuss those sections. Muldon helped draft the proposal.

If the planners vote in favor of the proposal, it would then go to the city commission for final action.

The proposed map virtually rules out any further multi-family apartment developments in the city and shrinks the two-family residential zone to a 22-block area in the older residential area of the city.

The ordinance also creates a new "water recreation development zone" which is to be applied to the city's lakefront area below the lake bluff and extending from the river on the north to Park street on the south.

It provides for a new office commercial district covering approximately six blocks between Broad street on the south, Church on the east, Main on the West and Ship on the north.

Also on the agenda for tomorrow's meeting is a request from Florian Beles to rezone to commercial lots at 222 and 224 Vail court to make way for an 8,000 square foot office building. The lots are zoned for single-family use.

meetings at which specialists would discuss the disease at length.

Dr. Van Otteren is an internist with a special interest in arthritis, and is a member of the Western Region board of the Michigan Arthritis Foundation. He has medical staff affiliation with five hospitals in the Grand Rapids area, and has teaching appointments at the Michigan State University School of Human Medicine and in the internal medicine department at Butterworth hospital.

Arthritis Will Be Topic Of Meeting At Memorial

People afflicted with arthritis and others concerned with the disease have been invited to hear a discussion on the "Basic Types of Arthritis" at a meeting Thursday, March 10 at 7:30 p.m. in the Forum of Memorial hospital, St. Joseph.

Dr. Gordon F. Van Otteren of Grand Rapids will be the speaker. He also will answer questions from the audience.

The meeting will be the second arranged by the Arthritis Volunteer Action committee which is working toward formation of a Berrien county chapter of the Michigan Arthritis Foundation.

A steering committee of the volunteer committee includes Mrs. Verlin Davis, Benton Harbor, as temporary chairman; Mrs. Marjorie Stamm; Dr. Gerald N. Beal; Mrs. F.V. Cupp; Herbert Seeder, and Mrs. Leonard Steinke. An initial meeting held Jan. 20 attracted some 50 people, and it was decided to schedule public

Popular Male Vocalist Has Culinary Repertoire

Barry Manilow — one of today's top male vocalists and composers — may be as creative in the kitchen as he is at the piano. His culinary repertoire compiled with his long-time friend Linda Allen, includes everything from a complete dinner to a simple midnight snack after the theatre.

"When Barry's not on the road," Linda related, "we sometimes get together for an evening to invent different dishes and, as any inventor knows, there are as many disasters as there are prize-winning moments of creation."

One of the more successful attempts that Barry and Linda prepare frequently is Puffy Eggs, an easy dish that's perfect for brunches and late night snacks. Linda explained that they especially enjoy this recipe because "it looks and tastes terrific" but requires only three basic ingredients — bread, cheese and eggs — which most people usually have on hand even when unexpected guests drop by.

As most Manilow fans can tell you, Barry is currently on the road, completing a 98-city concert tour and promoting his ABC television special which airs tonight. Obviously, this does not allow him much time lately for creating in the kitchen.

"That's why any really good recipe that calls for very basic ingredients or convenience foods is perfect for my lifestyle," Barry admits. "I guess that means I'm not likely to become a true gourmet cook. But then I never intended to sing either, so who knows."

For those of you who aren't gourmet cooks either — but who like to serve something different, Barry's Puffy Eggs are well worth trying. If you're fixing them for company and it's an informal gathering, you might even try Barry's suggestion to have everyone pitch in and help.

For instance — the guys can do the easy steps — preheat the oven to 350 degrees, arrange the slices of bread on a cookie sheet, get out the required amount of eggs and cheese slices and place one cheese slice on each piece of bread. You can separate the eggs, beating the whites until stiff peaks form. Then mound the egg whites on top of the cheese, indent the center with a spoon and drop in the yolk. Top with paprika and bake for 15 minutes. Meanwhile, somebody else can plug in the coffee pot, start cooking the Canadian bacon and arrange the canned pineapple on a serving dish.

A hint for those who don't like the yolk looking there in the face, Barry suggests that you cover it up with the bacon and then dig in.

TWO-PERSON FAMILIES ON RISE

Cooking For Two Can Be Easy

Two can be company year 'round. But if you're a member of one of the growing number of two-person families in this country, you are aware that cooking for two isn't always that easy, especially if you're keeping an eye on the budget.

Everytime you turn around there seems to be something wasted.

A six-serving recipe is boring the third time around — and that's assuming your partner will even think of eating it again! Half of a recipe for six is likely to make more than you can (or want) to eat.

EGGS EN CASSEROLE
Two slices bacon, diced
One-fourth cup sliced green onions with tops
One and one-half cups cooked rice

Two hard-cooked eggs, quartered
One-third cup sour cream
One tablespoon milk
One can (two ounces) sliced mushrooms, drained
Salt and pepper to taste
One-fourth cup grated Cheddar cheese

Saute bacon and green onions until bacon is crisp. Drain off fat. Stir in rice. Spoon into a greased shallow one-quart casserole. Arrange eggs over rice. Combine sour cream, milk, and mushrooms. Season to taste. Pour over eggs. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake at 350 degrees for ten minutes or until hot through. Makes two servings. Each serving provides 400 calories.

One-half of a six-ounce package frozen edible-pod peas (snow peas)
One cup hot cooked rice

Remove skin and bone from chicken; cut in thin strips. Mix cornstarch, soy sauce, and pepper. Add chicken and toss to coat. Cover and refrigerate one or more hours. Stir-fry chicken in oil about two minutes; push to one side. Add onion, mushrooms, and pod peas. Cook two minutes or until vegetables are tender crisp. Stir in rice and heat. Toss lightly with rice noodles. Serve at once. Makes two to three servings. Each serving provides 445 calories.

Sweet Gifts For Purim Jewish Holiday

Beggars never go hungry on Purim, or so the saying goes.

Purim, which falls on March 4, is celebrated by the Jewish people as the "day of charity."

Purim was the name given to lots drawn by Haman, enemy of the Jewish people, in which one month would be designated for their destruction. The day of Purim was instituted by Mordecai, to celebrate the deliverance of the Jews from their terrible fate.

The most popular of Purim dishes is hamantaschen, three-cornered pastries made of dough and filled with either prune or poppyseed filling. A variation is with cherry filling. These little pastries, the "ears of Haman," are given to friends and neighbors as the custom of giving "sweet gifts" for Purim.

Coined by the Arabs as the "festival of sugar," Purim is a time for sharing confectionary goods with everyone. Facsimiles of assorted objects are shaped from a sugary dough and given as symbols of a well-wished future to unmarried sons and daughters. Custom on Purim allows people to ask freely for treats to eat for one is never denied on this charitable day.

Traditionally, a meat-like pie called kreplach is eaten at the Purim feast meal. Kreplach is made from dough and filled with chopped beef, onions and spices. Beans cooked in their jackets are served and represent the cereals that Daniel ate while in the King's palace to avoid infringement of the dietary laws.

Here are some traditional Purim dishes that are delightful the year round.

HAMANTASCHEN

Dough
Four cups flour
Two heaping teaspoons baking powder
Three-quarters cup sugar
One-quarter teaspoon salt
Grated lemon or orange rind
Four eggs
One-third cup oil

Sift all dry ingredients into a bowl, break eggs into center, add oil and stir well. Mix together and knead lightly until smooth. Roll out one-eighth inch thick. Cut into three and one-half inch rounds. Put a heaping teaspoon of filling into center, draw up two sides and then the third across and pinch edges together to form three-cornered packet. Bake on a greased baking sheet in a fairly hot oven, 375 degrees, for about one-half hour or until nicely brown.

Prune Filling
One pound sweet prunes
Three thin orange slices
One-half cup chopped walnuts
Rind and juice of one-half lemon
One-quarter cup sugar
One tablespoon oil
Dash Nutmeg
Cook prunes and orange slices in a small amount of water until tender and water has evaporated. Stone cooked prunes and chop together with rest of the ingredients. Fill dough.

Cherry Filling
One can cherry pie filling
One-half cup Peter Heering
Two tablespoons cornstarch
Mix two tablespoons cornstarch with one-half cup Peter Heering. Cook over low heat stirring constantly until smooth and thickened. Add one can cherry pie filling and stir until well mixed. Fill dough as above.

KREPLACH
Dough
One egg
One-eighth teaspoon salt
Two-thirds cup flour (approximate) Filling
One-half pound beef
One slice onion
Salt, pepper, cinnamon to taste
One teaspoon chicken fat (if meat is cooked)
One egg
Run the meat (either cooked or half cooked) through the food chopper with onion. Add other ingredients and mix well. Now mix egg, salt and flour and knead until elastic. Roll out thin and cut the sheet of dough into two inch squares. Put small ball of meat into center of each square, fold one corner diagonally over forming triangle. Press edges firmly together. Work quickly or dough will become too dry. Let Kreplach stand for about 10 minutes, then drop into boiling soup and cook one-half hour.

POPPYSEED COOKIES

One-half cup butter

Two ounces sweet chocolate
One-fourth cup Drambuie
One-half cup sweet milk
One-half teaspoon cinnamon
One cup poppyseeds
One and one-quarter cup flour
One-half cup sugar
One teaspoon baking powder
One cup currants
Soak poppyseeds in hot milk. Cream butter, sugar and Drambuie, add remaining ingredients and mix thoroughly. Drop from teaspoon onto buttered and floured cookie sheets. Bake twenty minutes in a moderate oven, 350 degrees.

Rosy Lime Freeze

Add an extra sparkle to a midnight buffet with Rosy Lime Freeze.

In ice cube tray or shallow pan, combine one can (24 fluid ounces) cocktail vegetable juice and one tablespoon lime juice. Freeze until partially frozen (about three hours); stir occasionally. If frozen solid, let stand at room temperature 30 minutes before serving.

Break up with fork; spoon into chilled glasses. Garnish with lime twists. Serve immediately. Makes about three and one-half cups, six to eight servings.

Dinner Pies Combine Good Values

In these days of busy schedules and tight budgets, everyone wants recipes that save time and money.

National Nutrition Week, scheduled for March 6-12, is the ideal time to try Fluffy Potato Pot Pies. They are economical, delicious and a perfect answer to those days when you are running late.

These tempting dinner pies combine two good value foods — chicken and potatoes — in a main dish to make ahead and freeze for convenient serving anytime.

Best of all, this recipe offers that rare combination of convenience and low cost. Chicken is one of our most economical protein sources. And potatoes, always a good buy, are especially so now. This year's potato harvest was one of the largest in history, and the plentiful supply in the market means lower prices.

One of the best things about Potato Pot Pies is that they can be made ahead when you have the time, and then stored in the freezer for evenings when you are in a hurry. From freezer to oven to table takes only 40 minutes. Served with a tossed salad and fruit for dessert, the dinner pies make an easy, complete meal.

FLUFFY POTATO POT PIES
Frying chicken, quartered or chicken parts to equal four to five pounds

Four pounds potatoes (12 medium), peeled
One and one-half quarts water
One tablespoon salt
Four carrots, peeled and sliced

Three-fourths to one cup milk
Seven tablespoons cornstarch
One cup chopped green onions
One-half cup chopped parsley
Sixteen five-inch aluminum foil tart pans

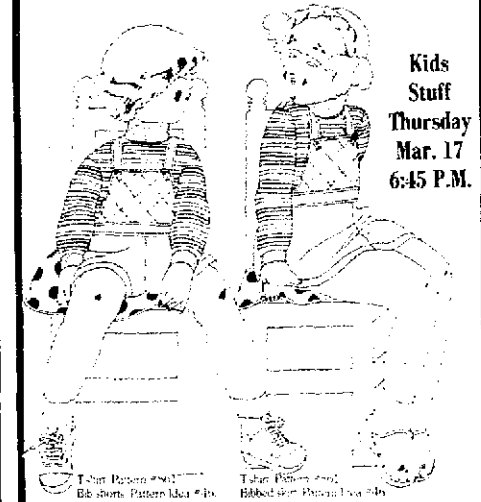

Put chicken, potatoes, water and salt in large kettle. Bring to boil. Reduce heat; cover and simmer 20 minutes. Add carrots. Cook 10 minutes more, or until vegetables are tender.

Remove chicken. Let cool. Discard skin and bones. Chop. Set aside. Remove potatoes to mixing bowl. Whip, adding enough of the milk to make fluffy mashed potatoes. Season per tart pan). Add one-third cup combined gravy and carrots to each. Spoon one-half cup mashed potatoes in a border around edge of pan.

Put pies into freezer. Freeze firm, then package tightly in freezer storage bags. To serve, place frozen pies on cookie sheet in preheated 400 degree oven. Bake 40 minutes. Serve hot.

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Granddad's A Fire Hazard

Dear Ann Landers: My father-in-law is 77 years old. He lives in a home for the aged. Almost every weekend my husband and I pick him up and bring him to our apartment to spend Friday and Saturday night.

Papa is very shaky and forgetful. He smokes constantly and I've seen him light up the filter end of a cigarette and put it in his mouth.

He has burned holes in his pajamas, the bedsheets, quilts and the mattress. One night he fell asleep on the couch and burned a huge hole in the carpet.

'I Don't Care' Is No Answer

I read somewhere that one of the problems of marriage is that husbands and wives are unable to respond to their differences.

It's called the old "I don't care, it's up to you" or "I will if you want to" blues. Your partner never really knows how you stand on something.

As I recall, it was suggested that a husband or wife spell it out using a scale of one to ten. For example, if your husband says, "Would you like to go to a movie?" instead of shrugging your shoulders and saying, "Makes no difference," you respond by saying "I'm five on attending a movie. Actually, I'm eight on seeing the picture, but I'm two on spending the money now."

minus 2 and you know it. How about meat loaf?"

"Meat loaf with meat is a 6, without meat and a lot of bread, a 2. However, if you feel 9ish about it, I'll send one of the kids to the Golden Arches which is emerging as a big 10."

"Would it hurt you once to be a 9 about meat loaf?"

"You should talk. In 27 years, you haven't gotten off your two once when I have discussed having liver."

"Lower your voice! We don't have to air our two and threes to the neighbors. How about an onelet?"

"That sounds like a firm 8 to me."

"Good. We agree. We're out of eggs, so you'll have to go to the store."

"The car is a 0. I'm having battery trouble. That averages onelets out to a 4."

"Okay, we're down to peanut butter. It's a definite 3, minus 1 for being cold. However, it's a plus 2 for nutrition, plus 4 for not being a leftover and a minus 3 for being fattening. That comes out to a 5. Whatya think?"

"I don't care," said my husband.

"I was hoping you'd say that."

Dear Ann: This letter is being written by three dudes (one junior, two seniors) who go to a Long Island high school. Please answer the following questions: Why do so many chicks: 1. Fool around with their hair, making artificial streaks in front, or change the color completely?

2. Let their fingernails grow so long they look like claws and then paint them silver or blood red?

3. Soak themselves with perfume that almost knocks you dead when they walk by?

4. Wear so much eye makeup they look like Halloween spooks?

5. Cripple themselves in five-inch, clumpy-looking shoes? You wonder why they don't fall on their faces every third step.

What are these girls trying to prove anyway? — Just Askin'

Dear J.A.: They are trying to prove they are grown-up — poor things. Thanks for writing. A letter from you will mean a lot more than "advice" from Granny Annie.

When my son-in-law came home I asked him how come his mother had the watch I had given to his wife. He shot back, "Because I gave it to her." I said, "I didn't give the watch to YOU, I gave it to your wife." He replied, "When you give something away, it's not yours any more." Is he right? — Boiling Point

Dear B.P.: The question is, who gave the watch away? If your daughter did, remember not to buy her any more lovely gifts. If it was your son-in-law, and he did it without his wife's permission, you have a right to be annoyed — and I feel sorry for her.

Open 'Discovery Room'

NEW YORK (AP) — The Museum of Natural History recently opened a new area especially designed for children between six and 12 years old.

The area, called the "Discovery Room," is modeled after a concept originally developed by the Smithsonian Institution. It uses special kits to introduce the youngsters to a wide variety of experiences. Each kit is a form of learning game.

There is also a stereo viewer that produces three-dimensional photographic images, and objects including a giant turtle shell, a lion skin and a caribou head with antlers that the children may touch and study.

Dr. Lester Coleman

"My husband is a student. I am early in pregnancy. Because of our finances, I am going to a clinic. I have confidence in my doctors, but I cannot get as much information as I need to satisfy me during this important period. Can you tell me what you consider to be the best advice for a young pregnant woman in terms of diet, vitamins and medication?" — Mrs. E.B.R., Mass.

Dear Mrs. R.:

I know the hospital where you are being followed and I want to assure you that it is an excellent one. Most such clinics have booklets specially designed for the new mother. You should ask about this.

Diet during pregnancy is aimed at fulfilling the needs for all nutrients, minerals and vitamins. In most instances, a well-balanced diet supplies all of these factors.

Doctors who are involved with expectant mothers try to avoid excessive weight gains. Similarly, doctors do not allow their patients to be markedly underweight. Both extremes are known to affect the size and the well-being of the newborn baby.

Blood studies throughout pregnancy determine the proper balance between protein, fat and carbohydrate that is essential in each individual case. The need for iron, calcium, phosphorus, vitamin D, sodium and other nutrients varies from time to time, throughout pregnancy. Adjustments are made, depending on the patient's need.

Generally, physicians avoid ALL drugs throughout pregnancy. Even the "safe" over-the-counter drugs that women may have taken in the past should now be taken ONLY with the doctor's permission.

You will find that there are many groups organized by doctors and nurses for the purpose of directing and helping mothers-to-be. You should inquire about this. I am sure that they exist in your city.

Are X-ray treatments still used for bursitis of the shoulder? I remember I had this done once years ago. It was helpful at the time. — Mr. J.S., Ga.

Dear Mr. S.:

The use of X-ray is still an accepted form of treatment for bursitis. It is probably being used less frequently today than formerly, because cortisone has been found to be so effective when injected into the shoulder joint.

There now are a number of excellent drugs which control the pain of bursitis. These are tried first, before resorting to the use of X-ray.

By Oswald & James Jacoby North said facetiously, "You had two ways to chuck the hand at trick one and only one way to make it. So the odds that you would go wrong were 2 to 1 and the odds got you."

South had hopped over the first hurdle when he played a low diamond on West's jack. However, when East produced the king South could not resist the impulse to take the king with the ace and the four-heart contract had gone down the drain.

There was nothing more that South could do about it. He led the nine of trumps at trick two, but since West held the singleton ace he had no problem with it. Then West led the 10 of diamonds. South covered with the queen. It would have done him no good to duck. East ruffed and led back a spade.

There was no way for South to avoid losing two more diamond tricks and as everyone knows if you lose four tricks you can't score 10.

South would have made the hand easily if he had let East hold the first trick with the king of diamonds. It wouldn't matter what East led back. South would win and knock out the ace of trumps. West would lead the 10 of diamonds South would play low from dummy. If East ruffed he would be ruffing his partner's trick. If East failed to ruff he would never get that trump trick and South would have won the rubber.

Popular Male Vocalist Has Culinary Repertoire

Barry Manilow — one of today's top male vocalists and composers — may be as creative in the kitchen as he is at the piano. His culinary repertoire compiled with his long-time friend Linda Allen, includes everything from a complete dinner to a simple midnight snack after the theatre.

"When Barry's not on the road," Linda related, "we sometimes get together for an evening to invent different dishes and, as any inventor knows, there are as many disasters as there are prize-winning moments of creation."

One of the more successful attempts that Barry and Linda prepare frequently is Puffy Eggs, an easy dish that's perfect for brunches and late night snacks. Linda explained that they especially enjoy this recipe because "it looks and tastes terrific" but requires only three basic ingredients — bread, cheese and eggs — which most people usually have on hand even when unexpected guests drop by.

As most Manilow fans can tell you, Barry is currently on the road, completing a 98-city concert tour and promoting his ABC television special which airs tonight. Obviously, this does not allow him much time lately for creating in the kitchen.

"That's why any really good recipe that calls for very basic ingredients or convenience foods is perfect for my lifestyle," Barry admits. "I guess that means I'm not likely to become a true gourmet cook. But then I never intended to sing either, so who knows."

For those of you who aren't gourmet cooks either — but who like to serve something different, Barry's Puffy Eggs are well worth trying. If you're fixing them for company and it's an informal gathering, you might even try Barry's suggestion to have everyone pitch in and help.

For instance — the guys can do the easy steps — preheat the oven to 350 degrees, arrange the slices of bread, on a cookie sheet, get out the required amount of eggs and cheese slices and place one cheese slice on each piece of bread. You can separate the eggs, beating the whites until stiff peaks form.

Then mound the egg whites on top of the cheese, indent the center with a spoon and drop in the yolk, top with paprika and bake for 15 minutes. Meanwhile, somebody else can plug in the coffee pot, start cooking the Canadian bacon and arrange the canned pineapple on a serving dish.

A hint for those who don't like the yolk looking them in the face, Barry suggests that you cover it up with the bacon and then dig in.

TWO-PERSON FAMILIES ON RISE

Cooking For Two Can Be Easy

Two can be company year 'round. But if you're a member of one of the growing number of two-person families in this country, you are aware that cooking for two isn't always that easy, especially if you're keeping an eye on the budget.

Everytime you turn around there seems to be something wasted.

A six-serving recipe is boring the third time around — and that's assuming your partner will even think of eating it again! Half of a recipe for six is likely to make more than you can (or want) to eat.

One-fourth cup sliced green onions with tops
One and one-half cups cooked rice

Two hard-cooked eggs, quartered

One-fourth cup grated Cheddar cheese

Saute bacon and green onions until bacon is crisp. Drain off fat. Stir in rice. Spoon into a greased shallow one-quart casserole. Arrange eggs over rice.

Combine sour cream, milk, and mushrooms. Season to taste. Pour over eggs. Sprinkle with cheese. Bake at 350 degrees for ten minutes or until hot through. Makes two servings.

Dinner Pies Combine Good Values

In these days of busy schedules and tight budgets, everyone wants recipes that save time and money.

National Nutrition Week, scheduled for March 6-12, is the ideal time to try Fluffy Potato Pot Pies. They are economical, delicious and a perfect answer to those days when you are running late.

These tempting dinner pies combine two good value foods — chicken and potatoes — in a main dish to make ahead and freeze for convenient serving anytime.

Best of all, this recipe offers that rare combination of convenience and low cost. Chicken is one of our most economical protein sources. And potatoes, always a good buy, are especially so now. This year's potato harvest was one of the largest in history, and the plentiful supply in the market means lower prices.

One of the best things about Potato Pot Pies is that they can be made ahead when you have the time, and then stored in the freezer for evenings when you are in a hurry. From freezer to oven to table takes only 40 minutes. Served with a tossed salad and fruit for dessert, the dinner pies make an easy, complete meal.

Sweet Gifts For Purim Jewish Holiday

Beggars never go hungry on Purim, or so the saying goes.

Purim, which falls on March 4, is celebrated by the Jewish people as the "day of charity."

Purim was the name given to lots drawn by Haman, enemy of the Jewish people, in which one month would be designated for their destruction. The day of Purim was instituted by Mordecai, to celebrate the deliverance of the Jews from their terrible fate.

The most popular of Purim dishes is hamantaschen, three-cornered pastries made of dough and filled with either prune or poppyseed filling. A variation is with cherry filling. These little pastries, the "ears of Haman," are given to friends and neighbors as the custom of giving "sweet gifts" for Purim.

Coined by the Arabs as the "festival of sugar," Purim is a time for sharing confectionary goods with everyone. Facsimiles of assorted objects are shaped from a sugary dough and given as symbols of a wedded future to unmarried sons and daughters. Custom on Purim allows people to ask freely for treats to eat for one is never denied on this charitable day.

Traditionally, a meat-like pie called kreplach is eaten at the Purim feast meal. Kreplach is made from dough and filled with chopped beef, onions and spices. Beans cooked in their jackets are served and represent the cereals that Daniel ate while in the King's palace to avoid infringement of the dietary laws.

Here are some traditional Purim dishes that are delightful the year round.

Sift all dry ingredients into a bowl, break eggs into center, add oil and stir well. Mix together and knead lightly until smooth. Roll out one-eighth inch thick. Cut into three and one-half inch rounds. Put a heaping teaspoon of filling into center, draw up two sides and then the third across and pinch edges together to form three-cornered pocket. Bake on a greased baking sheet in a fairly hot oven, 375 degrees, for about one-half hour or until nicely brown.

Comedy At SMC

DOWAGIAC — "Hackberry Cavalier," a comedy adapted from George Sessions Perry's short stories that appeared in the Saturday Evening Post during the late 1930s and 1940s, will be presented Thursday, March 3, at Southwestern Michigan college.

The comedy will be presented by the Alpha-Omega Players of Texas, a national theatre company which presented "Heroes and Hard Cases" at SMC in 1976.

The presentation will be given at 8 p.m. in the O'Leary building and is part of the SMC special activities series.

Tickets are $2 for general admission and $1 for students and senior citizens. They may be obtained by telephoning the college. Southwestern Michigan college students and faculty may secure tickets free of charge.

Perry's stories centered in the Texas hill country around the mythical town of Hackberry. They often began with a young man, Edgar Selfridge, encountering the girl of his dreams, a lovely, usually barefoot young woman. More often than not, the girl was in love with someone else, and there was usually some obstacle standing in the way of their happiness.

The obstacle was often connected with either the outlandish actions of the girl's father or grandfather, or the foolishness of her young man. Either way, Selfridge, the Hackberry Cavalier, would find a way to unite the young lovers and at the same time become a respected friend of the father or grandfather.

Critics of the era praised Perry's warmth and humor in writing about the small town people of his native area.

There are four members in the cast, each of whom assumes several roles during the performance. They are directed by Drexel Riley, who was a resident artist at the Dallas

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Granddad's A Fire Hazard

Dear Ann Landers: My father-in-law is 77 years old. He lives in a home for the aged. Almost every weekend my husband and I pick him up and bring him to our apartment to spend Friday and Saturday night. Papa is very shaky and forgetful. He smokes constantly and I've seen him light up the filter end of a cigarette and put it in his mouth. He has burned holes in his pajamas, the bedsheets, quilts and the mattress. One night he fell asleep on the couch and burned a huge hole in the carpet where he had dropped a cigaret. My husband says we can't tell Papa not to smoke in our apartment because it might make him feel unwelcome. He also claims it wouldn't do any good because the old man gets mean as a rattlesnake when he is crossed and does as he pleases. We need advice. — Worried In L.A.

L.A.: Did you say APARTMENT? For God's sake, woman, don't you realize you are jeopardizing the lives of every one of your neighbors — as well as your own?

Take away Papa's cigarettes and matches the minute he walks into your place and tell him "NO MORE SMOKING." Or take turns staying up all night and watching him every living minute he is under your roof.

Growing Up

Dear Ann: This letter is being written by three dudes (one junior, two seniors) who go to a Long Island high school. Please answer the following questions: Why do so many chicks:

1. Fool around with their hair, making artificial streaks in front, or change the color completely?

2. Let their fingernails grow so long they look like claws and then paint them silver or blood red?

3. Soak themselves with perfume that almost knocks you dead when they walk by?

4. Wear so much eye makeup they look like Halloween spooks?

5. Cripple themselves in five-inch, clompy-looking shoes? You wonder why they don't fall on their faces every third step.

What are these girls trying to prove anyway? — Just Askin'

Dear J.A.: They are trying to prove they are grown-up — poor things. Thanks for writing. A letter from you will mean a lot more than "advice" from Granny Annie.

Mom's Irked

Dear Ann Landers: I gave my daughter a lovely wristwatch for Christmas. When I went to see her yesterday I noticed she was wearing her old one. I asked, "What happened to the watch I gave you?" She replied, "My mother-in-law has it."

I felt as if I had been slapped in the face.

When my son-in-law came home I asked him how come his mother had the watch I had given to his wife. He shot back, "Because I gave it to her." I said, "I didn't give the watch to YOU, I gave it to your wife." He replied, "When you give something away, it's not yours any more." Is he right? — Boiling Point

Dear B.P.: The question is, who gave the watch away? If your daughter did, remember not to buy her any more lovely gifts. If it was your son-in-law, and he did it without his wife's permission, you have a right to be annoyed — and I feel sorry for her.

NEW YORK (AP) — The Museum of Natural History recently opened a new area especially designed for children between six and 12 years old. The area, called the "Discovery Room," is modeled after a concept originally developed by the Smithsonian Institution. It uses special kits to introduce

There is also a stereo viewer that produces three-dimensional photographic images, and objects including a giant turtle shell, a lion skin and a caribou head with antlers that the children may touch and study.

'I Don't Care' Is No Answer

I read somewhere that one of the problems of marriage is that husbands and wives are unable to respond to their differences.

It's called the old "I don't care; it's up to you" or "I will if you want to" blues. Your partner never really knows how you stand on something.

As I recall, it was suggested that a husband or wife spell it out using a scale of one to ten. For example, if your husband says, "Would you like to go to a movie?" instead of shrugging your shoulders and saying, "Makes no difference," you respond by saying "I'm five on attending a movie. Actually, I'm eight on seeing the picture, but I'm two on spending the money now."

What could be simpler? I explained the rating system to my husband and followed it up with, "What would you like for dinner?"

"Farrah Fawcett-Majors."

"Not who, clown... what?"

"How will I know how I feel about dinner until I know what we're having?"

"That's the point. Offer some suggestions."

"Okay, liver is a big 10 with me."

"I hate liver. To me, liver is a minus 2 and you know it. How about meat loaf?"

"Meat loaf with meat is a 6, without meat and a lot of bread, a 2. However, if you feel 9ish about it, I'll send one of the kids to the Golden Arches which is emerging as a big 10."

"Would it hurt you once to be a 9 about meat loaf?"

"You should talk. In 27 years, you haven't gotten off your two once when I have discussed having liver."

"Lower your voice! We don't have to air our two and three to the neighbors. How about an omelet?"

"That sounds like a firm 8 to me."

"Good. We agree. We're out of eggs, so you'll have to go to the store."

"The car is a 0. I'm having battery trouble. That averages omelets out to a 4."

"Okay, we're down to peanut butter. It's a definite 3, minus 1 for being cold. However, it's a plus 2 for nutrition, plus 4 for not being a leftover and a minus 3 for being fattening. That comes out to a 5. Whatya think?"

"I don't care," said my husband.

Dr. Lester Coleman

My husband is a student. I am early in pregnancy. Because of our finances, I am going to a clinic. I have confidence in my doctors, but I cannot get as much information as I need to satisfy me during this important period. Can you tell me what you consider to be the best advice for a young pregnant woman in terms of diet, vitamins and medication? — Mrs. E.B.R., Mass.

Dear Mrs. R.: I know the hospital where you are being followed and I want to assure you that it is an excellent one. Most such clinics have booklets specially designed for the new mother. You should ask about this.

Diet during pregnancy is aimed at fulfilling the needs for all nutrients, minerals and vitamins. In most instances, a well-balanced diet supplies all of these factors.

Doctors who are involved with expectant mothers try to avoid excessive weight gains. Similarly, doctors do not allow their patients to be markedly underweight. Both extremes are known to affect the size and the well-being of the newborn baby.

Blood studies throughout pregnancy determine the proper balance between protein, fat and carbohydrate that is essential in each individual case. The need for iron, calcium, phosphorus, vitamin D, sodium and other nutrients varies from time to time, throughout pregnancy. Adjustments are made, depending on the patient's need.

Generally, physicians avoid ALL drugs throughout pregnancy. Even the "safe" over-the-counter drugs that women may have taken in the past should now be taken ONLY with the doctor's permission.

You will find that there are many groups organized by doctors and nurses for the purpose of directing and helping mothers-to-be. You should inquire about this. I am sure that they exist in your city.

Are X-ray treatments still used for bursitis of the shoulder? I remember I had this done once years ago. It was helpful at the time. — Mr. J.S., Ga.

Dear Mr. S.: The use of X-ray is still an accepted form of treatment for bursitis. It is probably being used less frequently today than formerly, because cortisone has been found to be so effective when injected into the shoulder joint.

There now are a number of excellent drugs which control the pain of bursitis. These are tried first, before resorting to the use of X-ray.

By Oswald & James Jacoby North said facetiously, "You had two ways to chuck the hand at trick one and only one way to make it. So the odds that you would go wrong were 2 to 1 and the odds got you."

South had hopped over the first hurdle when he played a low diamond on West's jack. However, when East produced the king South could not resist the impulse to take the king with the ace and the four-heart contract had gone down the drain.

There was nothing more that South could do about it. He led the nine of trumps at trick two, but since West held the singleton ace he had no problem with it. Then West led the 10 of diamonds. South covered with the queen. It would have done him no good to duck. East ruffed and led back a spade.

There was no way for South to avoid losing two more diamond tricks and as everyone knows if you lose four tricks you can't score 10.

South would have made the hand easily if he had let East hold the first trick with the king of diamonds. It wouldn't matter what East led back. South would win and knock out the ace of trumps. West would lead the 10 of diamonds South would play low from dummy. If East ruffed he would be ruffing his partner's trick. If East failed to ruff he would never get that trump trick and South would have won the rubber.

Judge Jails Three Delinquent Fathers

Three fathers were ordered jailed this week in Berrien county court for failing to pay child support, and another avoided a contempt of court citation by paying off the full arrearage during his court appearance.

Edward Patrick, chief investigator for the Berrien friend of the court's office, reported.

Thomas Fein, of 300 Pine street, Niles, freed himself of a 60-day jail sentence after spending one night in jail by paying $300 towards an arrearage of $1,884 for two children not on ADC. He was found in contempt of court and placed on two years probation by Judge Zoe S. Burkholz, who also ordered the jail term.

In sentences by Judge Chester J. Byrns:

Lee Andrew Murphy, of 380 Broadway, Benton Harbor, was held in contempt and ordered to begin a two-year probation term with 30 days in jail for $2,157 arrears for one child on ADC. The judge ordered Murphy to find work within 30 days of his release from jail or spend an additional 60 days behind bars, and noted that every support payment missed will cost Murphy one weekend in jail.

Patrick said Murphy's last weekly support payment was in October, 1975.

Tony Albert, of 655 Broadway, Benton Harbor, was held in contempt and sentenced to two years probation and 10 days in jail for $333 arrears for one child on ADC. He, too, was told to find employment in 30 days or spend 60 more days in jail.

Lee Vell Sims, of 1077 Bishop avenue, Benton Harbor, avoided a contempt citation from Judge Julian E. Hughes by paying the entire arrearage of $730 for one child formerly on ADC (the child has since reached age 18 and no more support payments were ordered). Sims was brought to court on an order to show cause why he was not paying off the arrearage.

Keeler Liability Insurance Hiked

KEELER — The Keeler township board last night approved increasing the general liability insurance of the township from $300,000 to $500,000, according to Supervisor John Gillesby.

Gillesby said the action was taken following a review of the township's insurance policy with Eldon M. Smith of Eldon M. Smith Insurance Agency, Benton Harbor and Watervliet. Gillesby said the additional coverage will cost the township $55 more per year. The township carries four different policies through the Smith agency.

In other areas, the board discussed getting in touch with the owner of the Lake Lodge tavern, Sister Lakes, to see what plans are being made for the structure. Gillesby said the tavern has gone out of business and its liquor license has been transferred "up north." He said the township building inspector has been asked to look into the matter as the building is in "poor shape."

The township's board of review will meet March 11-13 at the Keeler fire hall from 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m. The annual township meeting will be held Saturday, April 2, at 1 p.m. at the Keeler fire hall.

Eau Claire Shop Is Burglarized

State police of the Benton Harbor post said two radios, $100 in change and bills, and women's apparel were among items valued together at $933 which were reported stolen Tuesday from the D&J Village Shoppe, Eau Claire.

Donald Schlipp, 42, owner of the store, listed four ladies pants, seven coats, a pocket calculator and a pair of earphones as stolen. Trooper Gary Truszkowski said. State police said Schlipp discovered at 7 a.m. Monday his store had been broken into and reported to troopers 8 a.m. Tuesday.

Twin Cities area police reported the following thefts:

- A stereo console and tape player valued together at $500 from the apartment of Lena Johnson, 34, of 593 Edwards avenue Tuesday afternoon, Benton Harbor police said.
- Two cameras, towels, shirts and electrical appliances, all valued at $366, from the home of Robert Fielding, 32, of Stevensville between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. Tuesday, according to Berrien county deputies.
- A wall clock valued at $49 from the living room of Lilly Goins, 33, of 1052 Pearl street, Benton Harbor police said.
- Several pillowcases and towels, all valued at $75, were stolen from Pat Saffell, 38, of 1314 Bishop avenue, Benton Harbor, while she was washing clothes at Ye Ole Wash Tub laundromat, 1832 South M-139, Benton Township police said.

Pine Grove Sells Hall

GOBLES — The Pine Grove township board last night sold the old township hall in Kendall to Rodney Adams, highest of two bidders at $4,010.

The one-story, cement block building is located on just under one acre of land. Adams owns property adjacent to the hall site. Two other bids from Ralph Starks Jr., Fort Wayne, Ind., one for $2,000 and a later bid for $2,500 were also received.

The township hall is now located in old school building near here.

In other areas, the board instructed Jerry Smith, trustee, to investigate the cost of having a large rubbish container placed in the township where residents could dump trash. The container would then be hauled away by a trash hauling firm.

The board appointed David Stack as township zoning administrator. Stack resigned from the position last May, and his duties were taken over by Ivan Ray, township building inspector. Ray will remain on as township building inspector.

The township annual board of review will meet March 14-15 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. and March 16 from 6 to 9 p.m. at the township hall. Approximately one-third of the township property assessments have been changed.

Firm To Pay $100,000

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A Montague, Mich., chemical company will pay $100,000 to the state for damages it did by dumping possibly cancer-causing chemicals into a lake near Muskegon. Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley said Hooker Chemical Co. had agreed to make the payments mainly to compensate for damages to fish in White Lake. The subsidiary of Occidental Petroleum has for more than a decade discharged toxic chemicals into the lake, the most toxic of which was a component of Kepone. Kepone is believed to cause cancer. Hooker suspended production of that Kepone component last Friday, Kelley said.

VA NURSES' TRIAL

Jury Selection In Second Day

By JUDITH RUSKIN
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Jury selection enters its second day today in the poisoning and murder trial of two Filipino nurses charged in the Ann Arbor Administration Hospital case.

The nurses, Leonora Perez, 32, of Ann Arbor, and Filipina Narciso, 30, of Ypsilanti, are charged with two counts of murder, seven counts of poisoning and one count of conspiracy.

Following day-long jury selection Tuesday, Miss Narciso said she was confident about the upcoming trial. "I'm anxious for it to come to trial," she said. "I think it will come out in favor of us."

Selection began in U.S. District Court, where Judge Philip Pratt interviewed eight of 20 prospective jurors. Pratt dismissed one juror after the woman said she believed a crime had taken place at the hospital. Defense attorneys unsuccessfully challenged a second juror.

The two nurses worked in the hospital's intensive care unit where a series of mysterious breathing failures occurred in the summer of 1975. There were 56 cases of mysterious respiratory arrests there in six weeks.

Mrs. Perez and Miss Narciso have been accused of injecting

Pavulon, a powerful muscle-relaxing drug, or a similar drug into the intravenous tubes used to give patients food and medication.

The two nurses have declared they are innocent of all charges. They face possible life sentences if convicted of any one of the poisoning or murder counts.

Pratt questioned each juror for at least 30 minutes about their knowledge of the case and their attitudes toward persons of Filipino and Oriental descent. He also asked the jurors if they had any ties to veterans' groups or organizations.

Mrs. Perez and Miss Narciso sat next to each other at the defense table, quietly taking notes as the jurors answered the questions. More than 30 observers, many of them of Filipino descent, were in the courtroom for the morning session.

Pratt said the trial would probably last at least four months. Defense attorney Laurence Burgess said he expected jury selection would not be completed before the end of the week.

The defense and prosecution are entitled to 22 pre-emptory challenges allowing a total of 44 prospective jurors to be dismissed without cause. Attorneys also may challenge a juror for a specific cause, but those must be approved by the judge.

Only one juror, Edythe Kretschman, said she believed a crime had occurred because so many people had died in so short a time. Pratt met briefly with attorneys before excusing the woman on grounds she had

SMOG LAW FREEZE ASKED

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation to freeze existing automobile emission standards for at least another two and a half years was proposed Tuesday by the United Auto

Workers.

The proposal was immediately endorsed by the Ford Motor Co., which previously had favored a longer delay.

UAW President Leonard

Woodcock said the automobile industry cannot possibly meet the standards for three pollutants — hydrocarbons, carbon monoxide and nitrogen oxides — contained in the 1970 Clean Air Act and scheduled to take effect for 1978 models.

The UAW proposal would retain the existing hydrocarbon and carbon monoxide standards until 1980 models and the existing nitrogen oxide standard until at least 1982 models.

He called the proposal a middle ground between leaving the schedule as it is and the even longer delays sought by the auto industry.

Herbert L. Misch, vice president for engineering and safety for Ford, backed the proposal.

With Woodcock at a news conference were four lawmakers who said they planned to introduce the UAW proposal in Congress: Sens. Donald Riegle, D-Mich.; Robert Griffin, R-Mich.; and Reps. John D. Dingell, D-Mich.; and James T. Broyhill, D-N.C.

Judge Jails Three Delinquent Fathers

Three fathers were ordered jailed this week in Berrien Circuit court for failing to pay child support, and another avoided a contempt of court citation by paying off the full arrearage during his court appearance.

Keeler Liability Insurance Hiked

KEELER — The Keeler township board last night approved increasing the general liability insurance of the township from $300,000 to $500,000, according to Supervisor John Gillesby.

Gillesby said the action was taken following a review of the township's insurance policy with Eldon M. Smith of Eldon M. Smith Insurance Agency, Benton Harbor and Watervliet. Gillesby said the additional coverage will cost the township $85 more per year. The township carries four different policies through the Smith agency.

In other areas, the board discussed getting in touch with the owner of the Lake Lodge tavern, Sister Lakes, to see what plans are being made for the structure. Gillesby said the tavern has gone out of business and its liquor license has been transferred "up north." He said the township building inspector has been asked to look into the matter as the building is in "poor shape."

The township's board of review will meet March 14-15 at the Keeler fire hall from 9 a.m. to noon and 1 to 4 p.m. The annual township meeting will be held Saturday, April 2, at 1 p.m. at the Keeler fire hall.

60-day jail sentence after spending one night in jail by paying $500 towards an arrearage of $1,894 for two children not on ADC. He was found in contempt of court and placed on two years probation by Judge Zoe S. Burkholz, who also ordered the jail term.

In sentences by Judge Chester J. Byrns:

Lee Andrew Murphy, of 380 Broadway, Benton Harbor, was held in contempt and ordered to begin a two-year probation term with 30 days in jail for $2,157 arrears for one child on ADC. The judge ordered Murphy to find work within 30 days of his release from jail or spend an additional 60 days behind bars, and noted that every support payment missed will cost Murphy one weekend in jail.

Pastrick said Murphy's last weekly support payment was in October, 1975.

Tony Albert, of 655 Broadway, Benton Harbor, was held in contempt and sentenced to two years probation and 10 days in jail for $333 arrears for one child on ADC. He, too, was told to find employment in 30 days or spend 60 more days in jail.

Lee Vell Sims, of 1077 Bishop avenue, Benton Harbor, avoided a contempt citation from Judge Julian E. Hughes by paying the entire arrearage of $730 for one child formerly on ADC (the child has since reached age 18 and no more support payments were ordered). Sims was brought to court on an order to show cause why he was not paying off the arrearage.

Air Bag Discount

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — The Travelers Insurance Companies said it plans to offer a 30 per cent discount on auto insurance premiums on cars equipped with air bags. The discount will apply to the personal injury protection and medical coverages, pending approval by insurance regulators in each state.

Pine Grove Sells Hall

GOBLES — The Pine Grove township board last night sold the old township hall in Kendall to Rodney Adams, highest of two bidders at $4,010.

The one-story, cement block building is located on just under one acre of land. Adams owns property adjacent to the hall site. Two other bids from Ralph Starks Jr., Fort Wayne, Ind., one for $2,000 and a later bid for $2,500 were also received.

The township hall is now located in old school building near here.

In other areas, the board instructed Jerry Smith, trustee, to investigate the cost of having a large rubbish container placed in the township where residents could dump trash. The container would then be hauled away by a trash hauling firm.

The board appointed David Stack as township zoning administrator. Stack resigned from the position last May, and his duties were taken over by Ivan Ray, township building inspector. Ray will remain on as township building inspector.

Firm To Pay $100,000

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A Montague, Mich., chemical company will pay $100,000 to the state for damages it did by dumping possibly cancer-causing chemicals into a lake near Muskegon. Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley said Hooker Chemical Co. had agreed to make the payments mainly to compensate for damages to fish in White Lake. The subsidiary of Occidental Petroleum has for more than a decade discharged toxic chemicals into the lake, the most toxic of which was a component of Kepone. Kepone is believed to cause cancer. Hooker suspended production of that Kepone component last Friday, Kelley said.

Airlines Told To Warn Of Overbookings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Airline passengers have a right to know their confirmed flight reservations may go unfulfilled because too many tickets were sold for their flight, the government says.

The Civil Aeronautics Board on Tuesday ordered the nation's airlines and travel agents to display warnings to that effect. The warnings must also be printed on all tickets sold in the country, the CAB said.

Traffic Snarl Seen In Niles Road Job

By JOHN DYE
South Berrien Bureau

NILES — The proposed widening of a four-block section of US-41/33 here would disrupt traffic on the major highway for about four months, according to a state highway engineer.

John Kalmbach, design signal leader for the controversial project, said traffic on the stretch of road in question would be reduced from a total of three lanes to one lane each way while the work was being done.

The highway is a major link to the Indiana toll road and other points southward for motorists in southern Berrien county.

Kalmbach made the statements in an interview with The Herald-Palladium prior to a public hearing on the proposed project held last night by the state department of highways and transportation. Between 50 and 60 people attended the session in the Niles community library.

The project involves the proposed widening of the section of US-41/33 (known in the city as Main street) from Fifth street to Ninth street. Main street narrows from four lanes to three at Fifth and then widens to five lanes at Ninth south to the Indiana state line.

In its most recent proposal, the state has offered to widen Main to five lanes from Fifth to Sixth, and then four lanes to Ninth, instead of its original all five-lane plan.

The compromise drew a mixed response last night, from qualified support by the Greater Niles area Chamber of Commerce to opposition from several who spoke at the meeting.

James Burnham, vice president for economic development for the chamber, said the chamber would back a mix of four and five lanes if a stoplight was installed at the intersection of Seventh and Main to insure the safe conduct of school children crossing the street and if the widening at Fifth was pushed to the south of the intersection to ease pressure on businesses on the north side of the street.

Mrs. Mowitt Drew, a Niles library board member who said she spoke for all but one member of the board, said she was opposed to the widening. The project would bring the highway too close to the library, which borders the street on one side; eliminate green space; increase noise pollution and endanger library patrons walking there, she said. She and others proposed that the street be resurfaced only.

Umbrella's Tip Nearly Kills Boy

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Death was just a quarter inch away for 8-year-old Tippu Deckard. The tip of an umbrella rib had poked through his eye and lodged in his brain.

"It was miraculous," said Dr. Frank Anderson, the neurosurgeon who removed the object in a three-hour operation. "I've never seen anything like this before."

"But then, I've never removed an umbrella tip from a brain before," the surgeon, who has 32 years of experience, told a news conference Tuesday.

Tippu is recovering and has kept his sight in both eyes.

The tip lodged in his brain on Jan. 21 after the umbrella rib was accidentally stuck through his eye while he was playing with an older brother.

His mother, Rose Deckard, said she noticed a little blood below his eye but thought a Band-Aid was the only treatment necessary. When Tippu continued to complain of pain she had X-rays taken. They showed a metal object in his cerebellum.

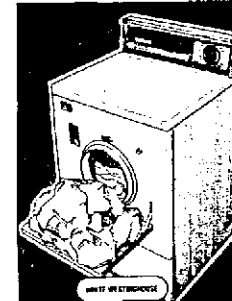

Tippu was complaining of numbness in his jaw by the time he was brought to Children's Hospital and underwent surgery Jan. 31.

VA NURSES' TRIAL

Jury Selection In Second Day

By JUDITH RUSKIN
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Jury selection enters its second day today in the poisoning and murder trial of two Filipino nurses charged in the Ann Arbor Administration Hospital case.

The nurses, Leonora Perez, 32, of Ann Arbor, and Filipina Narciso, 30, of Ypsilanti, are charged with two counts of murder, seven counts of poisoning and one count of conspiracy.

Following day-long jury selection Tuesday, Miss Narciso said she was confident about the upcoming trial. "I'm anxious for it to come to trial," she said. "I think it will come out in favor of us."

Selection began in U.S. District Court, where Judge Philip Pratt interviewed eight of 20 prospective jurors. Pratt dismissed one juror after the woman said she believed a crime had taken place at the hospital. Defense attorneys unsuccessfully challenged a second juror.

The two nurses worked in the hospital's intensive care unit where a series of mysterious breathing failures occurred in the summer of 1975. There were 56 cases of mysterious respiratory arrests there in six weeks. Mrs. Perez and Miss Narciso have been accused of injecting

Pavulon, a powerful muscle relaxing drug, or a similar drug into the intravenous tubes used to give patients food and medication.

The two nurses have declared they are innocent of all charges. They face possible life sentences if convicted of any one of the poisoning or murder counts.

Pratt questioned each juror for at least 30 minutes about their knowledge of the case and their attitudes toward persons of Filipino and Oriental descent. He also asked the jurors if they had any ties to veterans' groups or organizations.

Mrs. Perez and Miss Narciso sat next to each other at the defense table, quietly taking notes as the jurors answered the questions. More than 50 observers, many of them of Filipino descent, were in the courtroom for the morning session.

Pratt said the trial would probably last at least four months. Defense attorney Laurence Burgess said he expected jury selection would not be completed before the end of the week.

The defense and prosecution are entitled to 22 pre-emptory challenges allowing a total of 44 prospective jurors to be dismissed without cause. Attorneys also may challenge a juror for a specific cause, but those must be approved by the judge.

Only one juror, Edythe Kretschman, said she believed a crime had occurred because so many people had died in so short a time. Pratt met briefly with attorneys before excusing the women on grounds she had

SMOG LAW FREEZE ASKED

WASHINGTON (AP) — Legislation to freeze existing automobile emission standards for at least another two and a half years was proposed Tuesday by the United Auto

Workers.

The proposal was immediately endorsed by the Ford Motor Co., which previously had favored a longer delay.

UAW President Leonard

Woodcock said the automobile industry cannot possibly meet the standards for three pollutants — hydrocarbons, carbon monoxide and nitrogen oxides — contained in the 1970 Clean Air Act and scheduled to take effect for 1978 models.

The UAW proposal would retain the existing hydrocarbon and carbon monoxide standards until 1980 models and the existing nitrogen oxide standard until at least 1982 models.

He called the proposal a middle ground between leaving the schedule as it is and the even longer delays sought by the auto industry.

Herbert L. Misch, vice president for engineering and safety for Ford, backed the proposal.

With Woodcock at a news conference were four lawmakers who said they planned to introduce the UAW proposal in Congress: Sens. Donald Riegle, D-Mich.; Robert Griffin, R-Mich.; and Reps. John D. Dingell, D-Mich.; and James T. Broyhill, D-N.C.

Defense Disputes PBB Damage

By PIET BENNETT
Associated Press Writer
CADILLAC, Mich. (AP) — The farmer who triggered Michigan's first PBB contamination trial saw his net income increase five-fold during the first two years after his herd was tainted, a defense attorney claims.

Barry Boughton, an attorney for Michigan Farm Bureau Services, made the claim Tuesday about Roy Tacoma. No specific figures were cited, but Boughton said during an opening statement the gains he mentioned were calculated after deducting all dairy expenses.

Tacoma and his wife, Marilyn, are suing Farm Bureau Services and six other firms for $250,000, claiming the fire retardant, polybrominated biphenyl, cost them over 100 cows and calves. They also seek punitive damages.

Boughton contended problems with the Tacoma herd were due to changes in breeding practices the farmer began making in 1972. PBB was accidentally mixed with livestock feed in May 1973 and sold across Michigan.

"This practice has been the cause of the problems that Mr. Tacoma has blamed upon Firemaster," the lawyer insisted. Firemaster is the trade name under which Michigan Chemical Corp., the other primary defendant, manufactured PBB.

"Not one single cow ... ever got sick, died or was otherwise harmed by eating feeds containing Firemaster" on the Tacoma farm, Boughton argued.

He insisted the farmer "never received enough Firemaster to cause his cows any harm." He said scientific testimony about experiments in which PBB was fed other cattle will prove there were no harmful amounts.

The suit contends the Tacomas received PBB in feed bought from the Falmouth Co-op in December 1973. That feed was mixed by Farm Bureau Services. But Boughton said Tacoma bought just 1-475 pounds of such feed, used it for only 30 to 36 cows and all of it was consumed within 40 days.

Boughton said tests performed months later on residue

from that feed showed only .09 parts per million of PBB. The limit to legally sell animals or their produce is .3 parts per million of PBB.

Boughton also said the amount found in the Tacoma feed is equivalent to one-fourth of an aspirin doled out over 40 days among 20 or more cattle.

But the trial's first witness, Gerrit Koster, who was manager of the Falmouth Co-op when Tacoma bought the disputed feed, said he saw Tacoma's herd last year and it appeared to have the same problems as herds quarantined and later destroyed because of excess PBB.

Koster, who is retired, is a second cousin of Tacoma. Koster's son, Alvin, is a dairy farmer whose herd was destroyed because of contamination from the fire retardant.

Boughton said infections in Tacoma's herd could have been caused by a change in breeding practice rather than by PBB. Boughton said Tacoma bred his cows sooner than most farmers after the animals calved.

Boughton said the change could trigger infections and cut milk production.

Montcalm Sheriff Department Is Target Of Special Probe

STANTON, Mich. (AP) — State Police and a special prosecutor are investigating the Montcalm County Sheriff's Department and Sheriff Thomas Barnwell in a probe of possible criminal conduct.

Oscoda County Prosecutor James Thompson said he was called in as special prosecutor by the Montcalm County Circuit Court.

He says the request was made after Montcalm County Prosecutor Duane Carr asked not to be assigned to the probe because of close working ties with the department.

Thompson said he cannot specify the allegations against the sheriff and his personnel, but said they number over 20 and involve civil and criminal matters.

Thompson said the allegations were brought to the attention of the Lakeview State Police post by county residents.

Thompson said he does not know when the probe will be completed because new information keeps surfacing.

She Finds Career In Cockroaches

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP) — City dwellers, flitting away at cockroaches with peanut butter jars and newspapers, would be dismayed to learn of Jeanette Robinson's laboratory project: raising 24,000 of the pests a year.

Her job is hatching roaches for research at a Pennsylvania State University entomology lab.

"I've always been reared in the country," Mrs. Robinson said. "I never saw roaches before I went to the university. I guess I can understand how a city dweller might find them repulsive."

"They have chewing mouth parts, but they wouldn't bite you. They're really fascinating-looking creatures. They can't hurt you," she said.

The roaches are "guinea pigs" for experiments involving other insects. They are kept in galvanized tubs, the tops covered with screens and the rims greased with petroleum jelly to prevent escapes.

As an extra precaution, the school raises only male roaches. Females lay eggs, each of which contains about 16 embryos, Mrs. Robinson said.

"If one female were to escape," she said, "you could get an infestation pretty quickly," although she said that in her 12 years on the job, there has never been a mass escape.

When a few thousand extras are crawling around,

MRS. JEANETTE ROBINSON
And Cockroach

Penn State sends them on request to other researchers.

"If we had a supply and we're not going to use them at the time, we would be happy to loan them," she said. Otherwise, they just crawl around, eat dog food and try to endure the cleanliness of the lab.

COFFEE, ORANGE JUICE UP

Michigan's Food Prices Dip Slightly In February

By MICHAEL L. GRACZYK
Associated Press Writer

Lower prices for pork chops and eggs offset record high prices for coffee, orange juice and laundry detergent as grocery prices in Michigan slipped slightly in February, says the monthly Associated Press Marketbasket survey.

Coffee averaged $2.74 a pound in the eight Michigan cities which participate in the 15-item survey. It was the 12th consecutive month coffee prices set a record.

Coffee ranged from $2.88 at St. Joseph to $2.54 in Mount Clemens. A year ago, a pound of coffee averaged $1.55.

The severe freeze in Florida began to push up the price of frozen orange juice. A six-ounce can averaged 34 cents, one cent above January prices and four cents higher than December. Best buy on the breakfast drink was 24 cents in Grand Rapids. The same can cost 43 cents at St. Joseph.

And a 48-ounce laundry detergent reached a new high of 1.36, up three cents from a month ago and up a dime from December.

The entire marketbasket averaged $15.38 for February, down 1.2 per cent or 19 cents from January.

$1.28, lowered the state average on chops 19 cents to $1.68. A dozen medium eggs averaged 87 cents, a dime less than January.

Consumers also saved on chocolate chip cookies, which dropped to 94 cents for a 14½-ounce package, the second lowest price in the 30-month history of the state survey. Amin's Plane In For Service

NEW YORK (AP) — Uganda President Idi Amin's recent problems with the U.S. government apparently were no reason for missing an appointment in Georgia for routine maintenance of his airplane.
Amin's $6 million Gulfstream II aircraft is undergoing routine maintenance at Travis Air Field in Savannah, Ga., a spokesman for the Grumman Corp. confirmed on Tuesday.

Traffic Snarl Seen In Niles Road Job

By JOHN DYE
South Berrien Bureau
NILES — The proposed widening of a four-block section of US-31-33 here would disrupt traffic on the major highway for about four months, according to a state highway engineer.

John Kalmbach, design squad leader for the controversial project, said traffic on the stretch of road in question would be reduced from a total of three lanes to one lane each way while the work was being done.

The highway is a major link to the Indiana toll road and other points southward for motorists in southern Berrien county.

Kalmbach made the statements in an interview with The Herald-Palladium prior to a public hearing on the proposed project held last night by the state department of highways and transportation. Between 50 and 60 people attended the session in the Niles community library.

The project involves the proposed widening of the section of US-31/33 (known in the city as Main street) from Fifth street to Ninth street. Main street narrows from four lanes to three at Fifth and then widens to five lanes at Ninth south to the Indiana state line.

In its most recent proposal, the state has offered to widen Main to five lanes from Fifth to Sixth, and then four lanes to Ninth, instead of its original all five-lane plan.

The compromise drew a mixed response last night, from qualified support by the Greater Niles area Chamber of Commerce to opposition from several who spoke at the meeting.

James Burnham, vice president for economic development for the chamber, said the chamber would back a mix of four and five lanes if a stoplight was installed at the intersection of Seventh and Main to insure the safe conduct of school children crossing the street and if the widening at Fifth was pushed to the south of the intersection to ease pressure on businesses on the north side of the street.

Mrs. Mowitt Drew, a Niles library board member who said she spoke for all but one member of the board, said she was opposed to the widening. The project would bring the highway too close to the library, which borders the street on one side; eliminate green space; increase noise pollution and endanger library patrons walking there, she said. She and others proposed that the street be resurfaced only.

Niles Will Vote On City Charter

NILES — City voters here will be asked for the eighth time on Aug. 2 to approve a new city charter.

Meeting last night, the city charter commission selected the August primary date as the time to offer a new charter rejected on seven previous occasions. The charter, with some modifications from earlier proposals, will still propose a council-city manager form of government.

Changes in the latest offering call for the mayor to be elected to a four-year term, rather than be named by an eight-member city council. The city clerk would also be elected to a four-year post.

The city currently operates under the Fourth class cities act of 1895, with a council-mayor form of government.

The latest proposal was developed by a charter commission named in 1974. Two previous proposals by the commission have already been rejected by a charter proposals which have been rejected by voters were prepared by earlier commissions.

Umbrella's Tip Nearly Kills Boy

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Death was just a quarter inch away for 8-year-old Tippu Deckard. The tip of an umbrella rib had poked through his eye and lodged in his brain.

"It was miraculous," said Dr. Frank Anderson, the neurosurgeon who removed the object in a three-hour operation. "I've never seen anything like this before."

"But then, I've never removed an umbrella tip from a brain before," the surgeon, who has 32 years of experience, told a news conference Tuesday.

Tippu is recovering and has kept his sight in both eyes.

The tip lodged in his brain on Jan. 21 after the umbrella rib was accidentally stuck through his eye while he was playing with an older brother.

His mother, Rose Deckard, said she noticed a little blood below his eye but thought a Band-Aid was the only treatment necessary. When Tippu continued to complain of pain she had X-rays taken. They showed a metal object in his cerebellum.

Tippu was complaining of numbness in his jaw by the time he was brought to Children's Hospital and underwent surgery Jan. 31.

Airlines Told To Warn Of Overbookings

WASHINGTON (AP) — Airline passengers have a right to know their confirmed flight reservations may go unhonored because too many tickets were sold for their flight, the government says.

The Civil Aeronautics Board on Tuesday ordered the nation's airlines and travel agents to display warnings to that effect. The warnings must also be printed on all tickets sold in the country, the CAB said.

Spying On CMU Group FBI Documents Disclose

By MARGARET GENTRY
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI for five years spied on the activities of the Young Socialist Alliance at Central Michigan University, say bureau documents disclosed Tuesday.

The files show the Detroit FBI office received regular reports from informers watching the organization's campus activities in 1971 through 1975.

The YSA is the youth affiliate of the Socialist Workers Party, a Trotskyite political group which was the target of FBI surveillance and harassment for nearly 40 years. Both groups have filed a multimillion-dollar damage suit accusing the FBI of violating their constitutional rights.

Through the lawsuit, the organizations have obtained thousands of pages of FBI files describing the activities directed against the groups and their members across the nation.

The YSA released the files concerning the university in Mt. Pleasant, Mich., in connection with a campaign protesting the arrest of three party members who distributed party literature on campus last October.

YSA national secretary Cathy Sedwick said the FBI files "demonstrate that college students in the United States are denied their constitutional right to political dissent."

"We can only raise for consideration the serious question of whether the FBI has had a hand in recent events at Central Michigan University, especially the arrest of the three YSA members," she added.

The three were arrested by local authorities and charged with criminal trespass and disruption of a university function.

They have not yet been brought to trial. Meantime, they have filed a civil suit challenging the constitutionality of university restrictions on the distribution of political literature.

The FBI files include reports on campus lectures and meetings sponsored by the YSA and lists of the organization's members and officers. A 1971 memo says the YSA was not a "campus approved" group.

But a June 1972 memo quotes an informer as saying "that the YSA was still a university sanctioned organization."

A March 1975 memo quotes an informer as saying "the YSA on the CMU campus continues to be a campus-sanctioned organization and has presented no problems whatsoever during the current school year. He anticipates no problems whatsoever out of the YSA organization."

Former Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi instructed the FBI to end its surveillance of the YSA and its parent organization shortly before he left office in January.

Women May Get Sea Duty

WASHINGTON (AP) — Faced by a court suit, the Navy is moving to give women wider opportunities for sea duty. The Navy is circulating word that it has prepared legislation to change current laws that prohibit assignment of women to vessels other than hospital ships and transports. Navy women have been beached since 1975 when the last hospital ship, the Sanctuary, was retired. A message from headquarters to fleet and shore stations said: "The proposed change ... will permit the Secretary of the Navy to prescribe a greater variety of shipboard duty to which women members of the naval service may be assigned."

Policeman Is Accused

WEST COVINA, Calif. (AP) — A policeman first hailed as a hero for shooting his way out of an abduction was held today on suspicion of kidnapping and murdering his alleged captor. Authorities said Tuesday it appeared that 19-year-old David Dominguez was taken into custody and then shot by San Gabriel police officer Billy Joe Melvain. Melvain, 32, told officers Monday afternoon when he emerged from his home, in which he supposedly was being held hostage, that he had overcome his captor. But West Covina police discounted his story, and a few hours later he was jailed for investigation of kidnapping and murder.

Governors Have Hope

WASHINGTON (AP) — They're usually forgotten shortly after they leave town, but the nation's governors are convinced it will be different this time, now that President Carter and the leaders of Congress have assured them a hearing in advance of federal decisions that affect their states. That has been said before, but it seldom has happened. It is the chronic complaint of the National Governors Conference. "I saw a desire to do it under the previous administrations, but I think the commitment in the new administration is much greater," said Gov. Reubin Askew of Florida, the conference chairman. Carter underscored it Tuesday night at a black-tie dinner for the governors, saying he considers them his partners in government.

Carter Plans Exchange Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is launching what he hopes will become a massive exchange program to send Americans on trips abroad and bring foreigners to the United States, something "a little above and beyond government, kind of nice." It's called the Friendship Force. Carter wants the 10-day exchange trips to begin on the Fourth of July, and envisions as many as 600 a year by the end of 1980. The project would be privately financed, and Carter said it would be kept apart from the government.

FTC Wiping Out Old Rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you share President Carter's concern about too many lawyers in the federal bureaucracy writing too many regulations, the Federal Trade Commission has a switch: a lawyer who works full time to eliminate obsolete rules. The FTC announced today it is wiping 27 trade practice rules off the books for industries producing products from corsets and brassieres to steel bobby pins to milk bottle caps to parking meters to sunglasses. The rules date as far back as 1931. All are "very obsolete," an FTC spokesman said.

ACLU Chief: Red Squad File Confirms 'Worst Suspicions'

DETROIT (AP) — A former Michigan congressman singled out for state police "Red Squad" surveillance because he belonged to the American Civil Liberties Union says he may file a lawsuit.

Raymond Clevenger, a Democrat who represented northern Michigan's 11th district from 1965-66, was one of several thousand state residents listed in state police "Red Squad" files.

The dossier apparently was kept solely because of Clevenger's ACLU membership, although mention also was made of $5 the Ann Arbor attorney pitched in to pay for refreshments at a Human Rights Party meeting.

The Clevenger file — the first of some 200 files scheduled to be made public — "confirms our worst suspicions," Howard Simon, executive director of the Michigan ACLU, said.

"The startling disclosure that police surveillance has been directed squarely at an organization dedicated exclusively to defense of the Bill of Rights is shocking and frightening," said Simon. He said Clevenger's file indicated that since 1959, at least 247 pages of reports were compiled on the Michigan ACLU.

Simon said the ACLU and Clevenger are considering filing a damage suit against the state as a result of the file.

Simon called on Gov. William Milliken to order the state police to immediately release all such files to the individuals involved, and to assure Michigan residents that no more such surveillance is going on.

CADILLAC, Mich. (AP) — The farmer who triggered Michigan's first PBB contamination trial saw his net dairy income increase five-fold during the first two years after his herd was tainted, a defense attorney claims.

Barry Boughton, an attorney for Michigan Farm Bureau Services, made the claim Tuesday about Roy Tacoma. No specific figures were cited, but Boughton said during an opening statement the gains he mentioned were calculated after deducting all dairy expenses.

Tacoma and his wife, Marilyn, are suing Farm Bureau Services and six other firms for $250,000, claiming the fire retardant, polybrominated biphenyl, cost them over 100 cows and calves. They also seek punitive damages.

Boughton contended problems with the Tacoma herd were due to changes in breeding practices the farmer began making in 1972. PBB was accidentally mixed with livestock feed in May 1973 and sold across Michigan.
"This practice has been the cause of the problems that Mr. Tacoma has blamed upon Firemaster," the lawyer insisted. Firemaster is the trade name under which Michigan Chemical Corp., the other primary defendant, manufactured PBB.
"Not one single cow ... ever got sick, died or was otherwise harmed by eating feeds containing Firemaster" on the Tacoma farm, Boughton argued.

He insisted the farmer "never received enough Firemaster to cause his cows any harm." He said scientific testimony about experiments in which PBB was fed other cattle will prove there were no harmful amounts.
The suit contends the Tacomas received PBB in feed bought from the Falmouth Co-op in December 1973. That feed was mixed by Farm Bureau Services. But Boughton said Tacoma bought just 1,475 pounds of such feed, used it for only 30 to 36 cows and all of it was consumed within 40 days.
Boughton said tests performed months later on residue

from that feed showed only .09 parts per million of PBB. The limit to legally sell animals or their produce is .3 parts per million of PBB.

Boughton also said the amount found in the Tacoma feed is equivalent to one-fourth of an aspirin doled out over 40 days among 30 or more cattle.

But the trial's first witness, Gerrit Koster, who was manager of the Falmouth Co-op when Tacoma bought the disputed feed, said he saw Tacoma's herd last year and it appeared to have the same problems as herds quarantined and later destroyed because of excess PBB.

Koster, who is retired, is a second cousin of Tacoma. Koster's son, Alvin, is a dairy farmer whose herd was destroyed because of contamination from the fire retardant.

Boughton said infections in Tacoma's herd could have been caused by a change in breeding practice rather than by PBB. Boughton said Tacoma bred his cows sooner than most farmers after the animals calved.

Boughton said the change could trigger infections and cut milk production.

Montcalm Sheriff Department Is Target Of Special Probe

STANTON, Mich. (AP) — State Police and a special prosecutor are investigating the Montcalm County Sheriff's Department and Sheriff Thomas Barnwell in a probe of possible criminal conduct.

Oscoda County Prosecutor James Thompson said he was called in as special prosecutor by the Montcalm County Circuit Court.

He says the request was made after Montcalm County Prosecutor Duane Carr asked not to be assigned to the probe because of close working ties with the department.

Thompson said he cannot specify the allegations against the sheriff and his personnel, but said they number over 20

and involve civil and criminal matters.

Thompson said the allegations were brought to the attention of the Lakeview State Police post by county residents.

Thompson said he does not know when the probe will be completed because new information keeps surfacing.

She Finds Career In Cockroaches

STATE COLLEGE, Pa. (AP) — City dwellers, flailing away at cockroaches with peanut butter jars and newspapers, would be dismayed to learn of Jeanette Robinson's laboratory project: raising 24,000 of the pests a year.

Her job is hatching roaches for research at a Pennsylvania State University entomology lab.

"I've always been reared in the country," Mrs. Robinson said. "I never saw roaches before I went to the university. I guess I can understand how a city dweller might find them repulsive."

"They have chewing mouth parts, but they wouldn't bite you. They're really fascinating-looking creatures. They can't hurt you," she said.

The roaches are "guinea pigs" for experiments involving other insects. They are kept in galvanized tubs, the tops covered with screens and the rims greased with petroleum jelly to prevent escapes.

As an extra precaution, the school raises only male roaches. Females lay eggs, each of which contains about 16 embryos, Mrs. Robinson said.

"If one female were to escape," she said, "you could get an infestation pretty quickly," although she said that in her 12 years on the job, there has never been a mass escape.

When a few thousand extras are crawling around,

Penn State sends them on request to other researchers.

"If we had a supply and we're not going to use them at the time, we would be happy to loan them," she said. Otherwise, they just crawl around, eat dog food and try to endure the cleanliness of the lab.

COFFEE, ORANGE JUICE UP Michigan's Food Prices Dip Slightly In February

By MICHAEL L. GRACZYK
Associated Press Writer

Lower prices for pork chops and eggs offset record high prices for coffee, orange juice and laundry detergent as grocery prices in Michigan dipped slightly in February, says the monthly Associated Press Marketbasket survey.

Coffee averaged $2.74 a pound in the eight Michigan cities which participate in the 15-item survey. It was the 12th consecutive month coffee prices set a record.

Coffee ranged from $2.89 at St. Joseph to $2.54 in Mount Clemens. A year ago, a pound of coffee averaged $1.55.

The severe freeze in Florida began to push up the price of frozen orange juice. A six-ounce can averaged 34 cents, one cent above January prices and four cents higher than December. Best buy on the breakfast drink was 24 cents in Grand Rapids. The same can cost 43 cents at St. Joseph.

And a 49-ounce laundry detergent reached a new high of $1.36, up three cents from a month ago and up a dime from December.

The entire marketbasket averaged $15.38 for February, down 1.2 per cent or 19 cents from January.

$1.28, lowered the state average on chops 19 cents to $1.68. A dozen medium eggs averaged 87 cents, a dime less than January.

Consumers also saved on chocolate chip cookies, which dropped to 84 cents for a 14½-ounce package, the second lowest price in the 30-month history of the state survey. A package of paper towels dropped a penny to 79 cents; a pound of quartered butter fell two cents to $1.14; various size fabric softener was 80 cents, down four cents; a 12-ounce jar of peanut butter averaged 70 cents, three cents less than January; and a quart of milk was 50 cents, down a penny.

A pound of ground chuck rose seven cents to $1.09; all-beef frankfurters were $1.22 a pound, up six cents; and sugar rose a penny to 99 cents for a five-pound bag.

An eight-ounce can of tomato sauce was unchanged at 22 cents.

Three of the marketbasket points posted record high prices for the 15 items: $16.39 at Lansing, up 28 cents from January; $15.91 at St. Joseph, up six cents; and $15.79 at Gaylord, up 27 cents.

The marketbasket showed declines in the other five cities: Marquette, Grand Rapids, Mount Clemens, Detroit and Flint.

Here are the statewide January and February averages for the 15 grocery items which comprise the AP Marketbasket survey:

- 1. One pound chopped chuck: February $1.09, January $1.02.
- 2. One pound center-cut pork chops: $1.66, $1.67.
- 3. Six-ounce frozen orange juice: 34 cents, 33 cents.
- 4. One pound coffee: $2.74, $2.70.
- 5. Two rolls paper towels: 79 cents, 80

- 6. One dozen medium eggs: 87 cents, 97 cents.
 - 7. One pound butter: $1.14, $1.16.
 - 8. 49-oz. laundry detergent: $1.36, $1.33.
 - 9. Fabric softener, size varies: 80 cents, 84 cents.
 - 10. 12-oz. peanut butter: 70 cents, 73 cents.
 - 11. Eight-oz. tomato sauce: 22 cents, unchanged.
 - 12. 14½-oz. chocolate chip cookies: 84 cents, 95 cents.

 - 15. Five pounds sugar: 99 cents, 98 cents.
- Here are the city-by-city, item-by-item prices for February, followed by the total marketbasket price for January and February. Parentheses indicate most recently available figure when item was unavailable this month.

Columbus Railway Co. was chartered, succeeding to the franchises and properties of the St. Joseph Valley Railway Co. (Buchanan to Berrien Springs) and the Benton Harbor and Southeastern Railway Co. The M.B.H.&C. began operating over the Benton Harbor-Berrien Springs segment on August 24, 1897, and on the Berrien Springs-Buchanan segment October 4.

The Pere Marquette Railroad Co. purchased the M.B.H.&C. early in 1903, the deed being recorded on May 6. The Pere Marquette operated over Somerlayton bridge on its Buchanan Branch until the I.C.C. approved its abandonment petition on May 31, 1924. The rails from Napier Avenue south to Buchanan, about 25 miles, were taken up in October of that year.

GOLD STAR MOTHERS PROTEST AMNESTY

President Jimmy Carter
White House
Washington, D.C.
Dear Mr. President:

We, the members of the American Gold Star Mothers, Inc., Chapter 17 of Benton Harbor, Mich., wish to express our very great dismay and disapproval of your recent grant of amnesty to all draft dodgers.

We feel very strongly since we lost our own sons in the service of this country. And your grant only served to deepen our already deep sense of grief and loss and seemed to nullify the supreme sacrifice they made.

These young men had other choices than to run away. Your grant simply excuses their not facing up to the problem of resistance to the Viet Nam War. We respect their right to disagree, but believe they should have stood up to be counted instead of running out. As you remember, Muhammad Ali served a jail sentence as his choice in resisting the draft. They could have done the same. Or they could have served in this country as workers in a hospital or other related occupations as some did in hospitals in this area.

Condoning running away from responsibility is setting a very serious precedent in case of a future need of a draft.

In our opinion, anyone who expects to enjoy the privileges of this country should also be prepared to accept the responsibility.

REAL ESTATE LAW TRICKS TAXPAYER

Editor,

After reading the article in the Feb. 26 issue of your paper on how "Gast Spells Out Benefits of New Law" regarding real estate — I just have to ask is there a politician anywhere that isn't selling the people right down the river. It tears me up to think these so-called educated people believe and want you the people to believe all this garbage the state tries to feed us. It would be all right if assessments were made fairer by the law, but you can believe there is more interest in it by the state than being fair to the average taxpayer. They would first need an average taxpayer in the Capitol to explain to them how to be fair.

I have yet to see the state pass a law that is supposed to be for the good of the people that doesn't have a dozen strings attached — just as this one. You notice the new law was tacked onto a new bill which currently allows improvements to homes without raising assessed valuations. Now it seems that bill was just the state's way of giving the people the good before the bad as is usually the case (just like no-fault insurance and everything else they get their nose in).

I can't believe they're interested only in fair assessments when they also want to know about your personal property, surveying costs, etc., etc. The last straw is that the real estate companies don't have to disclose their commissions as that is left on the sale price for that oh so fair assessment evaluation.

The sooner we quit giving the state everything they want and quit wanting everything they have to give the better off we'll be — but people don't seem to

'Benign Discrimination' Upheld

By RICHARD CARELLI
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Constitution forbids the drawing of political boundaries that discriminate against minority voters, but it contains no such ban on discriminating in favor of minorities, the Supreme Court says.

Such "benign discrimination" — intentionally treating blacks and other minorities better than whites to make up for past inequities — is allowed when states are attempting to comply with the Voting Rights Act of 1965, the court ruled on Tuesday.

In a 7-1 decision, the court said the New York legislature did not violate the Constitution when it redrew certain districts in 1974 following Justice Department guidelines to give black and Puerto Rican voters in New York City greater representation.

The redistricting plan established some legislative districts with 60 per cent non-white majorities in an attempt to ensure the election of non-white political candidates.

The plan was challenged as reverse racial discrimination by Hasidic Jews in Brooklyn who claimed their voting strength was diluted by the "affirmative action gerrymandering."

"This case presents a clear, undisputed instance of purposeful discrimination," attorneys for the orthodox Jews had told the court. They called the legislature's action "a purposeful racial slur."

The court's majority disagreed. An opinion written by Justice Byron R. White said state governments can use racial quotas and make race the primary consideration in carrying out provisions of the Voting Rights Act. Parts of White's lengthy opinion were not endorsed by all the court's majority.

Chief Justice Warren E. Burger dissented, calling racial quotas an impermissible form of discrimination.

"The use of a mathematical formula tends to sustain the existence of ghettos by promoting the notion that political clout is to be gained or maintained by marshaling particular racial, ethnic or religious groups in enclaves," said Burger. He called the court's decision a "retreat from the ideal of the American melting pot."

Justice Thurgood Marshall disqualified himself from the case and took no part in the decision.

Still ahead for the court lies the broader question of whether other forms of what Justice William J. Brennan Jr. called benign discrimination can pass tests of constitutionality.

That decision, expected sometime next year, will carry great impact for affirmative action programs undertaken in education and business throughout the nation over the past decade.

White mentioned that the court's decision did not dictate obscenity on standards the Supreme Court set in 1973 after the theater was cited for showing "Deep Throat" and another X-rated film.

Prayers Whip ERA, They Say

By DAVID TOMLIN
Associated Press Writer
RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A women's prayer chain claims its efforts persuaded the Lord to tip the balance against the Equal Rights Amendment.

They say their prayers worked better than did personal telephone calls on behalf of the ERA from President Carter and First Lady Rosalynn Carter to wavering state senators.

"Our prayer chain did it," said Norma Swanson of Raleigh after the vote Tuesday. "We had women praying all night and all day, women from all walks of life. We asked God that if this thing was not in his plan that he would see that it was defeated."

Mrs. Swanson, of suburban Cary, said no formal organization backed the chain, just herself and a friend and a lot of telephoning.

She called about 50 friends, each of whom called other friends in other cities. She estimated several hundred all over the state were finally involved.

A schedule was set up starting at midnight Monday, the eve of Senate action on the ERA, and running through Tuesday.

Women signed up to pray in one-hour time slots, and extra volunteers promised to pray off and on throughout the day.

"Not one woman said she wouldn't be willing to set her alarm and get out of bed and get down on her knees," Mrs. Swanson said.

Many women, she said, were still praying when the Senate voted down the amendment.

The defeat was a severe blow to ERA proponents who had hoped the Tar Heel state would become the 36th of 38 states needed to ratify the amendment by March 21, 1979. The ERA would prohibit sex discrimination.

Karen DeCrow, president of the National Organization for Women, said the North Carolina defeat was "an absolute crisis."

"We are calling on Jimmy Carter to make the ERA his No. 1 priority," said Ms. DeCrow, urging Carter to "immediately turn his full attention to the human rights crisis in our country."

Mrs. Swanson said she was convinced the praying marathon had persuaded the Lord to influence the ERA vote.

Spying On CMU Group FBI Documents Disclose

By MARGARET GENTRY
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI for five years spied on the activities of the Young Socialist Alliance at Central Michigan University, say bureau documents disclosed Tuesday.

The files show the Detroit FBI office received regular reports from informers watching the organization's campus activities in 1971 through 1975.

The YSA is the youth affiliate of the Socialist Workers Party, a Trotskyite political group which was the target of FBI surveillance and harassment for nearly 40 years. Both groups have filed a multimillion-dollar damage suit accusing the FBI of violating their constitutional rights.

Through the lawsuit, the organizations have obtained thousands of pages of FBI files describing the activities directed against the groups and their members across the nation.

The YSA released the files concerning the university in Mt. Pleasant, Mich., in connection with a campaign protesting the arrest of three party members who distributed party literature on campus last October.

YSA national secretary Cathy Sedwick said the FBI files "demonstrate that college students in the United States are denied their constitutional right to political dissent."

"We can only raise for consideration the serious question of whether the FBI has had a hand in recent events at Central Michigan University, especially the arrest of the three YSA members," she added.

The three were arrested by local authorities and charged with criminal trespass and disruption of a university function.

They have not yet been brought to trial. Meantime, they have filed a civil suit challenging the constitutionality of university restrictions on the distribution of political literature.

The FBI files include reports on campus lectures and meetings sponsored by the YSA and lists of the organization's members and officers. A 1971 memo says the YSA was not a "campus approved" group.

But a June 1972 memo quotes an informer as saying "that the YSA was still a university sanctioned organization."

A March 1975 memo quotes an informer as saying "the YSA on the CMU campus continues to be a campus-sanctioned organization and has presented no problems whatsoever during the current school year. He anticipates no problems whatsoever out of the YSA organization."

Former Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi instructed the FBI to end its surveillance of the YSA and its parent organization shortly before he left office in January.

Women May Get Sea Duty

WASHINGTON (AP) — Faced by a court suit, the Navy is moving to give women wider opportunities for sea duty. The Navy is circulating word that it has prepared legislation to change current laws that prohibit assignment of women to vessels other than hospital ships and transports. Navy women have been beached since 1975 when the last hospital ship, the Sanctuary, was retired. A message from headquarters to fleet and shore stations said: "The proposed change... will permit the Secretary of the Navy to prescribe a greater variety of shipboard duty to which women members of the naval service may be assigned."

Policeman Is Accused

WEST COVINA, Calif. (AP) — A policeman first hailed as a hero for shooting his way out of an abduction was held today on suspicion of kidnapping and murdering his alleged captor. Authorities said Tuesday it appeared that 19-year-old David Dominguez was taken into custody and then shot by San Gabriel police officer Billy Joe McIlvain. McIlvain, 32, told officers Monday afternoon when he emerged from his home, in which he supposedly was being held hostage, that he had overcome his captor. But West Covina police discounted his story, and a few hours later he was jailed for investigation of kidnap and murder.

Governors Have Hope

WASHINGTON (AP) — They're usually forgotten shortly after they leave town, but the nation's governors are convinced it will be different this time, now that President Carter and the leaders of Congress have assured them a hearing in advance of federal decisions that affect their states. That has been said before, but it seldom has happened. It is the chronic complaint of the National Governors Conference. "I saw a desire to do it under the previous administrations, but I think the commitment in the new administration is much greater," said Gov. Reubin Askew of Florida, the conference chairman. Carter underscored it Tuesday night at a black-tie dinner for the governors, saying he considers them his partners in government.

Carter Plans Exchange Program

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is launching what he hopes will become a massive exchange program to send Americans on trips abroad and bring foreigners to the United States, something "a little above and beyond government, kind of nice." It's called the Friendship Force. Carter wants the 10-day exchange trips to begin on the Fourth of July, and envisions as many as 600 a year by the end of 1980. The project would be privately financed, and Carter said it would be kept apart from the government.

FTC Wiping Out Old Rules

WASHINGTON (AP) — If you share President Carter's concern about too many lawyers in the federal bureaucracy writing too many regulations, the Federal Trade Commission has a switch: a lawyer who works full time to eliminate obsolete rules. The FTC announced today it is wiping 27 trade practice rules off the books for industries producing products from corsets and brassieres to steel bobby pins to milk bottle caps to parking meters to sunglasses. The rules date as far back as 1931. All are "very obsolete," an FTC spokesman said.

ACLU Chief: Red Squad File Confirms 'Worst Suspicions'

DETROIT (AP) — A former Michigan congressman singled out for state police "Red Squad" surveillance because he belonged to the American Civil Liberties Union says he may file a lawsuit.

Raymond Clevenger, a Democrat who represented northern Michigan's 11th district from 1965-66, was one of several thousand state residents listed in state police "Red Squad" files.

The dossier apparently was kept solely because of Clevenger's ACLU membership, although mention also was made of $5 the Ann Arbor attorney pitched in to pay for refreshments at a Human Rights Party meeting.

The Clevenger file — the first of some 200 files scheduled to be made public — "confirms our worst suspicions," Howard Simon, executive director of the Michigan ACLU, said.

"The startling disclosure that police surveillance has been directed squarely at an organization dedicated exclusively to defense of the Bill of Rights is shocking and frightening," said Simon. He said Clevenger's file indicated that since 1959, at least 247 pages of reports were compiled on the Michigan ACLU.

Simon said the ACLU and Clevenger are considering filing a damage suit against the state as a result of the file.

Simon called on Gov. William Milliken to order the state police to immediately release all such files to the individuals involved, and to assure Michigan residents that no more such surveillance is going on.

Judge Extends Alger County Ban On Special Deer Hunt

ESCANABA, Mich. (AP) — A Delta County Circuit Court judge has continued his order blocking a special deer hunt in Alger County until at least Sept. 6.

Judge Clair Hoehn set that date for further testimony in the "Beaver Basin" deer hunt case. State officials say he may block all deer hunting in the area for 1977, including the regular November deer season.

Hoehn had issued a restraining order against a state plan to kill 300 deer in a special season in Beaver Basin near Munising.

The Department of Natural Resources said the deer population had been kept artificially high by a private game preserve which fed them.

The facility has shut down, and the DNR said the special hunt was needed to prevent starving the deer which did not have enough natural food to survive.

The Natural Resources Commission approved the hunt, but Hoehn blocked it. Friday, he issued an injunction continuing the order until September.

He also told the DNR it must file an environmental impact statement on the hunt if it hopes to salvage it.

Stewart Freeman, an assistant attorney general, said Hoehn's order may ban all hunting in the area, including the November season, if it is made permanent next September. And he said it may have extended the ban beyond Beaver Basin to the whole Pictured Rocks National Lakeshore.

He also said the DNR may not agree to file an environmental impact statement on the special deer hunt.

Red Aims To Visit Detroit

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — The Communist mayor of Florence has applied for a U.S. visa to go to Detroit for dedication of the city's $337 million riverfront Renaissance Center.

The application of Mayor Elio Gabbuggiani will be forwarded to the State Department in Washington for action, the U.S. Consulate said Tuesday.

Because Gabbuggiani is a Communist, he needs a special waiver from the U.S. attorney general, based on a recommendation of the State Department, to enter the United States.

Mayor Gabbuggiani, 50, has been invited by Detroit Mayor Coleman Young to be present at the dedication of the center in April. Detroit and Florence are sister cities.

The visa case tests President Carter's recent criticism of restrictions on foreign visitors "who disagree with us politically."

Columbus Railway Co. was chartered, succeeding to the franchises and properties of the St. Joseph Valley Railway Co. (Buchanan to Berrien Springs) and the Benton Harbor and Southeastern Railway Co. The M.B.H.C. began operating over the Benton Harbor-Berrien Springs segment on August 24, 1897, and on the Berrien Springs-Buchanan segment October 4.

The Pere Marquette Railroad Co. purchased the M.B.H.C. early in 1903, the deed being recorded on May 6. The Pere Marquette operated over Somerlayton bridge on its Buchanan Branch until the I.C.C. approved its abandonment petition on May 31, 1924. The rails from Napier Avenue south to Buchanan, about 25 miles, were taken up in October of that year.

GOLD STAR MOTHERS PROTEST AMNESTY

President Jimmy Carter
White House
Washington, D.C.
Dear Mr. President:

We, the members of the American Gold Star Mothers, Inc., Chapter 17 of Benton Harbor, Mich., wish to express our very great dismay and disapproval of your recent grant of amnesty to all draft dodgers.

We feel very strongly since we lost our own sons in the service of this country. And your grant only served to deepen our already deep sense of grief and loss and seemed to nullify the supreme sacrifice they made.

These young men had other choices than to run away. Your grant simply excuses their not facing up to the problem of resistance to the Viet Nam War. We respect their right to disagree, but believe they should have stood up to be counted instead of running out. As you remember, Muhammad Ali served a jail sentence as his choice in resisting the draft. They could have done the same. Or they could have served in this country as workers in a hospital or other related occupations as some did in hospitals in this area.

Condoning running away from responsibility is setting a very serious precedent in case of a future need of a draft.

REAL ESTATE LAW TRICKS TAXPAYER

Editor,

After reading the article in the Feb. 26 issue of your paper on how "Gast Spells Out Benefits of New Law" regarding real estate — I just have to ask is there a politician anywhere that isn't selling the people right down the river. It tears me up to think these so-called educated people believe and want you the people to believe all this garbage the state tries to feed us. It would be all right if assessments were made fairer by the law, but you can believe there is more interest in it by the state than being fair to the average taxpayer. They would first need an average taxpayer in the Capitol to explain to them how to be fair.

I have yet to see the state pass a law that is supposed to be for the good of the people that doesn't have a dozen strings attached — just as this one. You notice the new law was tacked onto a new bill which currently allows improvements to homes without raising assessed valuations. Now it seems that bill was just the state's way of giving the people the good before the bad as is usually the case (just like no-fault insurance and everything else they get their nose in).

I can't believe they're interested only in fair assessments when they also want to know about your personal property, surveying costs, etc., etc. The last straw is that the real estate companies don't have to disclose their commissions as that is left on the sale price for that oh so fair assessment evaluation.

The sooner we quit giving the state everything they want and quit wanting everything they have to give the better off we'll be — but people don't seem to realize how shrewd the government can be when they're working for a takeover. I'd like to know when the taxpayer is going to rebel for a piece of that American Dream — freedom.

FEARS WE'LL ALL BE WARDS OF STATE

Editor,

Perhaps an experience would help to answer Mrs. Neil Garrett's letter of inquiry, dated 2-23-77, in regard to 'Cities and townships putting welfare recipients to work.'

During the time I was on the city commission we were in need of extra help in cleaning up our park and city — approx. two or three weeks work. I called the Social Services Dept., and explained the situation and the need for two men. The reply was, "there wasn't anyone available." I asked if there was anyone receiving food stamps? The reply was, "Oh yes, quite a few people, but we can't make them work."

Of course this irritated me and I asked if they were considered wards of the state? The answer was, "Yes, if you want to put it that way."

I am assuming no one was ever contacted about our position because no one ever came to work.

We need more governmental agencies and administrators like this, because the sooner we are all wards of the government, the quicker they will tell you what to do and when to do it. We won't need to think for ourselves. Our children won't need to read or write — look at today's education. No one will have to know anything because the planners will decide for you, and there will be no disputing their authority.

It used to be we worked for what we had. Today we work to have part of it taken away — this is our penalty for trying to get ahead — to keep the people who won't work, and feed the bureaucrats. Anyone (sic) who has an education knows this give-away can't go on at the pace it's going, without repercussions. What is wrong with our Congressmen allowing a few heads of federal departments to strangle the working class of the U.S., or can't we challenge their destructive authority?

I hope this will answer your question, Mrs. Garrett; but to you and many, many more people: Someday the biggest question in all will be — 'Where was I, and what was I doing when all these things were taking place?'

There are people who draw big money to tell you what they can do for you — free. There is nothing free — someone has to pay for it. It isn't the rich, nor is it the poor. Who is left? We will find in the near future it isn't what these people do for you; it's what they did to you.

Don Smith

Hartford

P.S. I would like to take this opportunity to thank the Gast Mfg. Co., for continuing the Sunday Manion Forum broadcast enlightening the public on what is taking place today — reducing the freedom of the U.S. citizen.

A great public service could be rendered if other industries or concerned business would engage more of these commentators to bring the facts to the public.

Prayers Whip ERA, They Say

By DAVID TOMLIN
Associated Press Writer

RALEIGH, N.C. (AP) — A women's prayer chain claims its efforts persuaded the Lord to tip the balance against the Equal Rights Amendment, which the North Carolina Senate defeated 26-24.

They say their prayers worked better than did personal telephone calls on behalf of the ERA from President Carter and First Lady Rosalynn Carter to wavering state senators.

"Our prayer chain did it," said Norma Swanson of Raleigh after the vote Tuesday. "We had women praying all night and all day, women from all walks of life. We asked God that if this thing was not in his plan that he would see that it was defeated."

Mrs. Swanson, of suburban Cary, said no formal organization backed the chain, just herself and a friend and a lot of telephoning.

She called about 50 friends, each of whom called other friends in other cities. She estimated several hundred all over the state were finally involved.

A schedule was set up starting at midnight Monday, the eve of Senate action on the ERA, and running through Tuesday.

Women signed up to pray in one-hour time slots, and extra volunteers promised to pray off and on throughout the day.

"Not one woman said she wouldn't be willing to set her alarm and get out of bed and get down on her knees," Mrs. Swanson said.

Many women, she said, were still praying when the Senate voted down the amendment.

The defeat was a severe blow to ERA proponents who had hoped the Tar Heel state would become the 36th of 38 states needed to ratify the amendment by March 21, 1979. The ERA would prohibit sex discrimination.

Karen DeCrow, president of the National Organization for Women, said the North Carolina defeat was "an absolute crisis."

"We are calling on Jimmy Carter to make the ERA his No. 1 priority," said Ms. DeCrow, urging Carter to "immediately turn his full attention to the human rights crisis in our country."

Mrs. Swanson said she was convinced the praying marathon had persuaded the Lord to influence the ERA vote.

of minorities, the Supreme Court says.

Such "benign discrimination" — intentionally treating blacks and other minorities better than whites to make up for past inequities — is allowed when states are attempting to comply with the Voting Rights Act of 1965, the court ruled on Tuesday.

In a 7-1 decision, the court said the New York legislature did not violate the Constitution when it redrew certain districts in 1974 following Justice Department guidelines to give black and Puerto Rican voters in New York City greater representation.

The redistricting plan established some legislative districts with 65 per cent non-white majorities in an attempt to ensure the election of non-white political candidates.

The plan was challenged as reverse racial discrimination by Hasidic Jews in Brooklyn who claimed their voting strength was diluted by the "affirmative action gerrymandering."

"This case presents a clear, undisputed instance of purposeful discrimination," attorneys for the orthodox Jews had told the court. They called the legislature's action "a purposeful racial slur."

The court's majority disagreed. An opinion written by Justice Byron R. White said state governments can use

some time next year, will carry great impact for affirmative action programs undertaken in education and business throughout the nation over the past decade.

White mentioned that the court's decision did not dictate

High Court Says Drawing Political Boundaries For Minorities Legal

Burger dissented, calling racial quotas an impermissible form of discrimination.

"The use of a mathematical formula tends to sustain the existence of ghettos by promoting the notion that political clout is to be gained or maintained by marshaling particular racial, ethnic or religious groups in enclaves," said Burger. He called the court's decision a "retreat from the ideal of the American melting pot."

Justice Thurgood Marshall disqualified himself from the case and took no part in the decision.

Still ahead for the court lies the broader question of whether other forms of what Justice William J. Brennan Jr. called benign discrimination can pass tests of constitutionality.

That decision, expected how it will rule in other cases not involving the Voting Rights Act.

In another case, the court ruled unanimously that a Newport, Ky., theater and its operators could not be prosecuted for

Judge Extends Alger County Ban On Special Deer Hunt

ESCANABA, Mich. (AP) — A Delta County Circuit Court judge has continued his order blocking a special deer hunt in Alger County until at least Sept. 6.

Judge Clair Hoehn set that date for further testimony in the "Beaver Basin" deer hunt case. State officials say he may block all deer hunting in the area for 1977, including the regular November deer season.

Hoehn had issued a restraining order against a state plan to kill 300 deer in a special season in Beaver Basin near Munising.

The Department of Natural Resources said the deer population had been kept artificially high by a private game preserve which fed them.

The facility has shut down, and the DNR said the special hunt was needed to prevent starving the deer which did not have enough natural food to survive.

The Natural Resources Commission approved the hunt, but Hoehn blocked it. Friday, he issued an injunction continuing the order until September.

He also told the DNR it must file an environmental impact statement on the hunt if it hopes to salvage it.

Stewart Freeman, an assistant attorney general, said Hoehn's order may ban all hunting in the area, including the November season, if it is made permanent next September. And he said it may have extended the ban beyond Beaver Basin to the whole Pictured Rocks National Lakeshore.

He also said the DNR may not agree to file an environmental impact statement on the special deer hunt.

Red Aims To Visit Detroit

FLORENCE, Italy (AP) — The Communist mayor of Florence has applied for a U.S. visa to go to Detroit for dedication of the city's $337 million riverfront Renaissance Center.

The application of Mayor Elio Gabbuggiani will be forwarded to the State Department in Washington for action, the U.S. Consulate said Tuesday.

Because Gabbuggiani is a Communist, he needs a special waiver from the U.S. attorney general, based on a recommendation of the State Department, to enter the United States.

Mayor Gabbuggiani, 50, has been invited by Detroit Mayor Coleman Young to be present at the dedication of the center in April. Detroit and Florence are sister cities.

The visa case tests President Carter's recent criticism of restrictions on foreign visitors "who disagree with us politically."

Newspaper-Broadcasting Combinations Threatened

By JERRY T. BAULCH

WASHINGTON (AP) — Companies owning both a newspaper and a broadcast station in the same community may face a choice of which to keep and which to sell under a federal appeals court ruling.

HAPPY TO LEAVE: Robert Schinn, one of American tourists held in Uganda by President Idi Amin, is seen in jovial mood in Nairobi when he was allowed to leave Uganda today after Amin decided not to see the Americans in Uganda. Uganda Expels Jailed American

By BRIAN JEFFRIES
Associated Press Writer
Nairobi, Kenya (AP) — An American tourist jailed for two days by President Idi Amin's police arrived in Nairobi today after being expelled from Uganda, the U.S. Embassy reported. But no exodus of Americans was expected despite Amin's recent behavior and reports of wholesale murder of Ugandans.

An embassy spokesman said the expelled American was named Brian Schwartz, but he could not give his age or U.S. address.

Schwartz reported he was locked up in Kampala, the Ugandan capital, during Amin's four-day ban against Americans leaving his country, but he said he was given no explanation for his detention, the spokesman said.

Schwartz arrived in Kampala last Thursday, the day before Amin ordered all Americans not to leave Uganda, and was taken into custody on Saturday, the embassy spokesman said.

"He was released on Monday night and stayed in a hotel," the spokesman continued. "The next day he was taken to the border with Kenya by car and after crossing caught a bus to Nairobi."

Schwartz said he knew of no other Americans held in jail, the spokesman said.

He was the second American tourist reported to have left Uganda this week. Robert Shinn, 25, of Spring Lake Heights, N.J., said he arrived in Nairobi Tuesday by bus from Kampala and had no trouble crossing the border.

The embassy spokesman said there was no indication that any of the estimated 240 American residents of Uganda would be leaving. Most are missionaries living in remote areas.

"Our presumption is that because most of them have been there so long, there won't be a lot of people coming," he said. But Secretary of State Cyrus Vance said he expected some of the Americans to leave.

Shinn said he arrived in Kampala on Saturday unaware that the day before Amin had prohibited Americans from leaving the country and ordered them to meet with him on Monday, a meeting that was later postponed to Wednesday and then postponed indefinitely.

Shinn said the atmosphere in Kampala was "far more tense than when I was there six months ago, particularly at night. But there weren't all that many soldiers on the streets. There were small wandering groups and the occasional truck would go by carrying several soldiers."

"At no time did I feel any personal threat. Ugandans I met who realized I was an American were very friendly. There was no harassment of Americans."

Shinn estimated about 12 other American tourists were in Kampala but said he did not meet any American residents. Most of the latter are missionaries living in rural areas.

In Washington, Vance told a reporter the U.S. government was "very pleased" by Amin's removal of restrictions on the Americans on Tuesday and the easing of the crisis.

"I would expect that some of them would probably be leaving," Vance said. "I don't know what the details would be. We'll have to watch and see."

In New York, United Nations Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim for the second time requested Amin to permit an impartial investigation of the deaths of the Anglican archbishop of Uganda and two government ministers whom the Ugandan dictator is accused of murdering two weeks ago.

Those deaths, after the three men were arrested on charges of plotting against Amin, and reports of a new massacre of members of two Christian tribes touched off an outcry from foreign churchmen, newspapers and political leaders, including President Carter.

Carter last Wednesday said developments in Uganda "disturbed the entire civilized world," and the United States joined Britain in asking the U.N. Commission on Human Rights to investigate.

Amin responded with charges that the United States, Britain and Israel were plotting to overthrow him, the summons to Americans in the country to the later-postponed meeting with him, and the ban on their leaving the country, which he lifted Tuesday.

The Human Rights Commission ended a four-day, closed-door discussion of the British-American request in Geneva Tuesday. The Yugoslav chairman, Alexander Rozovic, said the 32-nation body made decisions "it feels ... will have their effect," but he and other members of the commission refused to reveal them.

Collector Says Guns Missing

DOWAGIAC — Nine oldtime handguns valued at $700 were reported taken during a break-in yesterday of the James Servis home, 267 Jones street, here, city police said.

Police said the handguns were considered collector's items and ranged in value from $45 to $135 each. Approximately $5 in pennies was also taken from the home.

Entry to the home was made by forcing open a basement window, police said. The break-in occurred between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. while the family was away.

An unspecified number of joint newspaper-radio ownerships also may be affected by the ruling, officials said.

The court's decision deals only with cross-ownership in a single community and does not prohibit a corporation from owning a newspaper in one city and a radio or television station in another. Thus, it is possible for newspaper-broadcaster ownership in one city to trade broadcast properties with a newspaper-broadcast corporation in another.

Daniel M. Armstrong, the FCC's chief of litigation, said the three-judge panel may be asked to suspend its order pending an appeal.

He said while broadcast license renewals may be delayed until the case is settled, owners are free until then to continue joint ownership.

Radio and television licenses must be renewed every three years and the court noted that the FCC "is to grant renewal only if it finds it is in the public interest to do so."

The decision by a three-judge panel overturned a 1975 FCC decision that has been criticized because it brought a breakup in 16 smaller cities and left big city combinations untouched. The ruling also prohibited formation of future combinations.

The FCC earlier rejected efforts by the Justice Department to break up joint ownerships in St. Louis, Salt Lake City, Milwaukee, Fresno, Calif., and Topeka, Kan.

The court's ruling, written by Chief Judge David L. Bazelon, said companies with joint holdings must get rid of one property or the other if they are in the same city, "except in those cases where the evidence clearly discloses that cross-ownership is in the public interest."

The court did not define "public interest," but said in a footnote to its decision temporary or permanent waivers would be appropriate if sale of one of the interests were impossible or if owners would have to sell at a depressed price.

The ruling did not order owners of any broadcast-newspaper combinations to divest themselves of their properties, but established guidelines for the FCC to follow in adopting its own rules.

The suit against the FCC was initiated by the National Citizens Committee for Broadcasting, headed by former FCC Commissioner Nicholas Johnson.

SMC BOARD Business Office Bids Rejected

DOWAGIAC — The Southwestern Michigan college board last night rejected bids for developing a college business office system tied to use of a computer.

The bids were opened in February and ranged from $9,500 to $26,800. Under the proposals, the present business office system was to be converted into one capable of using a recently purchased IBM computer.

In place of the system covered by the bids, the board approved a $1,750 contract with Executive Data and Planning Services, Niles, to set up a general ledger system only. Board action came on recommendation of Dr. Russell Owen, college president.

In other areas, the board heard a report from David Briegel, SMC vice president, that some $1,600 had already been received in the Richmond T. Kingman memorial scholarship fund which the board established last month. Kingman, a long-time instructor at SMC, died Dec. 31. A goal of $5,000 has been set for the fund.

Gifts and grants were accepted as follows: From the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare for the 1976-77 college work-study program, $6,930; from Paul Pugh, SMC instructor, 164 foreign language audio tapes for instruction in German valued at $1,148; from the Dowagiac business and professional women's club, $200; and from Mr. and Mrs. Sidney B. Tremble of Dowagiac, $200.

Russians First To Get Warning

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Fishermen from Japan, Spain, South Korea and the Common Market countries waited today for President Carter to sign legislation permitting them to drop their nets inside the new U.S. 200-mile limit.

The first day of the new fishing limit, adopted to protect the country's fishing industry, passed Tuesday without major incident.

The Russians were the first to get a warning from the Coast Guard that they had violated one of the rules. Guardsmen boarded the Soviet trawler Linard 80 miles southwest of Martha's Vineyard, only hours after the law took effect at midnight.

The Coast Guard said the Linard was near American lobster gear, which can be damaged by moving vessels. The trawler was cited for not keeping a record of a broadcast which warned where the fixed gear was.

In the Soviet ship's holds the boarding party found hake, a species legal for foreign fishermen to take off New England but not in that restricted area.

There were several such boardings off New England, although no other violations were reported. Some 116 foreign vessels, more than one-half of them Russian, were reported off the East Coast on Tuesday.

In Alaska, Cmdr. Ralph Giffin said the only vessels reported in Alaskan waters were from Japan and the Soviet Union, and the Soviet ships were reported fishing legally under terms of their permits.

The Coast Guard said it had spotted no foreign fishing vessels off the Oregon or California coasts or in the Gulf of Mexico.

Only seven nations had agreements in force allowing their vessels to buy permits and fish in the U.S. zone when the law took effect. They were Canada, Poland, the Soviet Union, Romania, Bulgaria, East Germany and Taiwan.

Despite some opposition to the pact involving Japan on the ground that it gives that nation preferential treatment, the House voted 377 to 18 to approve pacts for the additional countries and to suspend a 60-day waiting period.

The Senate approved the measure on a voice vote.

Utilities Wary Of Natural Gas-Saving Plan

They Like The Principle But Worry About Diversions To Other States

By SUSAN AGER

Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Before a multi-billion-dollar idea for conserving natural gas can be implemented, Michigan utilities say they need to know that the gas they save won't be diverted to other utilities or states.

Proposed by the state Public Service Commission, the plan would have the utilities insulate a million Michigan homes and install gas-saving furnace devices in about two million. Gas customers would pay for the program through surcharges on the price of gas, but the average household could save up to $50 a year, the PSC says.

Tuesday was the opening day of hearings before the PSC on the proposal, although no formal PSC action will result from the testimony. It is the first hearing in the nation for this type of conservation program, although other states are considering it.

Gas company officials endorsed the plan in principle but told the PSC on Tuesday they could not go ahead with it unless several new laws were passed to protect them legally and financially.

Testimony from Consumers Power Co. officials indicated that company had more questions and concerns about the proposal than did Michigan Consolidated Gas Co., which helped the PSC on its proposal.

Consumers estimated, for example, that a quarter of its 783,000 customers might have to spend money to repair their furnaces before a contractor would agree to install the gas-saving devices. That would cost those customers between $30 million and $195 million, the company said.

It also asked for reassurances that the furnace devices are safe, and that the plan is not discriminatory by charging all gas customers for the cost of the conservation program when they will not benefit equally.

PSC Chairman Daniel Denlow agreed with the utilities that Michigan needs to know that gas saved through the plan would not be taken by federal authorities for use in other states. That savings could amount to 80 billion cubic feet of gas a year, or 9 per cent of the state's current usage.

But the utilities also asked for what Michigan Consolidated president Charles Montgomery called a state "finders keepers law" to keep one utility's conserved gas from being allocated for another company's customers.

"It seems abundantly clear that the benefits of the program must be preserved for those who conserved the gas and paid for its production," Montgomery said.

The utilities agreed that state or federal legislation also is needed to:

—Let them benefit, not suffer, from the project at tax time.

—Exempt them from anti-trust suits by firms like department stores that sell insulation to individual homeowners.

—Reduce their liability for problems arising out of the insulation or furnace-fitting.

—Let them add a monthly surcharge to customers' gas rates to help cover the cost of the project.

Both utilities estimated it would take them seven years to finish the project at a projected cost of $250 million to $350 million for Michigan Consolidated and about $460 million for Consumers Power.

The PSC will hear from smaller gas utilities, heating contractors, citizens groups and others during the next several days. It is unclear what the PSC will say after the hearing, although one or more utilities are later expected to file formal proposals for specific conservation programs that will need PSC approval.

Andrews 'Builder' Retiring As VP

BERRIEN SPRINGS — V. E. Garber, Andrews University's vice president for financial administration since 1963, has announced he will retire from the post at the end of the school year in June.

Garber, whose service at Andrews dates back to 1953, served as business manager of Emmanuel Missionary College before the school's expansion to university status, and has been largely responsible for the construction of over 30 buildings on the Andrews campus, including the administration building, the James White library, and the recently-completed science complex.

His departure will be the second for a key administrator at the university. Dr. Richard Hammill gave up the post of president June 30, 1976, to accept an administrative post with the General conference of the Seventh-day Adventist church. The church operates the university.

"V. Edward Garber has made a sustained contribution in the development of Andrews University of a first magnitude," said Dr. Joseph G. Smoot, president of Andrews. "Under his sound management, this institution has operated in the black continuously since 1953."

"In addition to his astute financial guidance, Mr. Garber has always sought to build up the academic standing of the university," Smoot added.

Serving under five presidents at Andrews, Garber has directed the erection of new buildings housing most of the university's 12 industries, a new campus center, which serves as the hub of student activities, Meier hall, the men's dormitory, and gymnasium with Olympic-sized swimming pool, approximately 350 apartments for student housing, the Andrews airport, and numerous other projects.

During the initial period following his retirement, Garber will assist on a part-time basis in the construction of Andrews Academy's new building on Garland avenue, as well as the new medical center and bank building complex to be built on U.S. 31 near the University plaza.

In addition to his leadership on the Andrews campus, Garber has been active in community affairs. He is currently serving on the board of trustees of Berrien General hospital and is Garber's expertise in financial administration has been recognized by the higher councils of the Seventh-day Adventist church, where he serves as a member of the executive committee of the church's General conference.

Two Men Accused Of Hog Theft

CASSOPOLIS — Two Dowagiac men were arrested yesterday by Cass county metro crime officers on charges of larceny of livestock, a 400-pound hog, from a farm near Dowagiac two weeks ago.

Booked at the Cass county jail were Kevin Lyle, 24, of 508 Gray street, and Mickey Huzenga, 23, Wayne street. Officers said Lyle was also arrested on a warrant charging delivery (sale) of narcotics, which were not identified.

Officers said the hog had been butchered and none of it was recovered.

Arrested Pair Is Linked To Car Theft Operation

SOUTH HAVEN — Two men arrested here last month have been linked to what police described as an alleged midwest stolen car operation.

The operation was revealed yesterday during a preliminary examination in Seventh district court for one of the men.

State police from South Haven said the operation involved cars stolen from Chicago and northern Indiana. Eight cars reported stolen had been recovered in the South Haven area, according to the police. Officers said the cars had altered registration numbers and in at least one case had been repainted.

Appearing in court yesterday for arraignment on a charge of possessing stolen property worth more than $100 was Willie Lee Williams, Jr., 31, Pensacola, Fla.

Williams was arrested Feb. 18, in a car reported stolen from Chicago in 1975. Police said Williams has a used car dealership in Brenton, Ala.

Also in custody was Larry Mackerel, also known as Lawrence Stone, 30, South Haven.

Williams was bound over to circuit court following the hearing and his bond was reduced to $12,000 from $15,000.

The alleged stolen car operation was revealed during arguments over the bond reduction. Joseph Milauckas, assistant Van Buren county prosecutor, objected to the reduction on grounds other cars were believed involved.

The reduction had been requested by Williams' attorney, John Verdok.

Det. Robert Rank, of the state police, reported afterward that Mackerel was arrested Feb. 22 when Williams was arraigned on the stolen property charge.

Mackerel was arrested on a warrant charging possession of stolen property worth over $100, a 1973 Cadillac. He was taken into custody in the courtroom.

Rank, who coordinated the investigation, said the car seized when Williams was arrested was subsequently identified by the owner, although it had been repainted, through a trailer hitch he had installed himself on the vehicle.

Monday night meeting, was also concerned over an implication that the association would be involved in any recall movement of township officials.

The association's statement said the association is planning a Saturday, March 5, meeting at Paw Paw high school, where the proposed sewer plan will be discussed.

"The results of this meeting will be passed on to the township board at the public hearing on March 7 at the Paw Paw middle school auditorium," according to the association's statement.

The association is made up of people who live around Lake Cora which is located in western Paw Paw township.

Lake Cora Group Is Not Protesting

PAW PAW — The Lake Cora Association has not joined in a protest against a proposed $9.6 million sewer system that would serve parts of Paw Paw, Waverly and Antwerp townships, a member of the association said yesterday.

"At no time has the Lake Cora Association board taken a stand for or against the proposed project, but rather has worked to serve as a source for information for its membership," the association said in a written statement given this newspaper by Gene Wroblewski, a board member.

The statement was issued because of a story in this newspaper's Monday edition. In the story, John Crowell of Paw Paw was reported as saying that the association was among several area groups protesting the proposed project.

Crowell is not a member of the association, Wroblewski said.

Crowell was also reported as saying there are several groups planning recall petition drives against officials in Waverly, Antwerp and Paw Paw townships if the township boards proceed with the sewer construction. He could not be reached for comment immediately.

The association statement said board members "...reflected shock" over any portrayal of the association as a protest group.

Unions 'Playing Politics,' Troopers' Group Charges

By DONALD WOUTAT
Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Labor unions were blasted Tuesday by the Michigan State Police Troopers Association for "playing politics" over the issue of state police expansion.

The troopers are "fed up with labor unions in this state playing politics with and trying to destroy good law enforcement in Michigan," said Sgt. Gordon M. Gotts, association president.

But the troopers admitted their own support for keeping state police on Detroit freeways is partly intended to win legislative backing for restoring money and manpower to the agency.

"That's what the fight is over — who's going to get the $31 million," said Doil C. Brown, executive secretary of the troopers association.

Brown meant the $31 million that Gov. William Milliken wants in order to expand state police freeway patrols to all city freeways in Michigan. A permanent trooper post has been set up in Detroit.

The Teamsters Union and AFL-CIO have led attacks on the Detroit freeway patrols by non-uniformed troopers and the unions object to the proposed transfer of trucking regulation power to state police.

The state Senate rejected Milliken's proposed transfer of 81 weighmasters who enforce trucking regulations. The truckers would be transferred from the Commerce Department to state police.

The unions have claimed that troopers are creating a super police agency and called for agency sheriff's deputies — who are unionized — to take over Detroit freeway patrols at state expense.

The troopers held a news conference Tuesday to sharply criticize the unions for their role in the two issues. They called it "petty revenge" for troopers' rules in quelling labor violence.

The troopers were ordered onto Detroit freeways by Milliken last August when Detroit police laid off 1,000 officers and could not continue the patrols.

Since then, Milliken has called for $31 million in state highway money to set up permanent trooper patrols on all urban freeways in the state. He also wants to beef up state police by more than 300 officers.

Democratic lawmakers have promised a thorough airing of the freeway patrol issue as Milliken seeks funding for his plan, though troopers have won general praise for their work in Detroit so far.

"If we pull out (of Detroit), people will say you don't need the money," Brown said. "That's not true. We need the money whether or not we stay in Detroit."

Brown also said that according to Wayne County Sheriff William Lucas' own figures, troopers could provide better patrols at less cost per officer than the sheriff's deputies.

Label State Meat, Lobby Group Asks

By LARRY McDERMOTT
Associated Press Writer

LANSING (AP) — A citizens group wants Michigan meat labeled so consumers who are concerned about PBB contamination can choose between it and meat produced outside the state.

"While the scientific debate rages and we remain in the dark, each of us is still forced to make decisions in the supermarket every day that may have profound effects on our own health and that of our children," Doug Ross, co-director of the Michigan Citizens Lobby, told a news conference Tuesday.

Ross called on the state Agriculture Commission to hold an emergency meeting this week and adopt the label "Produced From Michigan Beef."

"It would just ruin the industry," said David Diehl, chairman of the commission. "Michigan fat beef, poultry and dairy products are safe today. It's too bad people think it's dangerous."

"I don't think there is a need for a commission meeting. I'd rather let the legislature do it," Diehl said, adding that he would contact commission members and find out whether they want to meet.

If the commission takes no action, Rep. Lynn Jundahl, D-East Lansing, has agreed to sponsor a bill that would require the labeling of Michigan meat, Ross said. He added that they'd be scared to death to buy our meat if it carried this label," he said.

B. Dale Ball, director of the state Department of Agriculture, said he does not believe consumers are as worried about the meat products they buy as Ross implied. As for dairy products, Ball said no PBB has been found in Michigan milk in more than a year.

Ross said the lobby wasn't suggesting that people stop buying Michigan-produced meat, but admitted that's what will happen. While the beef-labelling works on bills to lower the level of PBB that meat could contain and scientists debate the issue, consumers have the right to know where the meat is produced, he said.

"It's going to mean people will not buy Michigan meat and dairy products, and thus will put pressure on the agriculture industry in this state to get its house in order," Ross said.

According to beef industry sources, approximately 30 per cent of the beef consumed in Michigan is produced in Michigan. But where is that beef?" Ross asked.

Diehl said nearly 80 per cent of the meat sold in Michigan today is produced in other states. "People have read and heard so much about all these people sick from PBB that they'd be scared to death to buy our meat if it carried this label," he said.

BCA Food Aid Boosted By Grant

Berrien County Action, Inc., the local anti-poverty agency, has received a $20,000 federal grant to provide food for low income people in Berrien county, according to Silas Legg, BCA program coordinator.

Previously, BCA had provided food for the poor from donations and through a payroll deduction plan of BCA employees, Legg said. The $20,000 grant is from the Community Services Administration of the U.S. Department of Commerce which also supplies administrative funds to BCA.

Legg said BCA will use the $20,000 grant to purchase food supplies and pay salaries of a program coordinator and nutritional aide.

Low income county residents who qualify for the program can receive food staples, such as canned goods, and vouchers to purchase perishable items, according to Legg. The vouchers and staple goods will be available at BCA headquarters at the Louise Beebe Memorial center, 617 Pipestone street, Benton Harbor.

In order to qualify for the program, Legg said county residents must have applied for financial help from other social service agencies and been denied and also must meet federal income guidelines. The guidelines for a family of five, according to Legg, is $4,600 income and under for a non-farm family and $3,920 and under for a farm family.

Legg said BCA will provide food on a priority basis to elderly persons, pregnant women and women with young children and people who are geographically isolated from other food programs.

Newspaper-Broadcasting Combinations Threatened

By JERRY T. BAULCH
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — Companies owning both a newspaper and a broadcast station in the same community may face a choice of which to keep and which to sell under a federal appeals court ruling.

In a decision Tuesday which could affect 79 television-newspaper combinations, the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ordered the Federal Communications Commission to break up the same-city combinations unless they can be shown to be in the public interest.

An unspecified number of joint newspaper-radio ownerships also may be affected by the ruling, officials said.

The court's decision deals only with cross-ownership in a single community and does not prohibit a corporation from owning a newspaper in one city and a radio or television station in another. Thus, it is possible for newspaper-broadcaster ownership in one city to trade broadcast properties with a newspaper-broadcast corporation in another.

Daniel M. Armstrong, the FCC's chief of litigation, said the three-judge panel may be asked to suspend its order pending an appeal.

He said while broadcast license renewals may be delayed until the case is settled, owners are free until then to continue joint ownership.

Radio and television licenses must be renewed every three years and the court noted that the FCC "is to grant renewal only if it finds it is in the public interest to do so."

The decision by a three-judge panel overturned a 1975 FCC decision that has been criticized because it brought a breakup in 16 smaller cities and left big city combinations untouched. The ruling also prohibited formation of future combinations.

The FCC earlier rejected efforts by the Justice Department to break up joint ownerships in St. Louis, Salt Lake City, Milwaukee, Fresno, Calif., and Topeka, Kan.

The court's ruling, written by Chief Judge David L. Bazelon, said companies with joint holdings must get rid of one property or the other if they are in the same city, "except in those cases where the evidence clearly discloses that cross-ownership is in the public interest."

The court did not define "public interest," but said in a footnote to its decision temporary or permanent waivers would be appropriate if sale of one of the interests were impossible or if owners would have to sell at a depressed price.

The ruling did not order owners of any broadcast-newspaper combinations to divest themselves of their properties, but established guidelines for the FCC to follow in adopting its own rules.

The suit against the FCC was initiated by the National Citizens Committee for Broadcasting, headed by former FCC Commissioner Nicholas Johnson.

Annis, Ala.; Birmingham, Ala.; Little Rock, Ark.; Fresno, Calif.; Sacramento, Calif.; San Francisco; Denver; Washington, D.C.; Tampa, Fla.; Albany, Ga.; Atlanta; Idaho Falls, Idaho; Champaign, Ill.

Chicago (two such arrangements); Quincy, Ill.; Rock Island, Ill.; Bloomington, Ind.; Elkhart, Ind.; South Bend, Ind.; Terre Haute, Ind.; Cedar Rapids, Iowa; Des Moines, Iowa; Mason City, Iowa; Topeka, Kan.; Louisville, Ky.; Paducah, Ky.; Baton Rouge, La.; Shreveport, La.; Portland, Maine; Baltimore (2).

SMC BOARD

Business Office Bids Rejected

DOWAGIAC — The Southwestern Michigan college board last night rejected bids for developing a college business office system tied to use of a computer.

The bids were opened in February and ranged from $9,500 to $26,800. Under the proposals, the present business office system was to be converted into one capable of using a recently purchased IBM computer.

In place of the system covered by the bids, the board approved a $4,750 contract with Executive Data and Planning Services, Niles, to set up a general ledger system only. Board action came on recommendation of Dr. Russell Owen, college president.

In other areas, the board heard a report from David Briegel, SMC vice president, that some $1,600 had already been received in the Richmond T. Kingman memorial scholarship fund which the board established last month. Kingman, a long-time instructor at SMC, died Dec. 31. A goal of $5,000 has been set for the fund.

Gifts and grants were accepted as follows: From the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare for the 1976-77 college work-study program, $6,930; from Paul Pugh, SMC instructor, 164 foreign language audio tapes for instruction in German valued at $1,148; from the Dowagiac business and professional women's club, $200; and from Mr. and Mrs. Sidney B. Tremble of Dowagiac, $200.

Russians First To Get Warning

By ASSOCIATED PRESS
Fishermen from Japan, Spain, South Korea and the Common Market countries waited today for President Carter to sign legislation permitting them to drop their nets inside the new U.S. 200-mile limit.

The first day of the new fishing limit, adopted to protect the country's fishing industry, passed Tuesday without major incident.

The Russians were the first to get a warning from the Coast Guard that they had violated one of the rules. Guardsmen boarded the Soviet trawler Linard 80 miles southwest of Martha's Vineyard, only hours after the law took effect at midnight.

The Coast Guard said the Linard was near American lobster gear, which can be damaged by moving vessels. The trawler was cited for not keeping a record of a broadcast which warned where the fixed gear was.

In the Soviet ship's holds the boarding party found hake, a species legal for foreign fishermen to take off New England but not in that restricted area.

There were several such boardings off New England, although no other violations were reported. Some 116 foreign vessels, more than one-half of them Russian, were reported off the East Coast on Tuesday.

In Alaska, Cmdr. Ralph Giffin said the only vessels reported in Alaskan waters were from Japan and the Soviet Union, and the Soviet ships were reported fishing legally under terms of their permits.

The Coast Guard said it had spotted no foreign fishing vessels off the Oregon or California coasts or in the Gulf of Mexico.

Only seven nations had agreements in force allowing their vessels to buy permits and fish in the U.S. zone when the law took effect. They were Canada, Poland, the Soviet Union, Romania, Bulgaria, East Germany and Taiwan.

Despite some opposition to the pact involving Japan on the ground that it gives that nation preferential treatment, the House voted 377 to 18 to approve pacts for the additional countries and to suspend a 60-day waiting period.

The Senate approved the measure on a voice vote.

Robert Allen Dies In Arizona Crash

Robert K. Allen, 65, who retired last year after 36 years of service with the Pearson Construction Co., Benton Harbor, died last Thursday of injuries received in a traffic accident near Flagstaff, Ariz.

Mr. Allen's wife, Dixie, also was injured, but is recovering at Community hospital in Flagstaff.

Word of the death was received by Burton H. Pearson, president of Pearson Construction Co., who said Mr. Allen had been a foreman for the company. Pearson said Mr. and Mrs. Allen formerly resided on Red Arrow highway south of St. Joseph, but recently moved to Morganfield, Ky. Mr. and Mrs. Allen were widely known as avid bridge players, Pearson said.

Pearson was informed the Allen auto and a semi truck collided over the noon hour in severe weather conditions last Thursday on I-40, just west of Flagstaff. Mr. Allen died the same day. Mr. and Mrs. Allen were returning to Morganfield from California at the time, and Mrs. Allen was driving. Pearson said the truck driver also was reported injured and was ticketed by Arizona state police after the crash.

Mrs. Allen was expected to remain hospitalized for another 10 days to two weeks.

The body of Mr. Allen was cremated, and a memorial service will be held at Morganfield when Mrs. Allen recovers, Pearson said.

Lee's Fire Chief Given Pay Boost

PULLMAN — The Lee township board last night voted to pay the township fire chief for fire runs he makes in addition to his $700 per year salary.

Prior to last night's action, Fire Chief Wayne Blanchard received only the salary. Fire runs are paid at the rate of $5 for the first hour and $3 an hour for time spent on a call after the first hour.

In related business, the board discussed hiring an assistant fire chief to be on duty during the day and Blanchard was asked to make recommendations on the move to the board.

Also concerning fire department business, the board approved the purchase of a new air tank at a cost of about $100. The board also approved loaning another of the department's air tanks to the Allegan county Fireman's association for use in an emergency pool of tanks. Blanchard said that the tanks would be stored in Allegan and that they would be sent to any department requiring extra tanks at a fire. The air tanks are used by firemen when going into a smokefilled building to fight blazes.

In other action, the board appointed Maynard S. McGregor chairman of the township planning commission and zoning administrator. He replaces Dow "Doug" Keene who resigned last month. The board also formally accepted the resignation of Martin P. Cain, Jr., from the township zoning board and planning commission. He had informally resigned last month and James Shelton, was named to take his posts last month.

Eight Are Charged In Cass Break-Ins

CASSOPOLIS — Eight people including three juveniles were arrested yesterday by Cass county metro crime unit officers and charged with breaking and entering five residences in the Cass county area.

Officers credited Marcellus, Dowagiac and Silver Creek township police with assistance in the investigations which are continuing, officers said. The investigations began in February.

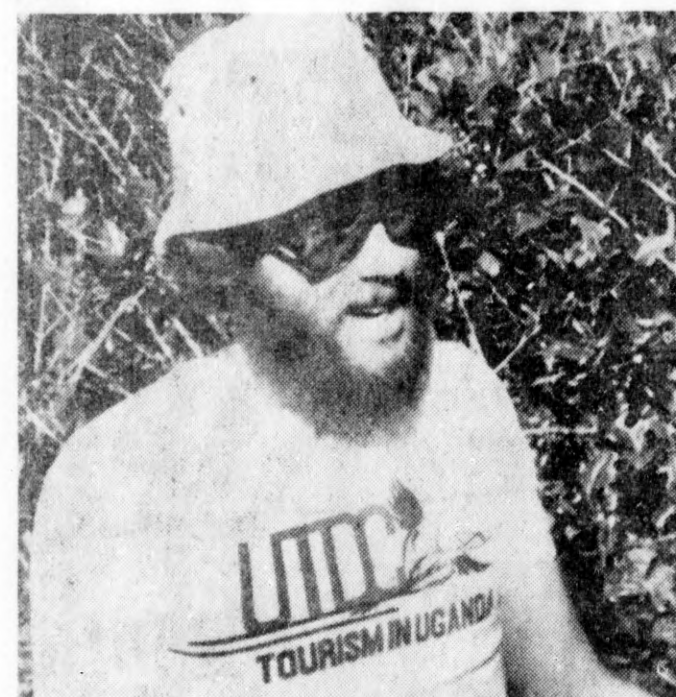

Arrested on charges of breaking and entering were Edward Payton, 25, Railroad street, and Clarence Henderson, 33, of 109 Sheldon street, both of Dowagiac. Officers said their arrests were in connection with several break-ins in the Marcellus and Twin Lakes area and officers said some $3,000 in allegedly stolen property has been recovered with the two arrests.

Two men and two juveniles were arrested as the result of a separate break-in at Marcellus, officers said. Scott Nevenhaven, 17, Three Rivers, and Delmar Woods, 18, Constantine, were arrested on charges of breaking and entering. They were jailed in lieu of posting $2,000 bonds.

The two Three Rivers juveniles were to be petitioned to juvenile court on breaking and entering charges.

Patrick Dominiack, 25, of 115½ East Prairie Ronde street, Dowagiac, was arrested on a charge of breaking and entering a Pokagon township home. He was jailed in lieu of posting $1,000 bond.

A juvenile Dowagiac boy was to be petitioned to juvenile court on a charge of breaking and entering a Dowagiac home. Officers said the arrest cleared several Dowagiac burglaries. A reportedly stolen car was recovered, officers said.

HAPPY TO LEAVE: Robert Schinn, one of American tourists held in Uganda by President Idi Amin, is seen in jovial mood in Nairobi when he was allowed to leave Uganda today after Amid decided not to see the Americans in Uganda. Uganda Expels Jailed American

Associated Press Writer

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — An American tourist jailed for two days by President Idi Amin's police arrived in Nairobi today after being expelled from Uganda, the U.S. Embassy reported. But no exodus of Americans was expected despite Amin's recent behavior and reports of wholesale murder of Ugandans.

An embassy spokesman said the expelled American was named Brian Schwartz, but he could not give his age or U.S. address.

Schwartz reported he was locked up in Kampala, the Ugandan capital, during Amin's four-day ban against Americans leaving his country, but he said he was given no explanation for his detention, the spokesman said.

Schwartz arrived in Kampala last Thursday, the day before Amin ordered all Americans not to leave Uganda, and was taken into custody on Saturday, the embassy spokesman said.

"He was released on Monday night and stayed in a hotel," the spokesman continued. "The next day he was taken to the border with Kenya by car and after crossing caught a bus to Nairobi."

Schwartz said he knew of no other Americans held in jail, the spokesman said.

He was the second American tourist reported to have left Uganda this week. Robert Shinn, 25, of Spring Lake Heights, N.J., said he arrived in Nairobi Tuesday by bus from Kampala and had no trouble crossing the border.

The embassy spokesman said there was no indication that any of the estimated 240 American residents of Uganda would be leaving. Most are missionaries living in remote areas.

"Our presumption is that because most of them have been there so long, there won't be a lot of people coming," he said. But Secretary of State Cyrus Vance said he expected some of the Americans to leave.

Shinn said he arrived in Kampala on Saturday unaware that the day before Amin had prohibited Americans from leaving the country and ordered them to meet with him on Monday, a meeting that was later postponed to Wednesday and then postponed indefinitely.

Shinn said the atmosphere in Kampala was "far more tense than when I was there six months ago, particularly at night. But there weren't all that many soldiers on the streets. There were small wandering groups and the occasional truck would go by carrying several soldiers."

"At no time did I feel any personal threat. Ugandans I met who realized I was an American were very friendly. There was no harassment of Americans."

Shinn estimated about 12 other American tourists were in Kampala but said he did not meet any American residents. Most of the latter are missionaries living in rural areas.

In Washington, Vance told a reporter the U.S. government was "very pleased" by Amin's removal of restrictions on the Americans on Tuesday and the easing of the crisis.

"I would expect that some of them would probably be leaving," Vance said. "I don't know what the details would be. We'll have to watch and see."

In New York, United Nations Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim for the second time requested Amin to permit an impartial investigation of the deaths of the Anglican archbishop of Uganda and two government ministers whom the Ugandan dictator is accused of murdering two weeks ago.

Those deaths, after the three men were arrested on charges of plotting against Amin, and reports of a new massacre of members of two Christian tribes touched off an outcry from foreign churchmen, newspapers and political leaders, including President Carter.

Carter last Wednesday said developments in Uganda "disgusted the entire civilized world," and the United States joined Britain in asking the U.N. Commission on Human Rights to investigate.

Amin responded with charges that the United States, Britain and Israel were plotting to overthrow him, the summons to Americans in the country to the later-postponed meeting with him, and the ban on their leaving the country, which he lifted Tuesday.

The Human Rights Commission ended a four-day, closed-door discussion of the British-American request in Geneva Tuesday. The Yugoslav chairman, Alexander Bozovic, said the 32-nation body made decisions "it feels ... will have their effect," but he and other members of the commission refused to reveal them.

Collector Says Guns Missing

DOWAGIAC — Nine oldtime handguns valued at $760 were reported taken during a break-in yesterday of the James Servis home, 207 Jones street, here, city police said.

Police said the handguns were considered collector's items and ranged in value from $45 to $135 each. Approximately $5 in pennies was also taken from the home.

Entry to the home was made by forcing open a basement window, police said. The break-in occurred between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. while the family was away.

Last-Second Niles Basket Sinks St. Joseph

Vikings Escape 53-51, Face BH Thursday

By JOHN VANDEN HEIDE
Sports Editor

NILES — "That's a bitter pill to swallow...we played well enough to win. It really leaves one feeling washed out."

That was St. Joseph coach George Gaumer's reaction to a shot at the buzzer by Niles sophomore substitute Steve Schmelker which beat the Bears 53-51 in a Class A district tournament thriller here Tuesday night.

Niles, which clattered St. Joseph 76-47 and 81-48 during the regular season, erased an eight-point second half deficit while earning the right to face Benton Harbor in the tourney semifinal here at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

Schmelker's winning shot came from the left corner after he rebounded a missed shot by teammate Tom Donley.

Schmelker, who has scored just 35 points all season, got his chance to start Tuesday because all-conference Niles center Kevin Seitz was on crutches with an ankle sprain suffered in the regular season finale last Friday against Kalamazoo Central. He hopes to play Thursday against Benton Harbor.

Niles got its first lead of the second half at 47-45 with 4:07 left in the game. It remained that close the rest of the way, with St. Joe's Jeff Beal hitting one of two free throws with nine seconds showing to deadlock the game at 51-51. The bucket that beat the Bears followed.

Schmelker's shot overshadowed a valiant effort by St. Joseph, including a game-high 27 points by Dale Wright in his last game for the Bears.

"I was real proud of the way they played," added Gaumer while praising his players. "Most everyone thought we were going to get blown out of the gym."

The loss of 6-5 senior Seitz, who owns a 10.9 scoring average, undoubtedly hampered Niles. But St. Joe also showed a good man-to-man defense while helping to leave the Vikings with their worst field goal shooting percentage of the year (34 per cent), including a fine effort by Keene Taylor on Niles all league star Tim Garner, who scored 28 in each of the first two games against the Bears and carried a 22.5 average into the game. Garner got just 11 points and fouled out with 4:05 left to play.

Niles pulled out the game by making the last quarter its best of the game, especially in the rebounding department.

"I thought we did a fine job of rebounding," continued Gaumer, "but the turning point was in the fourth quarter when they got some second and third shots. That was when we lost it."

St. Joseph	10	12	16	12	51

Officials: Jim Spangler (Lawrence) & Andy Saetre (Hartford)

Niles coach Dean Adams also thought that the Vikings' pressure defense helped. "We decided we had to increase the pressure and intensity," explained the veteran mentor.

St. Joe led 10-8 after the first quarter and the game was all tied up at 23-23 at halftime.

St. Joe then went up by eight in the third quarter, with Wright leading the way despite a box and one defense used by Niles against him. The Vikings then called time out and switched to a straight man-to-man defense and started getting back in the game. They trailed 39-35 entering the last period.

Niles got its fifth straight victory with George Seals scoring 13 overall, Donley 12 and Jason Arnold 10, in addition to Garner's 11.

The Vikings, co-champions of the Big Seven Conference will carry an overall 16-4 record against Benton Harbor, a co-champion in the LMAC.

Paul Knuth added 12 points to the St. Joseph cause as the Bears ended their season at 7-14, the school's worst record in eight years.

Niles made 23 of 68 field goal attempts for its 34 per cent mark, while St. Joe swished 18 of 41 (44 per cent). The Vikings made seven of 12 free throws (58 per cent) and the Bears 15 of 21 (63 per cent).

Rebounding was even at 37 each, with Arnold having 13 for Niles and Beal 10 for St. Joe. The Vikings had just eight turnovers, compared to the Bears' 16.

Wright's 27 points gave him 469 for the season and a final 22.3 average. His point total is seven short of the mark of all-stater Tom Scheffler, now a senior starter at Purdue. Gaumer calls Wright the most consistent player he's had in his nine years at St. Joe.

Thursday's Benton Harbor-Niles game will be the first between the schools since the Tigers trimmed the Vikings 70-66 in the 1975 district.

Defending district champion Niles will have the better record Thursday — Benton Harbor is 10-10 — but Adams expects a tough game.

"I'll tell you one thing. We had better rebound better than we rebounded tonight and shoot better than we shot. If we don't have Seitz back we are in trouble."

"But our kids seem to get fired up for Harbor, though."

U-D Falls To Loyola

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer

Although Detroit stubbed its toe on the final hurdle, Coach Dick Vitale still is hoping for a telephone call from the National Collegiate Athletic Association and a post-season basketball bid.

"I pray the selection committee will judge us on 27 games, not on one night," Vitale said Tuesday after his 19th-ranked Titans were upset by Loyola of Chicago 79-71.

The loss was only Detroit's third against 24 victories. And Vitale has an easy explanation for the defeat.

"They shot it and we didn't," he said.

Detroit, which had been shooting at a 51 per cent clip during the season while averaging 91.7 points per game, hit only 32 per cent of its field goal attempts against Loyola.

"We executed well but we didn't shoot well, and all year that's been our best thing," Vitale said.

Houston Lloyd paced Loyola with 21 points, while Andre Wakefield scored 20. High for Detroit was Terry Tyler with 25 points — 19 in the first half.

"I feel confident that they (the NCAA selection committee) will evaluate us in a fair way," Vitale said about his team's chances for a post-season bid.

In the only other game involving an Associated Press Top 20 team, fifth-ranked Nevada-Las Vegas, playing at home, crushed Hawaii 124-84. Eddie Owens had 25 points as six players for the victorious Rebels scored in double figures. Hawaii has not won a road game in two years.

Anthony Roberts, the nation's second leading scorer from Oral Roberts, tallied 50 points in a losing effort. Senior guard Carlton Byrd scored 30 points in his final home game, leading Florida State past Oral Roberts 91-87. Harry Davis and David Thompson had 24 and 21 points, respectively, for the victorious Seminoles.

Appalachian State, behind Mel Hubbard and Tony Searcy, upset Furman 70-64, while Virginia Military stopped East Carolina 88-77 in the semifinals of the So. Eastern Conference tournament.

Searcy scored 18 points, while Hubbard, who finished with 13, converted a three-point play with 2:47 left, breaking a tie and giving Appalachian the victory. Ron Carter finished with 22 points and Will Bynum 19 for VMI.

Rich Laurel's 35 points led Hofstra over Lehigh 81-72 and Donn Wilber scored 27 points as La Salle stopped Delaware 84-77 in East Coast Conference playoff games, and Tony Hanson's 37 points lifted Connecticut past Fairfield 87-75 and into the ECAC New England playoffs.

Titans' Coach Wants To Open Against 'M'

CHICAGO (AP) — University of Detroit Coach Dick Vitale has a great idea for next year's basketball season opener. He'd like to pit his Titans against the University of Michigan — and play the game in the massive Pontiac Silverdome.

"We could draw 40,000 people," the colorful Detroit coach enthused before his team's Tuesday night season finale against Chicago-Loyola. Vitale, of course, couldn't have foreseen that Loyola would topple the Titans, 79-71. "Can you imagine the interest that would stir up on the state?" he asked.

A little thing like scheduling doesn't seem like much of an obstacle to Vitale. "We can have the two teams we were supposed to play meet each other in the opener, then we can play the second game. I don't know if they'll go for it, but I'm going to suggest it to (Michigan athletic director Don) Canham."

Even better, Vitale would like to meet the Wolverines in this year's NCAA tournament. "I'd love to play them," he said, noting carefully that invitations to the tournament are not to be extended until this Sunday afternoon. "When a team has won 24 out of 26 games like we have, it should be automatic that it goes to the NCAA. I mean what more can we do?" Of course, a few hours later it was 24 out of 27.

DEFENDING DISTRICT CHAMPS OUSTED

DeBoe Leads Covert Victory

By JACK WALKDEN
Staff Sports Writer

COVERT — James DeBoe is not a flashy ballplayer. In fact, one rarely notices that the 6-2 Covert sophomore center is even on the floor.

But it was the play of DeBoe which sparked Covert to a 73-62 Class D basketball victory over defending district champion Gallien here Tuesday night.

Michigan Lutheran (12-7) faces third-ranked Bridgman (19-1) at 7:30 here tonight.

DeBoe tossed in 16 points, pulled down 15 rebounds and blocked four shots to spark the Bulldogs.

"James is not one of the players you usually notice during the game," Covert coach Rod DeYoung said. "But at the end you look at the book and he has about 16 points and 10 to 15 rebounds. He's not generally spectacular."

DeBoe missed six games during the middle of the season after being declared scholastically ineligible and may be just now rounding into shape. DeBoe tallied 17 points last Friday against Saugatuck.

"James is coming along real good," DeYoung said. "During the last two games he's played the way he's capable. Because of those games he missed, this is like the middle of the season for him.

"He's very deceptive. He has long arms and is very thin. The opposition doesn't expect him to do some of the things he does."

The fifth-ranked Bulldogs, now 18-3, were led in scoring by sophomore guard Jerry Starks, who came off the bench to toss in 20 points. Guards Mike DeYoung and Steve Hawkins each tallied 10.

Gallen got a solid performance out of 6-5 center Mike Kuntz, who tallied 16 points and pulled down 17 rebounds.

"Mike is obviously out board key," Gallien coach Mike Heckathorn said. "When he isn't there we're in trouble."

Brad Marshall added 13 points for Gallien, which wound up 5-16 for the season. The 16 losses is the most in Gallien history.

Covert, which faces Lawrence Thursday, struggled early and held just a 33-32 lead with 7:44 left in the third quarter. During the next nine minutes, however, the Bulldogs outscored Gallien 30-10 to put the game away.

"Basically the difference in our team is movement," DeYoung said. "When we don't move, we don't do anything. We don't rebound and we don't get any offense or defense."

"We're just not big enough to stand there and get a rebound. We've got to move. DeBoe, in many ways, was indicative of the whole game. We looked good at times and at other times we didn't."

"I think it's a mental thing with the ballplayers. Sometimes they think they only have to go through the motions. We've got to think about what we're supposed to be doing."

Both coaches agreed that it was the early moments of the third quarter which decided the game.

"The first three minutes of the second half did us in," Heckathorn said. "We came down, had several good shots and couldn't buy a bucket. Then they had a flurry of blocked shots."

"In the first half we were under self-control and very disciplined. We took good shots and I was really pleased with our play. But in the second half we just lost our composure. The missing inside and then the blocked shots got us down."

DeYoung was especially pleased with the Bulldog defense, which blocked eight Gallien shots.

"Defensively, I guess I would have to say we did a pretty good job," he said. "We tried to put pressure on them defensively and make them rush their shots."

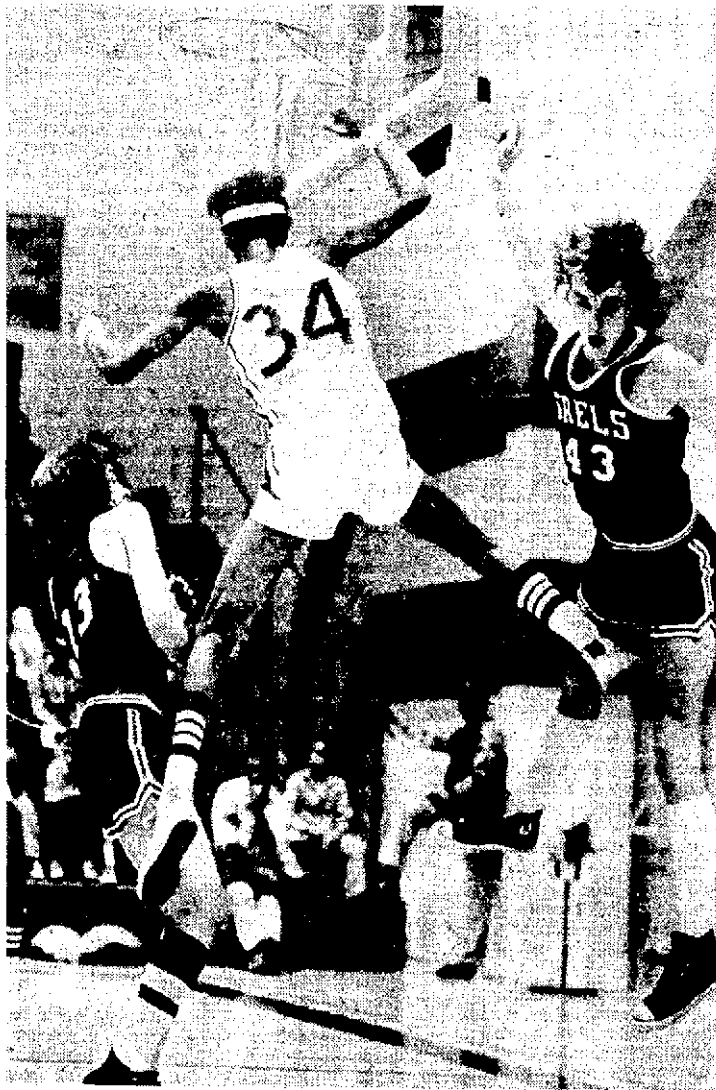

"They missed a lot of easy ones and we also blocked a couple. And when you block a couple of shots, the opposition will tend to try and get off the shot a little faster after that."

The Covert defense limited Gallien to a poor 37 per cent shooting effort on 23 of 63 from the floor. The Bulldogs found the range on 35 of 86 for 41 per cent.

Covert held a commanding 37-46 board edge with George Starks and Robert Maggard adding nine rebounds to DeBoe's total. John Gunn chipped in seven rebounds for Gallien.

The Bulldogs turned the ball over 23 times. Gallien had 28 miscues.

Utilities Wary Of Natural Gas-Saving Plan

By SUSAN AGER

Associated Press Writer
LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Before a multi-billion-dollar idea for conserving natural gas can be implemented, Michigan utilities say they need to know that the gas they save won't be diverted to other utilities or states.

Proposed by the state Public Service Commission, the plan would have the utilities insulate a million Michigan homes and install gas-saving furnace devices in about two million. Gas customers would pay for the program through surcharges on the price of gas, but the average household could save up to $80 a year, the PSC says.

Tuesday was the opening day of hearings before the PSC on the proposal, although no formal PSC action will result from the testimony. It is the first hearing in the nation for this type of conservation program, although other states are considering it.

Gas company officials endorsed the plan in principle but told the PSC on Tuesday they could not go ahead with it unless several new laws were passed to protect them legally and financially.

Testimony from Consumers Power Co. officials indicated that company had more questions and concerns about the proposal than did Michigan Consolidated Gas Co., which helped the PSC on its proposal.

Consumers estimated, for example, that a quarter of its 783,000 customers might have to spend money to repair their furnaces before a contractor would agree to install the gas-saving devices. That would cost those customers between $39 million and $195 million, the company said.

It also asked for reassurances that the furnace devices are safe, and that the plan is not discriminatory by charging all gas customers for the cost of the conservation program when they will not benefit equally.

PSC Chairman Daniel Demlow agreed with the utilities that Michigan needs to know that gas saved through the plan would not be taken by federal authorities for use in other states. That savings could amount to 80 billion cubic feet of gas a year, or 9 per cent of the state's current usage.

But the utilities also asked for what Michigan Consolidated president Charles Montgomery called a state "finders keepers law" to keep one utility's conserved gas from being allocated for another company's customers.

"It seems abundantly clear that the benefits of the program must be preserved for those who conserved the gas and paid for its production," Montgomery said.

The utilities agreed that state or federal legislation also is needed to:

—Let them benefit, not suffer, from the project at tax time.

—Exempt them from anti-trust suits by firms like department stores that sell insulation to individual homeowners.

—Reduce their liability for problems arising out of the insulation or furnace-fitting.

—Let them add a monthly surcharge to customers' gas rates to help cover the cost of the project.

Both utilities estimated it would take them seven years to finish the project at a projected cost of $250 million to $350 million for Michigan Consolidated and about $460 million for Consumers Power.

The PSC will hear from smaller gas utilities, heating contractors, citizens groups and others during the next several days. It is unclear what the PSC will say after the hearing, although one or more utilities are later expected to file formal proposals for specific conservation programs that will need PSC approval.

Andrews 'Builder' Retiring As VP

BERRIEN SPRINGS — V. E. Garber, Andrews University's vice president for financial administration since 1963, has announced he will retire from the post at the end of the school year in June.

Garber, whose service at Andrews dates back to 1953, served as business manager of Emmanuel Missionary College before the school's expansion to university status, and has been largely responsible for the construction of over 30 buildings on the Andrews campus, including the administration building, the James White library, and the recently-completed science complex.

His departure will be the second for a key administrator at the university. Dr. Richard Hammill gave up the post of president June 30, 1976, to accept an administrative post with the General conference of the Seventh-day Adventist church. The church operates the university.

"V. Edward Garber has made a sustained contribution in the development of Andrews University of a first magnitude," said Dr. Joseph G. Smoot, president of Andrews. "Under his sound management, this institution has operated in the black continuously since 1953."

"In addition to his astute financial guidance, Mr. Garber has always sought to build up the academic standing of the university," Smoot added.

Serving under five presidents at Andrews, Garber has directed the erection of new buildings housing most of the university's 12 industries, a new campus center, which serves as the hub of student activities, Meier hall, the men's dormitory, and gymnasium with Olympic-sized swimming pool, approximately 350 apartments for student housing, the Andrews airport, and numerous other projects.

During the initial period following his retirement, Garber will assist on a part-time basis in the construction of Andrews Academy's new building on Garland avenue, as well as the new medical center and bank building complex to be built on U.S. 31 near the University plaza.

In addition to his leadership on the Andrews campus, Garber has been active in community affairs. He is currently serving on the board of trustees of Berrien General hospital and is a past president of the Berrien Springs Rotary club. He is a former trustee of Oronoko Township.

Garber's expertise in financial administration has been recognized by the higher councils of the Seventy-day Adventist church, where he serves as a member of the executive committee of the church's General conference.

Two Men Accused Of Hog Theft

CASSOPOLIS — Two Dowagiac men were arrested yesterday by Cass county metro crime officers on charges of larceny of livestock, a 400-pound hog, from a farm near Dowagiac two weeks ago.

Booked at the Cass county jail were Kevin Lyle, 24, of 508 Gray street, and Mickey Huzenga, 23, Wayne street. Officers said Lyle was also arrested on a warrant charging delivery (sale) of narcotics, which were not identified.

Officers said the hog had been butchered and none of it was recovered.

Arrested Pair Is Linked To Car Theft Operation

SOUTH HAVEN — Two men arrested here last month have been linked to what police described as an alleged midwest stolen car operation.

The operation was revealed yesterday during a preliminary examination in Seventh district court for one of the men.

State police from South Haven said the operation involved cars stolen from Chicago and northern Indiana. Eight cars reported stolen had been recovered in the South Haven area, according to the police. Officers said the cars had altered registration numbers and in at least one case had been repainted.

Appearing in court yesterday for arraignment on a charge of possessing stolen property worth more than $100 was Willie Lee Williams, Jr., 31, Pensacola, Fla.

Williams was arrested Feb. 18, in a car reported stolen from Chicago in 1975. Police said Williams has a used car dealership in Brewton, Ala.

Also in custody was Larry Mackerel, also known as Lawrence Stone, 30, South Haven.

Williams was bound over to circuit court following the hearing and his bond was reduced to $12,000 from $15,000.

The alleged stolen car operation was revealed during arguments over the bond reduction. Joseph Milauckas, assistant Van Buren county prosecutor, objected to the reduction on grounds other cars were believed involved.

The reduction had been requested by Williams' attorney, John Verdonk.

Det. Robert Rank, of the state police, reported afterward that Mackerel was arrested Feb. 22 when Williams was arraigned on the stolen property charge.

Mackerel was arrested on a warrant charging possession of stolen property worth over $100, a 1973 Cadillac. He was taken into custody in the courtroom.

Rank, who coordinated the investigation, said the car seized when Williams was arrested was subsequently identified by the owner, although it had been repainted, through a trailer hitch he had installed himself on the vehicle.

Monday night meeting, was also concerned over an implication that the association would be involved in any recall movement of township officials.

The association's statement said the association is planning a Saturday, March 5, meeting at Paw Paw high school, where the proposed sewer plan will be discussed.

"The results of this meeting will be passed on to the township board at the public hearing on March 7 at the Paw Paw middle school auditorium," according to the association's statement.

The association is made up of people who live around Lake Cora which is located in western Paw Paw township.

Lake Cora Group Is Not Protesting

PAW PAW — The Lake Cora Association board has not joined in a protest against a proposed $9.6 million sewer system that would serve parts of Paw Paw, Waverly and Antwerp townships, a member of the association said yesterday.

"At no time has the Lake Cora Association board taken a stand for or against the proposed project, but rather has worked to serve as a source for information for its membership," the association said in a written statement given this newspaper by Gene Wroblewski, a board member.

The statement was issued because of a story in this newspaper's Monday edition. In the story, John Crowell of Paw Paw was reported as saying that the association was among several area groups protesting the proposed project.

Crowell is not a member of the association, Wroblewski said.

Crowell was also reported as saying there are several groups planning recall petition drives against officials in Waverly, Antwerp and Paw Paw townships if the township boards proceed with the sewer construction. He could not be reached for comment immediately.

The association statement said board members "...reflected shock" over any portrayal of the association as a protest group.

Unions 'Playing Politics,' Troopers' Group Charges

By DONALD WOUTAT

Associated Press Writer

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Labor unions were blasted Tuesday by the Michigan State Police Troopers Association for "playing politics" over the issue of state police expansion.

The troopers are "fed up with labor unions in this state playing politics with and trying to destroy good law enforcement in Michigan," said Sgt. Gordon M. Gotts, association president.

But the troopers admitted their own support for keeping state police on Detroit freeways is partly intended to win legislative backing for restoring money and manpower to the agency.

"That's what the fight is over — who's going to get the $31 million," said Doil C. Brown, executive secretary of the troopers association.

Brown meant the $31 million that Gov. William Milliken wants in order to expand state police freeway patrols to all city freeways in Michigan. A permanent trooper post has been set up in Detroit.

The Teamsters Union and AFL-CIO have led attacks on the Detroit freeway patrols by non-unionized troopers and the unions object to the proposed transfer of trucking regulation power to state police.

The state Senate rejected Milliken's proposed transfer of 81 weighmasters who enforce trucking regulations. The truckers would be transferred from the Commerce Department to state police.

The unions have claimed that troopers are creating a super police agency and called for Wayne County sheriff's deputies — who are unionized — to take over Detroit freeway patrols at state expense.

The troopers held a news conference Tuesday to sharply criticize the unions for their role in the two issues. They called it "petty revenge" for troopers' roles in quelling labor violence.

The troopers were ordered onto Detroit freeways by Milliken last August when Detroit police laid off 1,000 officers and could not continue the patrols.

Since then, Milliken has called for $31 million in state highway money to set up permanent trooper patrols on all urban freeways in the state. He also wants to beef up state police by more than 300 officers.

Democratic lawmakers have promised a thorough airing of the freeway patrol issue as Milliken seeks funding for his plan, though troopers have won general praise for their work in Detroit so far.

"If we pull out (of Detroit), people will say you don't need the money," Brown said. "That's not true. We need the money whether or not we stay in Detroit."

Brown also said that according to Wayne County Sheriff William Lucas' own figures, troopers could provide better patrols at less cost per officer than the sheriff's deputies.

Label State Meat, Lobby Group Asks

By LARRY McDERMOTT

Associated Press Writer

LANSING (AP) — A citizens group wants Michigan meat labeled so consumers who are concerned about PBB contamination can choose between it and meat produced outside the state.

"While the scientific debate rages and we remain in the dark, each of us is still forced to make decisions in the supermarket every day that may have profound effects on our own health and that of our children," Doug Ross, co-director of the Michigan Citizens Lobby, told a news conference Tuesday.

Ross called on the state Agriculture Commission to hold an emergency meeting this week and adopt the label "Produced From Michigan Beef."

"It would just ruin the industry," said David Diehl, chairman of the commission. "Michigan fat beef, poultry and dairy products are safe today. It's too bad people think it's dangerous."

"I don't think there is a need for a commission meeting. I'd rather let the legislature do it," Diehl said, adding that he would contact commission members and find out whether they want to meet.

If the commission takes no action, Rep. Lynn Jondahl, D-East Lansing, has agreed to sponsor a bill that would require the labeling of Michigan meat, Ross said. He added that producers who did not label their meat should be subject to a misdemeanor charge.

The labeling would not apply to Michigan meat which is shipped to other states and turned into hotdogs or sandwich meat, then shipped back to Michigan.

Ross said his group realized that the labeling would have a devastating effect on the state's agriculture industry, but he said it also would "be the quickest way to rehabilitate the industry."

Michigan Citizens Lobby, a non-profit citizens group comprised of about 30,000 members, said it recently surveyed each of the five major supermarket chains in the Detroit area. Each claimed they sold no Michigan-raised beef, Ross said.

"According to beef industry sources, approximately 30 per cent of the beef consumed in Michigan is produced in Michigan. But where is that beef?" Ross asked.

Diehl said nearly 80 per cent of the meat sold in Michigan today is produced in other states. "People have read and heard so much about all these people sick from PBB that they'd be scared to death to buy our meat if it carried this label," he said.

B. Dale Ball, director of the state Department of Agriculture, said he does not believe consumers are as worried about the meat products they buy as Ross implied. As for dairy products, Ball said no PBB has been found in Michigan milk in more than a year.

Ross said the lobby wasn't suggesting that people stop buying Michigan-produced meat, but admitted that's what will happen. While the legislature works on bills to lower the level of PBB that meat could contain and scientists debate the issue, consumers have the right to know where the meat is produced, he said.

"It's going to mean people will not buy Michigan meat and dairy products, and this will put pressure on the agriculture industry in this state to get its house in order," Ross said.

BCA Food Aid Boosted By Grant

Berrien County Action, Inc., the local anti-poverty agency, has received a $20,000 federal grant to provide food for low income people in Berrien county, according to Silas Legg, BCA program coordinator.

Previously, BCA had provided food for the poor from donations and through a payroll deduction plan of BCA employees, Legg said. The $20,000 grant is from the Community Services Administration of the U.S. Department of Commerce which also supplies administrative funds to BCA.

Legg said BCA will use the $20,000 grant to purchase food supplies and pay salaries of a program coordinator and nutritional aide.

Low income county residents who qualify for the program can receive food staples, such as canned goods, and vouchers to purchase perishable items, according to Legg. The vouchers and staple goods will be available at BCA headquarters at the Louise Beebe Memorial center, 617 Pipestone street, Benton Harbor.

In order to qualify for the program, Legg said county residents must have applied for financial help from other social service agencies and been denied and also must meet federal income guidelines. The guidelines for a family of five, according to Legg, is $4,600 income and under for a non-farm family and $3,920 and under for a farm family.

Legg said BCA will provide food on a priority basis to elderly persons, pregnant women and women with young children and people who are geographically isolated from other food programs.

Bloomington Writes End To Lakers' Long Season

BY PAUL MORGAN
Staff Sports Writer

BANGOR — A long, long basketball campaign finally ended for Lake Michigan Catholic here Tuesday night. Bloomington sophomore Joe King pumped in 23 points, grabbed 16 rebounds and blocked six shots as the Cardinals topped the Lakers 56-51 in Class C district action.

Tonight, Watervliet (18-3), which beat Bangor 42-37 Monday night, will face Decatur (13-5) at 7:30 p.m. Bloomington's next game will be Thursday night against Hartford. Catholic winds up the season with a 2-19 record, the worst in the school's seven-year history. The Cardinals now stand at 11-8. The Lakers held a 31-25 half-time lead, but the play of King and Gene Allen sparked the Cardinals on in the second half. King had 5 of his points and Allen notched nine of his 17 points in the last 16 minutes. Both eagles were also deadly from the floor as King hit 10 of 13 field goals and Allen was a perfect eight-for-eight. Six of those field goals were layups for Allen. "King has hardly played any basketball," remarked Cardinals head coach Ray Lasco. "He played just three games on the junior varsity team last year."

Asked if the 6-3 King is still growing, Lasco chuckled. "I certainly hope so." "Allen is a real hustler," Lasco beamed. "You look at him and he doesn't look like a basketball player, but he makes himself one." "He's also blood and guts. You can't buy down with him out on the floor because he'll run right over you." About the only phase of the game Lasco was displeased with was the ballhandling. Philip Greene did most of the Cardinals' ballhandling for the first part of the year but has been academically ineligible for the past six games.

"We sure miss Green," Lasco stated. "We miss his ballhandling. We haven't really adjusted to play without him." Catholic took advantage of Bloomington's ballhandling problems in the first half by slapping on a full court, man-to-man press. The pressure forced the Cardinals into 18 turnovers in the initial half. But Bloomington cut the number down a bit to 13 in the second half as the Lakers made 14 mistakes and were outscored 33-20. For the game, the Cardinals had 31 turnovers and Catholic had 21.

The Cardinals were red hot from the floor, hitting 23 of 40 tries (57.5 per cent) including going four for five in the second quarter. The Lakers converted on 23 of 66 (34.8).

While King went wild on the boards, he didn't get much help as Catholic held a 43-30 rebounding edge. Clarence Rose led Catholic with 10 boards while Tony Wallace had eight.

Mike Masini, a junior, was the only Catholic eager in double figures, netting 14 points.

That ball-hawking press by the Lakers helped give them a 15-12 lead after the first quarter and it helped them extend that to 31-23 at the half. But the turnovers and fouls started to take their toll in the last half.

Bloomington eventually won the game from the free throw line as it was 10 of 18 from the charity stripes, including going seven of 14 in the second. The Lakers were five of nine for the game and zero for two in the last half.

Coach Al Nixon of Catholic stated that the full-court pressure might have taken its toll on his team. "That full court might have hurt us late," he said. "That was the big reason we went to the four-corner to give them a little rest."

"I think King won the game for them. I thought he was the only one playing aggressive ball for them."

Lasco also had praise for the Lakers. "LAC really hustled in that full-court out there," he said.

Bucks Overcome Bisons' Slowdown In 'C' District

NILES — Buchanan's defending Class C state champions thwarted New Buffalo's slowdown here Tuesday night. But it took a fourth-quarter comeback for the Bucks to do it. Led by Gerald Busby's 10 final-period points, Buchanan gunned down the Bisons 66-53 in a Class C district game here. Brandywine (14-7) battles Eau Claire (11-8) in a semifinal game at 7:30 tonight here. The Bucks, now 16-5, take on Berrien Springs (10-10) Thursday. Buchanan bombed New Buffalo 107-55 in a controversial regular season game. And Bison coach Tom Miller was not about to let it happen again.

"They stalled the whole ball-game," Buck coach Jon Bohannon said. "They used a four-man weave, the same stall they used against Bridgman (in a 43-30 setback). They were very effective with it."

It was Busby who stopped the New Buffalo upset efforts. The 6-4 Buck junior poured in a school record 52 points in the regular season game against the Bisons. This time Miller had as many as three players guarding Busby at times, but the All-State candidate still managed 28 points.

Greg Frazier added 13 and Joe Kyles 11 points for Buchanan.

John Miller tossed in 16 points, Roger Lijewski added 15 and Jim Wold had 10 for New Buffalo, which finished the year 2-18.

Buchanan held a 14-12 lead at the end of the first quarter. But the Bucks hit just five of 23 shots and turned the ball over 11 times in the second period, falling behind 31-25 at halftime. New Buffalo hit a remarkable 17 of 19 at the free throw line in the first half, including 15 of 17 in the second quarter.

The Bucks scored the first seven points of the third quarter for a 32-31 edge. But the Bisons rallied for a 47-33 margin with 5:10 left. From there Buchanan scored the next 15 points to put the game away.

Leading 51-47 with 3:10 left, Buchanan went into its own stall.

"When we got ahead, we figured that a turnaround was fair play," Bohannon said. "So we went to our four-corner."

In that final quarter, the Bucks hit on 13 of 15 free throw attempts.

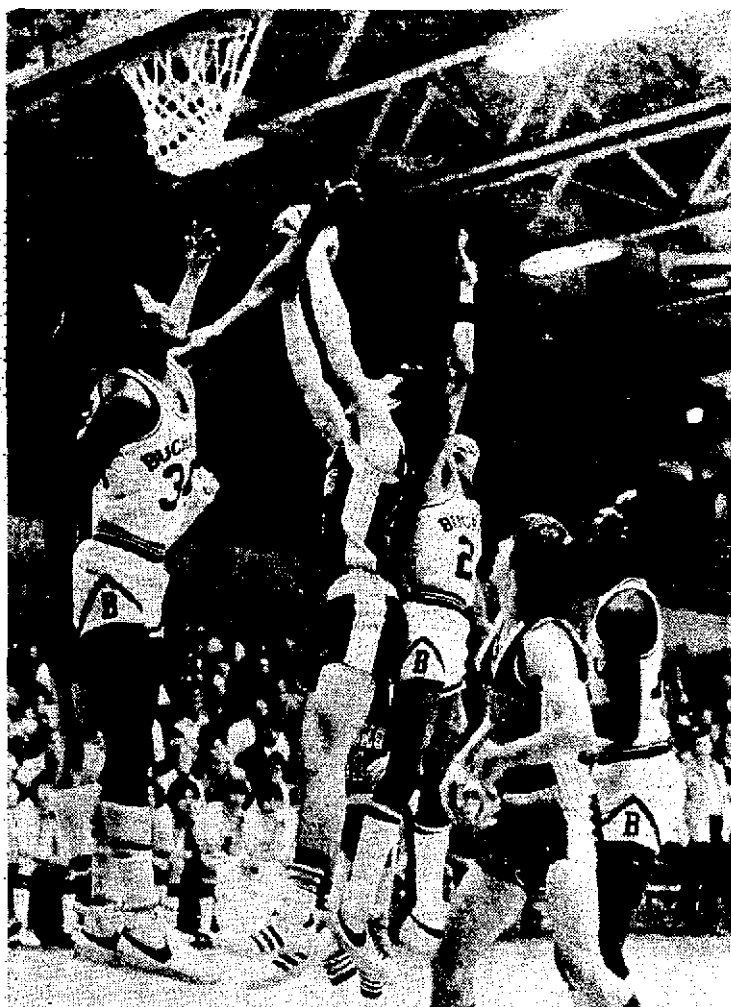

Bohannon was pleased with the way his team handled the Bison slowdown.

"The kids maintained their poise throughout the ball-game," he said. "To be 40 points down and then holding the ball and to still come back to win is quite a tribute."

Denver, Thompson Tear Past Pistons

DETROIT (AP) — David Thompson and the Denver Nuggets went on a fourth-period tear Tuesday night to whip the Detroit Pistons, 110-94, and extend their National Basketball Association Midwest division lead to five games.

It was another "battle of the brothers" between coaches Larry Brown of Denver and Herb Brown of Detroit.

The Nuggets, winning for the seventh time in the last eight outings and raising their overall record to 41-20 — tops in the NBA — trailed 80-88 with 7:55 to go in the last period. Led by Thompson, they exploded with one of the season's most devastating barrages.

Lakeshore Sets Mini-Wrestling Clinic Schedule

A mini wrestling clinic for kids ages 6-10 will be held at the Lakeshore high school gym. Weigh-in and registration will be held this Friday from 3:30 to 5 p.m. in the gym. The clinic, which is free, is open to children in the Lakeshore school district. The fundamentals of wrestling will be stressed in the camp. Sessions will run Monday through Thursdays from 4 to 5 p.m. for three weeks. Sessions for six-year-olds will be on Mondays, seven-year-olds on Tuesdays, eight-year-olds on Wednesdays and nine and ten-year-olds on Thursdays. The second annual tournament will be held on March 28.

Before Detroit could score again with 24 seconds remaining in the game, the Nuggets had rolled up 20 straight points, with Thompson contributing 13 of them to take individual game honors with 37 points.

A basket by Dan Issel had tied the game at 90-90 before Thompson erupted for three straight baskets.

Then Bobby Jones hit for a free throw. Issel a basket and Ted McClain another two-pointers before Thompson whipped in seven more consecutive points to turn the game into a runaway.

"The big thing is we still have six games on the road coming up and this is the first time we've had all of our 12 men with us and healthy," said Nuggets Coach Brown.

Detroit was plagued by injuries and foul trouble. Center Bob Lanier, who carried a 25.6 average into the game, was held to only eight points while struggling with a back ailment.

Andrews Holds Swim Signup

BERRIEN SPRINGS — Registration for Red Cross swimming lessons at the Andrews University Pool will be held March 8 at 3:30 p.m. at the pool office.

Lessons will be held on Tuesdays or Thursdays for 10 weeks, starting March 22 or March 24. The lessons, taught by Red Cross certified water safety instructors, are for all ages. Cost is $10 per person. A family discount is available.

Before the first half was over, starters Eric Money and Howard Porter were lost with other injuries.

"I expected we'd win," said Detroit's Brown, adding "We did a helluva job. They played well and we made some mistakes. Denver just plays smart basketball."

Speaking of Denver's fourth-quarter streak that saw the Nuggets outscore the Pistons, 30-16, Brown said, "We didn't run our stuff. But we still hung in there trying to play catch-up despite our injuries and a lot of guys in foul trouble. I think our guys showed a lot of class tonight."

The loss snapped a three-game winning streak for the Pistons, and was only their second setback in the last seven games in a bid to overtake Denver for the division lead.

Chris Ford tossed in 25 points to spark the Pistons in a comeback which put them ahead by three points in the third period and then again by two early in the fourth before the Nuggets' final eruption.

Issel, with 20 points, and Jones with 15 aided Thompson in the Nuggets' barrage.

Denver and Detroit are the top two teams in their division and Denver is five games in front.

Takes Milestone In Stride

Howe Nets 900th Goal

HOUSTON (AP) — Gordie Howe has learned to take the milestones of his career in stride.

When he scored his 700th goal, his father was informed of the feat and replied, "What took him so long?"

"When I scored my 800th, I tried to leap up in the air and I came down right on my backside," Gordie laughed.

So Tuesday night, when Gordie scored his 900th career goal to extend his legend, he merely skated about accepting congratulations from his Houston Aeros teammates, who went on to blast the Phoenix Roadrunners 8-3 in a World Hockey Association game.

Elsewhere, the Quebec Nordiques edged the Edmonton Oilers 5-4 and the Calgary Cowboys whipped the Winnipeg Jets 6-1.

A Houston crowd of 8,707 assembled to see Howe, hockey's all-time scoring leader, go for the historic 900th goal.

They were hardly seated before the score-foisted Howe took a pass from his son Marty at the blue line, skated up to goalie Gary Kurt and poked in a goal with only 1:31 gone in the game.

Howe, slowed by a painfully bruised left foot, played the rest of the first period, then retired to the dressing room where his foot was placed in a cast for at least one week.

"I put an extra inner sole on before the game and it felt pretty good," Gordie said. "I told Marty to get it to me early. It really starts hurting later in the game."

Howe's 900th goal gives him an even more commanding lead in the goal-scoring department over Winnipeg's injured Bobby Hull, who is second with 840.

The victory was Houston's fifth straight at home and gives them a home record of 25-1-4 at home, the best in major league hockey.

Two goals apiece by Ron Chipperfield and Lynn Powis helped Calgary boost its lead to three points over Edmonton and four over Phoenix in the race for the fourth and final playoff berth in the Western Division.

Third-period goals by Marc Tardif and Francois Lacombe enabled Quebec to defeat Edmonton and strengthen its lead in the Eastern Division to 10 points over idle Cincinnati.

Last-Second Niles Basket Sinks St. Joseph

By JOHN VANDEN HEED
Sports Editor

NILES — "That's a bitter pill to swallow...we played well enough to win. It really leaves one feeling washed out."

That was St. Joseph coach George Gaunder's reaction to a shot at the buzzer by Niles sophomore substitute Steve Schmelker which beat the Bears 53-51 in a Class A district tournament thriller here Tuesday night.

Niles, which clobbered St. Joseph 76-57 and 81-48 during the regular season, erased an eight-point second half deficit while earning the right to face Benton Harbor in the tourney semifinal here at 7:30 p.m. Thursday.

Schmelker's winning shot came from the left corner after he rebounded a missed shot by teammate Tom Donley.

Schmelker, who has scored just 35 points all season, got his chance to start Tuesday because all-conference Niles center Kevin Seitz was on crutches with an ankle sprain suffered in the regular season finale last Friday against Kalamazoo Central. He hopes to play Thursday against Benton Harbor.

Niles got its first lead of the second half at 47-45 with 4:07 left in the game. It remained that close the rest of the way, with St. Joe's Jeff Beal hitting one of two free throws with nine seconds showing to deadlock the game at 51-51. The bucket that beat the Bears followed.

Schmelker's shot overshadowed a valiant effort by St. Joseph, including a game-high 27 points by Dale Wright in his last game for the Bears.

"I was real proud of the way they played," added Gaunder while praising his players. "Most everyone thought we were going to get blown out of the gym."

The loss of 6-5 senior Seitz, who owns a 10.9 scoring average, undoubtedly hampered Niles. But St. Joe also showed a good man-to-man defense while helping to leave the Vikings with their worst field goal shooting percentage of the year (34 per cent), including a fine effort by Keene Taylor on Niles all-league star Tim Garner, who scored 28 in each of the first two games against the Bears and carried a 22.5 average into the game. Garner got just 11 points and fouled out with 4:07 left to play.

Niles pulled out the game by making the last quarter its best of the game, especially in the rebounding department.

"I thought we did a fine job of rebounding," continued Gaunder, "but the turning point was in the fourth quarter when they got some second and third shots. That was when we lost it."

Niles coach Dean Adams also thought that the Vikings' pressure defense helped. "We decided we had to increase the pressure and intensity," explained the veteran mentor.

St. Joe led 10-8 after the first quarter and the game was all tied up at 23-23 at halftime.

St. Joe then went up by eight in the third quarter, with Wright leading the way despite a box and one defense used by Niles against him. The Vikings then called time out and switched to a straight man-to-man defense and started getting back in the game. They trailed 39-35 entering the last period.

Niles got its fifth straight victory with George Seals scoring 13 overall, Donley 12 and Jason Arnold 10, in addition to Garner's 11.

The Vikings, co-champions of the Big Seven Conference will carry an overall 16-4 record against Benton Harbor, a co-champion in the LMAC.

Paul Knuth added 12 points to the St. Joseph cause as the Bears ended their season at 7-14, the school's worst record in eight years.

Niles made 23 of 68 field goal attempts for its 34 per cent mark, while St. Joe swished 18 of 41 (44 per cent). The Vikings made seven of 12 free throws (58 per cent) and the Bears 15 of 24 (63 per cent).

Rebounding was even at 37 each, with Arnold having 13 for Niles and Beal 10 for St. Joe. The Vikings had just eight turnovers, compared to the Bears' 16.

Wright's 27 points gave him 469 for the season and a final 22.3 average. His point total is seven short of the mark of all-stater Tom Scheffler, now a senior starter at Purdue. Gaunder calls Wright the most consistent player he's had in his nine years at St. Joe.

Thursday's Benton Harbor-Niles game will be the first between the schools since the Tigers trimmed the Vikings 70-66 in the 1975 district.

Defending district champion Niles will have the better record Thursday — Benton Harbor is 10-10 — but Adams expects a tough game.

"I'll tell you one thing. We had better rebound better than we rebounded tonight and shoot better than we shot. If we don't have Seitz back we are in trouble."

"But our kids seem to get fired up for Harbor, though."

U-D Falls To Loyola

By BOB GREENE
AP Sports Writer

Although Detroit stubbed its toe on the final hurdle, Coach Dick Vitale still is hoping for a telephone call from the National Collegiate Athletic Association and a post-season basketball bid.

"I pray the selection committee will judge us on 27 games, not on one night," Vitale said Tuesday after his 19th-ranked Titans were upset by Loyola of Chicago 79-71.

The loss was only Detroit's third against 24 victories. And Vitale has an easy explanation for the defeat.

"They shot it and we didn't," he said.

Detroit, which had been shooting at a 51 per cent clip during the season while averaging 91.7 points per game, hit only 32 per cent of its field goal attempts against Loyola.

"We executed well but we didn't shoot well, and all year that's been our best thing," Vitale said.

Houston Lloyd paced Loyola with 23 points, while Andre Wakefield scored 20. High for Detroit was Terry Tyler with 25 points — 19 in the first half.

"I feel confident that they (the NCAA selection committee) will evaluate us in a fair way," Vitale said about his team's chances for a post-season bid.

In the only other game involving an Associated Press Top 20 team, fifth-ranked Nevada-Las Vegas, playing at home, crushed Hawaii 124-84. Eddie Owens had 25 points as six players for the victorious Rebels scored in double figures. Hawaii has not won a road game in two years.

Anthony Roberts, the nation's second leading scorer from Oral Roberts, tallied 50 points in a losing effort. Senior guard Carlton Byrd scored 30 points in his final home game, leading Florida State past Oral Roberts 91-87. Harry Davis and David Thompson had 24 and 21 points, respectively, for the victorious Seminoles.

Appalachian State, behind Mel Hubbard and Tony Seary, upset Furman 70-64, while Virginia Military stopped East Carolina 88-77 in the semifinals of the So.thern Conference tournament.

Searcy scored 18 points, while Hubbard, who finished with 13, converted a three-point play with 2:47 left, breaking a tie and giving Appalachian the victory. Ron Carter finished with 22 points and Will Bynum 19 for VMI.

Rich Laurel's 35 points led Hofstra over Lehigh 81-72 and Donn Wilber scored 27 points as La Salle stopped Delaware 84-77 in East Coast Conference playoff games, and Tony Hanson's 37 points lifted Connecticut past Fairfield 87-73 and into the ECAC New England playoffs.

Titans' Coach Wants To Open Against 'M'

CHICAGO (AP) — University of Detroit Coach Dick Vitale has a great idea for next year's basketball season opener. He'd like to pit his Titans against the University of Michigan — and play the game in the massive Pontiac Silverdome.

"We could draw 40,000 people," the colorful Detroit coach enthused before his team's Tuesday night season finale against Chicago-Loyola. Vitale, of course, couldn't have foreseen that Loyola would topple the Titans, 79-71. "Can you imagine the interest that would stir up on the state?" he asked.

A little thing like scheduling doesn't seem like much of an obstacle to Vitale. "We can have the two teams we were supposed to play meet each other in the opener, then we can play the second game. I don't know if they'll go for it, but I'm going to suggest it to (Michigan athletic director Don) Canham."

Even better, Vitale would like to meet the Wolverines in this year's NCAA tournament. "I'd love to play them," he said, noting carefully that invitations to the tournament are not to be extended until this Sunday afternoon. "When a team has won 24 out of 26 games like we have, it should be automatic that it goes to the NCAA. I mean what more can we do?" Of course, a few hours later it was 24 out of 27.

DEFENDING DISTRICT CHAMPS OUSTED

DeBoe Leads Covert Victory

By JACK WALKDEN
Staff Sports Writer

COVERT — James DeBoe is not a flashy ballplayer. In fact, one rarely notices that the 6-2 Covert sophomore center is even on the floor.

But it was the play of DeBoe which sparked Covert to a 73-62 Class D basketball victory over defending district champion Galien here Tuesday night.

Michigan Lutheran (12-7) faces third-ranked Bridgman (19-1) at 7:30 here tonight.

DeBoe tossed in 16 points, pulled down 15 rebounds and blocked four shots to spark the Bulldogs.

"James is not one of the players you usually notice during the game," Covert coach Rod DeYoung said. "But at the end you look at the book and he has about 16 points and 10 to 15 rebounds. He's not generally spectacular."

DeBoe missed six games during the middle of the season after being declared scholastically ineligible and may be just now rounding into shape. DeBoe tallied 17 points last Friday against Saugatuck.

"James is coming along real good," DeYoung said. "During the last two games he's played the way he's capable. Because of those games he missed, this is like the middle of the season for him. "He's very deceptive. He has long arms and is very thin. The opposition doesn't expect him to do some of the things he does."

The fifth-ranked Bulldogs, now 18-3, were led in scoring by sophomore guard Jerry Starks, who came off the bench to toss in 20 points. Guards Mike DeYoung and Steve Hawkins each tallied 10.

Galien got a solid performance out of 6-5 center Mike Kuntz, who tallied 16 points and pulled down 17 rebounds.

"Mike is obviously out board key," Galien coach Mike Heckathorn said. "When he isn't in there we're in trouble."

Brad Marshall added 13 points for Galien, which wound up 5-16 for the season. The 16 losses is the most in Galien history.

Covert, which faces Lawrence Thursday, struggled early and held just a 33-32 lead with 7:41 left in the third quarter. During the next nine minutes, however, the Bulldogs outscored Galien 30-10 to put the game away.

"Basically the difference in our team is movement," DeYoung said. "When we don't move, we don't do anything. We don't rebound and we don't get any offense or defense."

"We're just not big enough to stand there and get a rebound. We've got to move. DeBoe, in many ways, was indicative of the whole game. We looked good at times and at other times we didn't."

"I think it's a mental thing with the ballplayers. Sometimes they think they only have to go through the motions. We've got to think about what we're supposed to be doing."

Both coaches agreed that it was the early moments of the third quarter which decided the game.

"The first three minutes of the second half did us in," Heckathorn said. "We came down, had several good shots and couldn't buy a bucket. Then they had a flurry of blocked shots."

"In the first half we were under self-control and very disciplined. We took good shots and I was really pleased with our play. But in the second half we just lost our composure. The missing inside and then the blocked shots got us down."

DeYoung was especially pleased with the Bulldog defense, which blocked eight Galien shots.

"Defensively, I guess I would have to say we did a pretty good job," he said. "We tried to put pressure on them defensively and make them rush their shots."

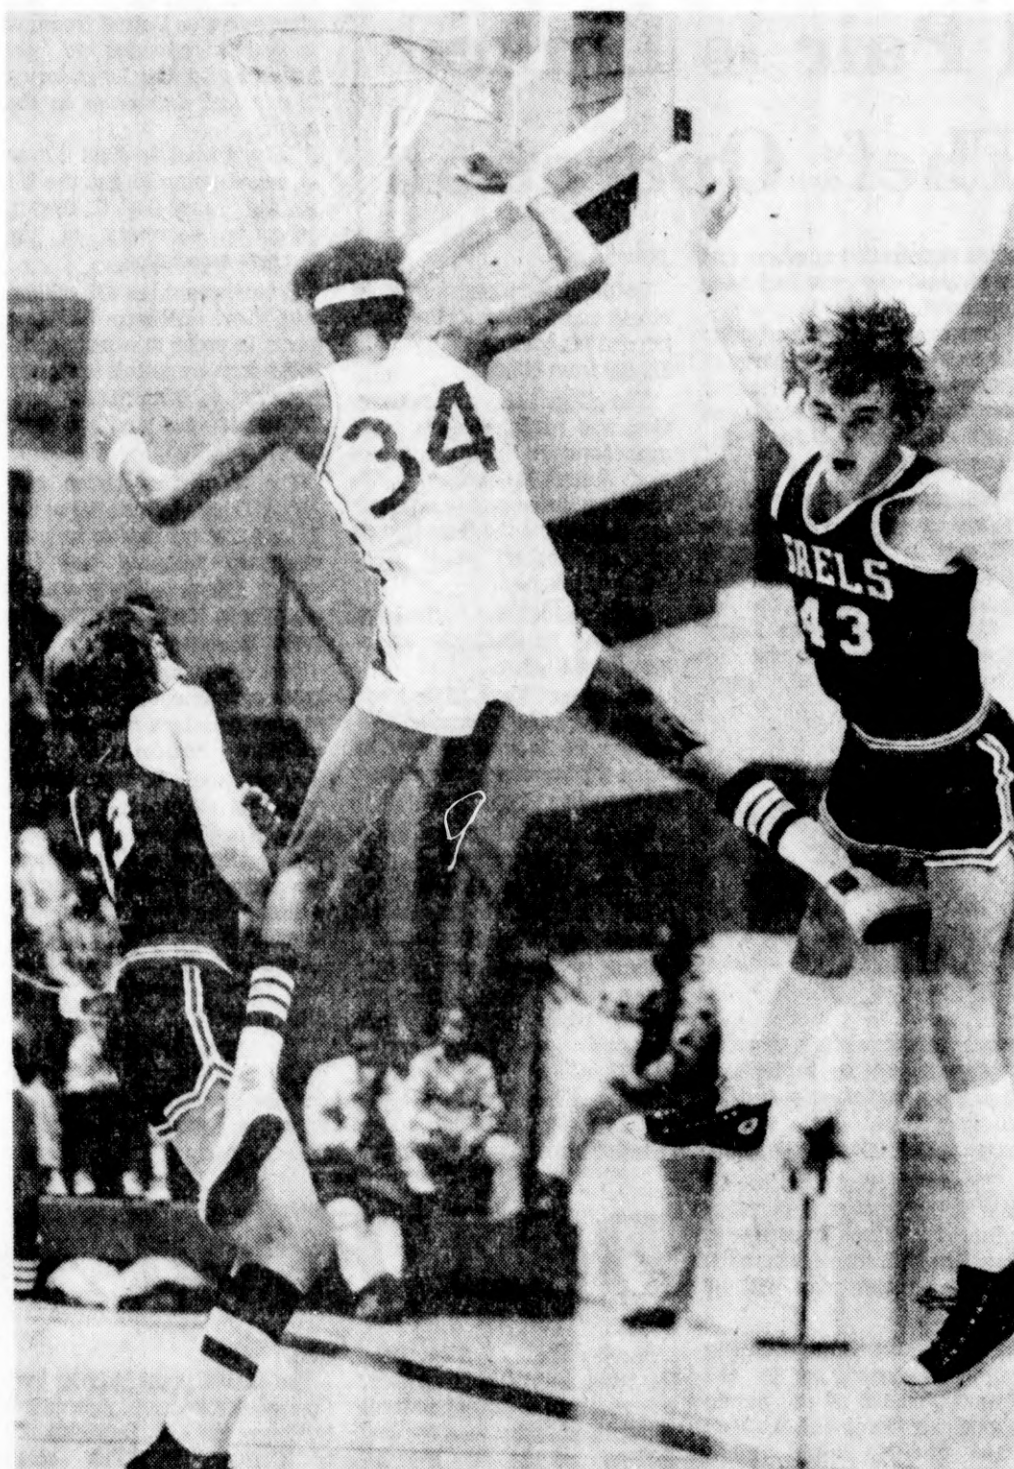

"They missed a lot of easy ones and we also blocked a couple. And when you block a couple of shots, the opposition will tend to try and get off the shot a little faster after that."

The Covert defense limited Galien to a poor 37 per cent shooting effort on 23 of 63 from the floor. The Bulldogs found the range on 35 of 86 for 41 per cent.

Covert held a commanding 57-46 board edge with George Starks and Robert Maggard adding nine caroms to DeBoe's total. John Gunn chipped in seven rebounds for Galien.

The Bulldogs turned the ball over 23 times. Galien had 28 miscues.

SOARING HIGH: Covert's James DeBoe (34) leaps high for a rebound, while Galien's Brad Marshall (13) and John Gunn (43) try to stay out of his way during Class D district action Tuesday night at Covert. Miller's 27 Points Rip Comets

By JERRY DYKSTRA
Staff Sports Writer

THREE OAKS — Howard Miller has been best known for his defensive efforts this season for Paw Paw.

But Tuesday night the 5-10 senior guard unveiled his offensive talents with a career-high 27 points to spark the Redskins to a 78-63 win over Coloma in Class B district action at the River Valley gym before about 500 fans.

The triumph advances Paw Paw to the semifinals Thursday at 7:30 p.m. against Lakeshore. Tonight's district contest sends South Haven against Dowagiac.

Miller, who ended the regular season with a 11.7 scoring average, drew special praise from Redskin coach Dave Anderson.

"He was just super tonight. That's the best game he's ever had on offense. He always plays good defense and turns in a good floor game."

Miller was the "chief" when the Redskins went on the war-path in the third quarter. He tossed in 11 of his points in the decisive period when Paw Paw outscored the Comets 24-8. Miller, who was 11 of 13 from the foul lines, helped Paw Paw go on a 18-point streak in the third period as he tossed in seven in the scorching string.

"At the half I told the kids that we wanted to start the second half strong," declared Anderson. "If we didn't the game would be a struggle until the end. Well, we did just that for the first five to six minutes. After that it was just a game of catch up."

The Comets only trailed 36-28 early in the third quarter, but then the Redskins went wild while Coloma couldn't score a point for almost five minutes.

Coloma, behind by as many as 26 points, did make a gallant comeback, reeling off the first 13 points of the last quarter and eventually cutting the gap to 10 points with 2:10 to go. But Paw Paw retaliated with seven points in a row to nip the belated rally in the bud.

"There wasn't much we could do during that stretch in the third quarter...they were hitting and we weren't getting any shots," moaned Coloma coach Sam Wright. "We just didn't play well tonight...very inconsistent."

"Our ball handling was very sloppy. We didn't have any zip on our passes."

"But I was pleased with that last quarter. The kids came back and never said die. But it was that third quarter that killed us."

The shipshod game, which produced 48 personal fouls, 56 charity attempts and 55 turnovers, saw Coloma finish with 34 floor mistakes (21 the first half), including numerous walking violations and faulty passes. Paw Paw had 21 turnovers. Paw Paw, now 13-8 overall, was also aided by total board domination, 40-17 according to Redskin charts. Jerry Mitchell and George Crouse both ended with nine rebounds as the Redskins got many tips on the offensive boards.

Jon Ghastin and Willie Gipson both added 14 points for Paw Paw while Mitchell scored nine in a solid reserve role.

Joe Jones was an individual standout for the Comets, who bowed out at 3-17. The senior standout ended his career with 24 points, 13 in the last quarter.

The teams had similar shooting figures but Paw Paw took 31 more shots from the floor. The Redskins flipped in 29 of 84 shots afield for 35 per cent and Coloma 20 of 53 for 38 per cent. Both finished with 77 per cent free throw gunning with the Redskins 20 of 26 and the Comets 23 of 30. Paw Paw meshed 14 of 15 from the foul stripes in the second half.

The Coloma loss, its ninth straight, continued a frustrating tournament streak. The Comets have dropped 10 consecutive tourney games and haven't won a district tilt since 1968.

Paw Paw, meanwhile, will try to keep alive against the Lancers on Thursday night.

"I think it's a tossup," observed Anderson. "Lakeshore is a big, strong club. We're different kinds of teams...Lakeshore is more physical and we're more of a finesse team. We're certainly going to have to go to the boards...that's going to be the big thing."

Lepley Leads Lawton's Victory Over St. Philip

LAWTON — John Lepley came off the bench to score 27 points and pull down 22 rebounds as Lawton topped Battle Creek St. Philip 75-55 here Tuesday night in a Class D district basketball game.

The Blue Devils will now play Climax-Scotts on Thursday night at 8:30 p.m. In the first game of the night, Martin (0-19) will face Gobles (7-12) at 7:00.

Lepley, who usually starts, was benched because he was out of school the day before the game.

But the senior came in with about four minutes gone in the game and went to town.

"He played just super," beamed Blue Devil coach Bill Shaw. "He was getting his points from both the outside and inside. They would come up and cover him tight, and he would move inside. He also got a few buckets on tips, his is probably the best game he has played for us."

Craig Rupp added 18 points for Lawton, now 5-15, and Jack Bastian had 12.

Ed Greenman and Steve Martin were the only Tigers to hit double digits, netting 10 apiece.

The Blue Devils canned 31 of 75 field goal attempts (41.3 per cent) while St. Philip canned 21 of 60 tries (35.0).

Lawton also held a 43-35 rebounding edge and made 13 turnovers to 22 for the Tigers.

The hosts held leads of 18-12, 37-22 and 50-24 at the quarter stops.

"We ran the offense real well and controlled the tempo of the game," Shaw said. "We made them play our type of game and that was the key."

St. Philip ends the season at 3-18.

White Pigeon To Face Cass

WHITE PIGEON — Steve Niblock tossed in 20 points and Jason Copenhaver added 14 as White Pigeon got by Mattawan 61-47 in a Class C district basketball tournament game here Tuesday night.

White Pigeon, now 18-2, faces Cassopolis at 7:30 Thursday night here. Mattawan bows out of the tournament with a 6-14 record.

Oglivie Wondering Where He'll Play

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Ben Oglivie of the Detroit Tigers has been told he should be playing regularly this season, but the outfielder does not know where.

Tiger manager Ralph Houk said Tuesday Oglivie "has got to play regularly."

The problem is that there is a lot of competition. The Tigers like the idea of having rookie Steve Kemp in the lineup. Kemp, a powerful hitter, plays leftfield.

Rusty Staub, one of the most consistent hitters in the league, plays right field and Oglivie is not likely to push him out of a job.

Oglivie heard the talk about playing regularly last season too. Houk was quoted as saying he had earned the right to a regular position, but Oglivie arrived at spring training and found Staub in rightfield and Alex Johnson anchored in left.

The 28-year-old Oglivie said he respects "the way Ralph used his players last year. But deep down, I wanted to play. I couldn't lie to myself. I know I can play. So I was a little disturbed."

Oglivie said he wants to have a talk with Houk and find out exactly where he stands — in leftfield, or right.

Tuesday was the Tigers' first full-squad spring training camp baseball workout. The only player who failed to show up was Tito Fuentes, Detroit's newly acquired second baseman.

Fuentes, former San Diego and San Francisco veteran who was a free agent, was signed last week to a one-year, $90,000 contract.

A Tigers' spokesman said Fuentes was given an extra day to report in order to take care of some personal business in San Francisco. He is expected to report Wednesday.

Mark "The Bird" Fidrych, the American League's Rookie of the Year last season after he won 19 games, had the honor of throwing the first pitch in batting practice.

Gal Netters 'Going To Dogs'

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent

NEW YORK (AP) — Martina Navratilova came in town to talk about tennis and wound up talking about dogs and football — mostly dogs. "You should see my puppy," the 20-year-old Czechoslovakian defector said over luncheon at Madison Square Garden. "She was picked up while wandering along a highway outside Dallas. Part poodle, part cocker spaniel, I think — mostly mutt. I've named her 'Racquet.'"

Martina, the season's leading money winner and chief threat to Chris Evert for No. 1 world ranking, has joined the "doggy set" on the ladies' tour. It's the "in" thing. "A lot of the girls have dogs now," Martina said. "They carry them around to the tournaments. They are wonderful companions. Sure, there are problems. Some arenas insist dogs are not allowed. We simply say, 'Okay. If our dogs can't come in, we can't come in ourselves.' Threatened with a pullout of players, the sponsors give in."

When the world's best women players show up at the Garden March 24 for the $130,000 Virginia Slims Championship — climax of the 12-event season — the famed sports palace will have to haul out the kennels from the recent Westminster Dog Show to take care of the added guests. "Frankie Durr started it," explained Jeanie Brinkman, promotional director of the ladies' tour, referring to the well-known French madamelle. "She picked up this airedale in 1972. 'Topspin' — that's the dog's name — became a regular fixture around the circuit, spoiled by all the other players."

"Yeah," said Martina, who has adopted every syllable of American slang. "She trained 'Topspin' to carry her rackets. 'Topspin' marches onto the court alongside Frankie with two rackets clutched in its teeth. One night when we were playing Frankie in doubles, Chris and I walked out with our rackets in our teeth."

Billie Jean King has an old English sheep dog. Rosemary Casals is always accompanied by a Belgian sheep dog. Kathy Kykendall travels with a chow she calls "Eskin." Jeannie Evert, Chris' sister, has a mammoth Huskie named "Phoemx." Wendy Overton tours the circuit with a mongrel called "Boogie."

The totally Americanized Miss Navratilova has become the main threat to Chris Evert's tennis throne. She has won four of the seven tournaments played so far, beating Chris at Washington, D.C., for a season's purse total of $110,100. Chris has won four of five events, beating Martina in their last two clashes, for $91,100.

Martina, who defected from her native country in the summer of 1975, has lost 25 pounds, dropping to a svelte 143, and has bought a house in Dallas where she has spent three days so far this year. "I resent stories about how much I spend," she said. "I have a Mercedes automobile. I shop at Gucci's and I like nice things. I even bought a sweater for my dog at Gucci's."

"But my life is very normal. I have become a real football fan — a Dallas Cowboys fan. I like Roger Staubach but not Coach Tom Landry — he is too much like a computer."

DOGGONE GOOD: Dog-loving Czechoslovakian tennis star Martina Navratilova is threatening to unseat Chris Evert for the No. 1 world ranking. (AP Wirephoto)

Tommy Williams scored twice, lifting Los Angeles past Washington, ending the Capitals' seven-game home unbeaten string.

Bob Kelly scored two goals and Bobby Clarke had three assists, powering Philadelphia past Minnesota. Clarke's output gave him 70 points for the season.

Cass Tech Is Only Prep Upset Victim

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

What's happening, anyway? Here it is two days into the Michigan High School Athletic Association basketball tournament and almost all the rated teams are still winning. That's not supposed to happen.

Usually a bundle of rated teams get knocked off early. But so far only two have been eliminated in district play: Lansing Eastern and Detroit Cass. Seventh-ranked Eastern lost Monday's showdown with No. 1 Lansing Everett. Then Tuesday, sixth-ranked Cass — which last week handed Class B Dearborn Divine Child its only loss — was edged by Detroit King, 52-50.

The 10 other ranked teams that played all won, as did defending state Class C champion Buchanan — which beat New Buffalo, 66-53.

District play resumes tonight, with 11 ranked teams yet to play their first game.

Pontiac Northern, fourth-ranked in Class A, drowned Waterford, 55-56. Birmingham Brother Rice, tied with Eastern for seventh, downed Detroit Mackenzie, 83-74. Mackenzie was the top honorable mention in the final Associated Press poll.

The only other ranked "A" team to play, No. 10 Saginaw, crushed Bridgeport, 56-44.

Four of the Class B rateds won, topped by No. 5 Saginaw Buena Vista's 80-67 blitzing of Frankemuth, which wound up with a 15-6 record. Eighth-rated New Boston Huron eliminated Monroe Catholic, 59-48. Ninth-place Burton Bentley edged Flint Hamady, 61-54. And No. 10 Cadillac ran over Ludington, 63-47.

Grand Rapids Kenowa Hills, the second Class B honorable mention, had the night's most convincing victory, annihilating Wyoming Godwin Heights, 98-48.

Only one ranked Class C team saw action. Eighth-rated Kalamazoo Hackett blew past Galesburg-Augusta, 59-29.

In a game matching "C" honorable mentions, Pontiac Catholic nipped Orchard Lake St. Mary, 61-57.

Two ranked "D" teams played, with No. 2 Harbor Springs sprinting past Cheboygan Catholic, 80-46, and No. 5 Covert ousting Galien, 73-62.

Unranked White Pine upended Bergland, an honorable mention, 53-49.

Bloomingtondale Writes End To Lakers' Long Season

BY PAUL MORGAN
Staff Sports Writer

BANGOR — A long, long basketball campaign finally ended for Lake Michigan Catholic here Tuesday night.

Bloomingtondale sophomore Joe King pumped in 23 points, grabbed 16 rebounds and blocked six shots as the Cardinals topped the Lakers 56-51 in Class C district action.

Tonight, Watervliet (18-3), which beat Bangor 42-37 Monday night, will face Decatur (13-5) at 7:30 p.m. Bloomingtondale's next game will be Thursday night against Hartford.

Catholic winds up the season with a 2-19 record, the worst in the school's seven-year history. The Cards now stand at 11-8.

The Lakers held a 31-23 half-time lead, but the play of King and Gene Allen sparked the Cards on in the second half. King had 5 of his points and Allen notched nine of his 17 points in the last 16 minutes.

Both cagers were also deadly from the floor as King hit 10 of 13 field goals and Allen was a perfect eight-for-eight. Six of those field goals were layups for Allen.

"King has hardly played any basketball," remarked Cards' head coach Ray Lasco. "He played just three games on the junior varsity team last year."

Asked if the 6-3 King is still growing, Lasco chuckled "I certainly hope so."

"Allen is a real hustler," Lasco beamed. "You look at him and he doesn't look like a basketball player, but he makes himself one."

"He's also blood and guts. You can't lay down with him out on the floor because he'll run right over you."

About the only phase of the game Lasco was displeased with was the ballhandling. Phillip Greene did most of the Cards' ballhandling for the first part of the year but has been academically ineligible for the past six games.

"We sure miss Green," Lasco stated. "We miss his ballhandling. We haven't really adjusted to play without him."

Catholic took advantage of Bloomingtondale's ballhandling problems in the first half by slapping on a full court, man-to-man press. The pressure forced the Cards into 18 turnovers in the initial half.

But Bloomingtondale cut the number down a bit to 13 in the second half as the Lakers made 14 miscues and were outscored 33-20. For the game, the Cards had 31 turnovers and Catholic had 21.

The Cards were red hot from the floor, hitting 23 of 40 tries (57.5 per cent) including going four for five in the second quarter. The Lakers converted on 23 of 66 (34.8).

While King went wild on the boards, he didn't get much help as Catholic held a 43-30 rebounding edge. Clancy Rose led Catholic with 10 boards while Tony Wallace had eight.

Mike Masini, a junior, was the only Catholic cager in double figures, netting 14 points.

That ball-hawking press by the Lakers helped give them a 15-12 lead after the first quarter and it helped them extend that to 31-23 at the half. But the turnovers and fouls started to take their toll in the last half.

Bloomingtondale eventually won the game from the free throw line as it was 10 of 18 from the charity stripes, including going seven of 14 in the second. The Lakers were five of nine for the game and zero for two in the last half.

Coach Al Nixon of Catholic stated that the full-court pressure might have taken its toll on his team. "That full court might have hurt us late," he said. "That was the big reason we went to the four-corner to give them a little rest."

"I think King won the game for them. I thought he was the only one playing aggressive ball for them."

Lasco also had praise for the Lakers. "LMC really hustled in that full-court out there," he said.

Bucks Overcome Bisons' Slowdown In 'C' District

NILES — Buchanan's defending Class C state champions thwarted New Buffalo's slowdown here Tuesday night.

But it took a fourth-quarter comeback for the Bucks to do it.

Led by Gerald Busby's 10

"They stalled the whole ballgame," Buck coach Jon Bohannon said. "They used a four-man weave, the same stall they used against Bridgman (in a 43-30 setback). They were very effective with it."

It was Busby who stopped the New Buffalo upset efforts. The 6-4 Buck junior poured in a school record 52 points in the regular season game against the Bisons. This time Miller had as many as three players guarding Busby at times, but the All-State candidate still managed 28 points.

Greg Frazier added 13 and Joe Kyles 11 points for Buchanan.

John Miller tossed in 16 points, Roger Lijewski added 15 and Jim Wold had 10 for New Buffalo, which finished the year 2-18.

Buchanan held a 14-12 lead at the end of the first quarter. But the Bucks hit just five of 23 shots and turned the ball over 11 times in the second period, falling behind 31-25 at halftime. New Buffalo hit a remarkable 17 of 19 at the free throw line in the first half, including 15 of 17 in the second quarter.

The Bucks scored the first seven points of the third quarter for a 32-31 edge. But the Bisons rallied for a 47-43 margin with 5:10 left. From there Buchanan scored the next 15 points to put the game away.

Leading 51-47 with 3:40 left, Buchanan went into its own stall.

"When we got ahead, we figured that a turnaround was fair play," Bohannon said. "So we went to our four-corner."

In that final quarter, the Bucks hit on 13 of 15 free throw attempts.

Bohannon was pleased with the way his team handled the Bison slowdown.

MILLER REBOUNDS: New Buffalo's John Miller (21) snatches this rebound away from Buchanan's Greg Frazier (34) during Tuesday's Class C district game at Brandywine. In back of the two is Buchanan's Joe Kyles (14), while New Buffalo's Howard Preston (13) and Jim Wold (partially hidden) are off to the left. Denver, Thompson Tear Past Pistons

DETROIT (AP) — David Thompson and the Denver Nuggets went on a fourth-period tear Tuesday night to whip the Detroit Pistons, 110-94, and extend their National Basketball Association Midwest division lead to five games.

It was another "battle of the brothers" between coaches Larry Brown of Denver and Herb Brown of Detroit.

The Nuggets, winning for the seventh time in the last eight outings and raising their overall record to 41-20 — tops in the NBA — trailed 90-88 with 7:55 to go in the last period. Led by Thompson, they exploded with one of the season's most devastating barrages.

Before Detroit could score again with 24 seconds remaining in the game, the Nuggets had rolled up 20 straight points, with Thompson contributing 13 of them to take individual game honors with 37 points.

A basket by Dan Issel had tied the game at 90-90 before Thompson erupted for three straight baskets.

Then Bobby Jones hit for a free throw, Issel a basket and Ted McClain another two-pointer before Thompson whipped in seven more consecutive points to turn the game into a runaway.

"The big thing is we still have six games on the road coming up and this is the first time we've had all of our 12 men with us and healthy," said Nuggets Coach Brown.

Detroit was plagued by injuries and foul trouble. Center Bob Lanier, who carried a 25.6 average into the game, was held to only eight points while struggling with a back ailment.

Before the first half was over, starters Eric Money and Howard Porter were lost with other injuries.

"I expected we'd win," said Detroit's Brown, adding "We did a helluva job. They played well and we made some mistakes. Denver just plays smart basketball."

Speaking of Denver's fourth-quarter streak that saw the Nuggets outscore the Pistons, 30-16, Brown said, "We didn't run our stuff. But we still hung in there trying to play catch-up despite our injuries and a lot of guys in foul trouble. I think our guys showed a lot of class tonight."

The loss snapped a three-game winning streak for the Pistons, and was only their second setback in the last seven games in a bid to overtake Denver for the divisional lead.

Chris Ford tossed in 25 points to spark the Pistons in a comeback which put them ahead by three points in the third period and then again by two early in the fourth before the Nuggets' final eruption.

Issel, with 20 points, and Jones with 15 aided Thompson in the Nuggets' barrage.

Takes Milestone In Stride

Howe Nets 900th Goal

HOUSTON (AP) — Gordie Howe has learned to take the milestones of his career in stride.

When he scored his 700th goal, his father was informed of the feat and replied, "What took him so long?"

"When I scored my 800th, I tried to leap up in the air and I came down right on my backside," Gordie laughed.

So Tuesday night, when Gordie scored his 900th career goal to extend his legend, he merely skated about accepting congratulations from his Houston Aeros teammates, who went on to blast the Phoenix Roadrunners 8-3 in a World Hockey Association game.

Elsewhere, the Quebec Nordiques edged the Edmonton Oilers 5-4 and the Calgary Cowboys whipped the Winnipeg Jets 6-1.

A Houston crowd of 8,707 assembled to see Howe, hockey's all-time scoring leader, go for the historic 900th goal.

They were hardly seated before the sore-footed Howe took a pass from his son Marty at the blue line, skated up to goalie Gary Kurt and poked in a goal with only 1:31 gone in the game.

Howe, slowed by a painfully bruised left foot, played the rest of the first period, then retired to the dressing room where his foot was placed in a cast for at least one week.

"I put an extra inner sole on before the game and it felt pretty good," Gordie said. "I told Marty to get it to me early. It really starts hurting later in the game."

Howe's 900th goal gives him an even more commanding lead in the goal-scoring department over Winnipeg's injured Bobby Hull, who is second with 840.

The victory was Houston's 15th straight at home and gives them a home record of 25-14 at home, the best in major league hockey.

Two goals apiece by Ron Chipperfield and Lynn Powis helped Calgary boost its lead to three points over Edmonton and four over Phoenix in the race for the fourth and final playoff berth in the Western Division.

Third-period goals by Marc Tardif and Francois Lacombe enabled Quebec to defeat Edmonton and strengthen its lead in the Eastern Division to 10 points over idle St. Cincinnati.

Wicks And Barry Fight Despite Edict

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
Larry O'Brien is not getting his message across. Or maybe it just takes a while to sink in.

The fight broke out with 3:34 to go in the fourth period of the intensely played game.

"He (Wicks) was grabbing me the previous two times down the floor and we couldn't get a call," said Barry. "When he did it again, I pushed him away with my arm and evidently my elbow caught him in the face. Then he started swinging."

A subdued Wicks did not dispute that account.

"He caught me in the face with his elbow and I went after him, that's all," he said. "It was just one of those flash things."

Both men were ejected from the game, and they may well be hearing from the commissioner's office shortly.

In more peaceful NBA games Tuesday night, the Portland Trail Blazers nipped the Philadelphia 76ers 108-107, the Denver Nuggets defeated the Detroit Pistons 110-94, the New York Nets beat the Buffalo Braves 104-95, the San Antonio Spurs outscored the New York Knicks 132-127, the Los Angeles Lakers edged the Atlanta Hawks 92-90, the Chicago Bulls topped the Indiana Pacers 102-85, and the Kansas City Kings beat the New Orleans Jazz 126-104.

Philadelphia rallied from an 18-point deficit to go ahead

Brian Taylor, Ron Boone and Bill Robinson combined for 71

points as Kansas City moved to the 500 mark and one-half game ahead of Seattle in their scramble for the final playoff berth in the Western Conference.

Rookie Scott May scored a career-high 25 points and Wilbur Holland had 22 as the Bulls posted their fourth straight victory and handed Indiana its fourth straight loss.

Larry Kenon scored 30 points and George Gervin 28 as San Antonio posted its seventh vic-

Cazzie Russell's basket with 26 seconds to play put Los Angeles in front of Atlanta 91-90, then Lucius Allen's free throw accounted for the final margin. The forwards did the damage for the Nets at Buffalo. Mel Davis scored 22 points, his high since joining the Nets a month ago. Mike Bantom had 21 points and Tina Bassett 18.

PASSES OFF: Covert's Robert Maggard prepares to pass off to an unknown teammate during Tuesday's Class D district game against Galien. Looking on are Galien's Rick Kuntz (41), Brad Marshall (13) and John Gunn (partially hidden). The Bulldogs topped the Gaels 73-62 to advance into Thursday's semifinal game against Lawrence. Happy Rozelle Watches Peace Become Official

NEW YORK (AP) — With none of the pomp and all of the circumstance of Grant and Lee putting down the quill at Appomattox, Ed Garvey and Sargent Karch officially brought peace to the world of pro football.

Karch, the executive director of the Management Council, sat next to Garvey, his counterpart with the Players Association. Alongside Karch was Wellington Mara, owner of the New York Giants and president of the Management Council. Alongside Garvey was Len Hauss, a center for the Washington Redskins and a vice president of the association.

And out in the hallway stood Pete Rozelle, the commissioner of the kingdom, beaming because he knew the players will spend the next five years bludgeoning each other in ballparks instead of battering the owners in courtrooms.

"This is their show," Rozelle said, nodding toward Karch, Garvey & Co. And perhaps the most powerful man in professional sports — save for the players' agents and union chiefs — remained on the sidelines this time.

Finally, at 3 p.m., EST, in they strided. They took their places at the head of the oblong table. Cameras began cranking. Tape recorders began whirring. Garvey and Karch took out pens to put their initials to the document which would end more than three years of labor strife and place the emphasis back on training camps instead of restraining orders, on audibles instead of hearings, on uniforms instead of suits.

As the snickers subsided, a copy of the contract, a stack of papers which will ultimately cost the 28 club owners something like $107 million, was slipped onto the table and the chiefs of the two warring nations put their marks on it.

There are a couple of formalities remaining. On Friday in a federal court in Minneapolis, Judge Earl Larson will review the voluminous document just to make sure everything is legitimate. Then, next Monday, the rank and file of the union, about 60 per cent of the league's 1,200-plus players, will vote on it. Their rejecting it is not only unlikely, it's unthinkable.

Umpires Dispute Settled

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Professional umpires will be on the bases next week when spring training opens for major league baseball.

The umpires and representatives of the American and National leagues reached a tentative agreement Tuesday on a new basic contract to resolve the labor dispute that has simmered since the old agreement expired after the 1976 season.

A spokesman said an attempt to reach the umpires by telephone would be made, with results expected within 24 hours.

The Associated Press learned the new pact was for five years and boosted the starting salary from $15,500 last year to $16,500 this year and next, to $17,500 in 1979-80 and to $18,000 in 1981.

In addition, the plears at which large raises are meted out were shortened.

For example, the minimum after three years' service will be $21,500 in 1977-78, $22,500 in 1978-79 and $23,000 in 1981.

Miller's 27 Points Rip Comets

By JERRY DYKSTRA
Staff Sports Writer

THREE OAKS — Howard Miller has been known for his defensive efforts this season for Paw Paw.

But Tuesday night the 5-10 senior guard unveiled his offensive talents with a career-high 27 points to spark the Redskins to a 78-63 win over Coloma in Class B district action at the River Valley gym before about 500 fans.

The triumph advances Paw Paw to the semifinals Thursday at 7:30 p.m. against Lakeshore. Tonight's district contest sends South Haven against Dowagiac.

Miller, who ended the regular season with a 11.7 scoring average, drew special praise from Redskins coach Dave Anderson.

"He was just super tonight. That's the best game he's ever had on offense. He always plays good defense and turns in a good floor game."

Miller was the "chief" when the Redskins went on the warpath in the third quarter. He tossed in 11 of his points in the decisive period when Paw Paw outscored the Comets 24-8. Miller, who was 11 of 13 from the foul lines, helped Paw Paw go on a 18-point streak in the third period as he tossed in seven in the scorching string.

"At the half I told the kids that we wanted to start the second half strong," declared Anderson. "If we didn't the game would be a struggle until the end. Well, we did just that for the first five to six minutes. After that it was just a game of catch up."

The Comets only trailed 36-28 early in the third quarter, but then the Redskins went wild while Coloma couldn't score a point for almost five minutes.

Coloma, behind by as many as 26 points, did make a gallant comeback, reeling off the first 13 points of the last quarter and eventually cutting the gap to 10 points with 2:10 to go. But Paw Paw retaliated with seven points in a row to nip the belated rally in the bud.

"There wasn't much we could do during that stretch in the third quarter...they were hitting and we weren't getting any shots," moaned Coloma coach Sam Wright. "We just didn't play well tonight...very inconsistent."

"Our ball handling was very sloppy. We didn't have any zip on our passes."

"But I was pleased with that last quarter. The kids came back and never said die. But it was that third quarter that killed us."

The shipshod game, which produced 48 personal fouls, 56 charity attempts and 55 turnovers, saw Coloma finish with 34 floor mistakes (21 the first half), including numerous walking violations and faulty passes. Paw Paw had 21 turnovers. Paw Paw, now 13-8 overall, was also aided by total board domination, 40-17 according to Redskin charts. Jerry Mitchell and George Crouse both ended with nine rebounds as the Redskins got many tips on the offensive boards.

Jon Ghastin and Willie Gipson both added 14 points for Paw Paw while Mitchell scored nine in a solid reserve role.

Joe Jones was an individual standout for the Comets, who bowed out at 3-17. The senior standout ended his career with 24 points, 13 in the last quarter.

The teams had similar shooting figures but Paw Paw took 31 more shots from the floor. The Redskins flipped in 29 of 84 shots afield for 35 per cent and Coloma 20 of 53 for 38 per cent. Both finished with 77 per cent free throw gunning with the 'Skins 20 of 26 and the Comets 23 of 30. Paw Paw meshed 14 of 15 from the foul stripes in the second half.

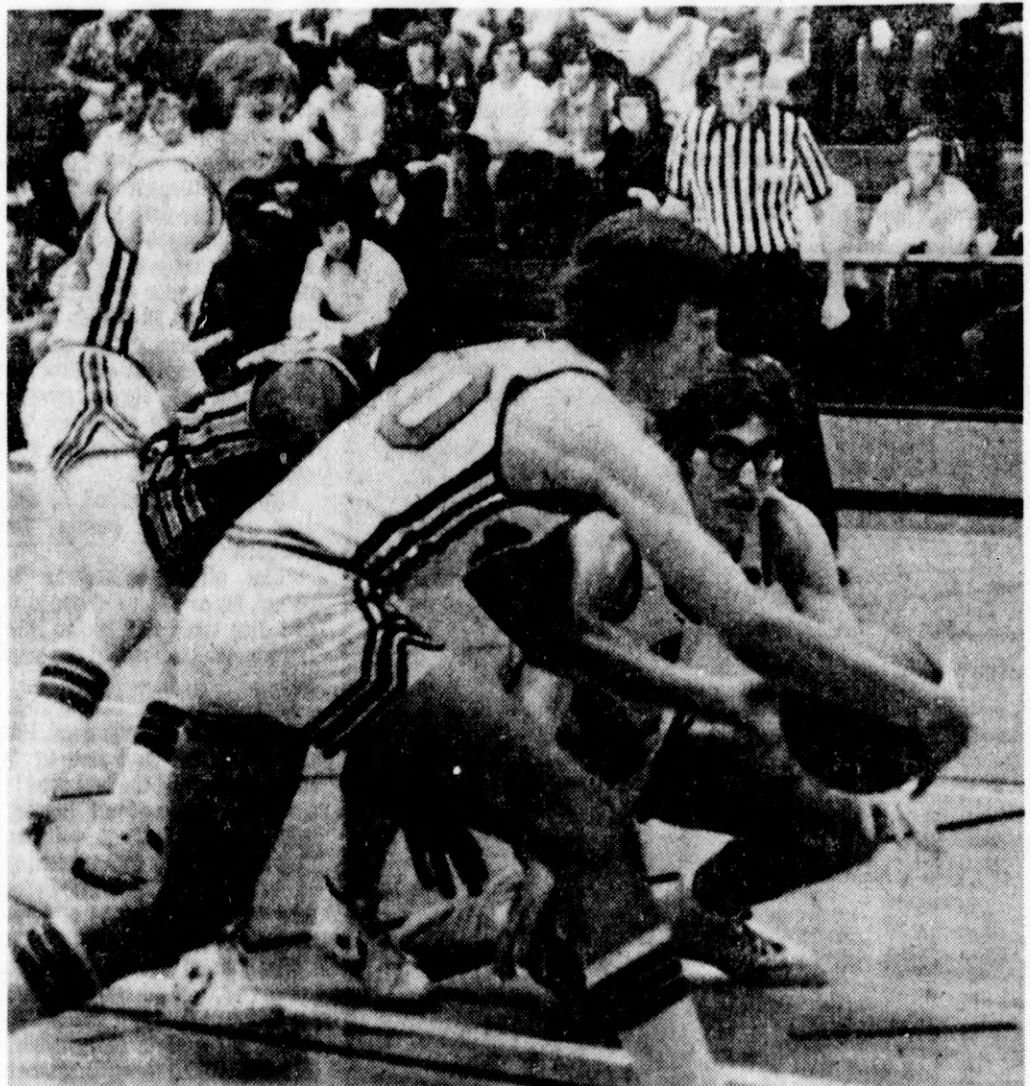

The Coloma loss, its ninth straight, continued a frustrating tournament streak. The Comets have dropped 10 consecutive tourney games and haven't won a district tilt since 1968.

Paw Paw, meanwhile, will try to keep alive against the Lancers on Thursday night.

"I think it's a tossup," observed Anderson. "Lakeshore is a big, strong club. We're different kinds of teams...Lakeshore is more physical and we're more of a finesse team. We're certainly going to have to go to the boards...that's going to be the big thing."

Lepley Leads Lawton's Victory Over St. Philip

LAWTON — John Lepley came off the bench to score 27 points and pull down 22 rebounds as Lawton topped Battle Creek St. Philip 75-55 here Tuesday night in a Class D district basketball game.

The Blue Devils will now play Climax-Scotts on Thursday night at 8:30 p.m. In the first game of the night, Martin (0-19) will face Gobles (7-12) at 7:00.

Lepley, who usually starts, was benched because he was out of school the day before the game.

But the senior came in with about four minutes gone in the game and went to town.

"He played just super," beamed Blue Devil coach Bill Shaw. "He was getting his points from both the outside and inside. They would come up and cover him tight, and he would move inside. He also got a few buckets on tips. His is probably the best game he has played for us."

Oglivie Wondering Where He'll Play

LAKELAND, Fla. (AP) — Ben Oglivie of the Detroit Tigers has been told he should be playing regularly this season, but the outfielder does not know where.

Tiger manager Ralph Houk said Tuesday Oglivie "has got to play regularly."

The problem is that there is a lot of competition. The Tigers like the idea of having rookie Steve Kemp in the lineup. Kemp, a powerful hitter, plays leftfield.

Rusty Staub, one of the most consistent hitters in the league, plays right field and Oglivie is not likely to push him out of a job.

Oglivie heard the talk about playing regularly last season too. Houk was quoted as saying he had earned the right to a regular position, but Oglivie arrived at spring training and found Staub in rightfield and Alex Johnson anchored in left.

The 28-year-old Oglivie said he respects "the way Ralph used his players last year. But deep down, I wanted to play. I couldn't lie to myself. I know I can play. So I was a little disturbed."

Oglivie said he wants to have a talk with Houk and find out exactly where he stands — in leftfield, or right.

Tuesday was the Tigers' first full-squad spring training camp baseball workout. The only player who failed to show up was Tito Fuentes, Detroit's newly acquired second baseman.

Fuentes, former San Diego and San Francisco veteran who was a free agent, was signed last week to a one-year, $90,000 contract.

A Tigers' spokesman said Fuentes was given an extra day to report in order to take care of some personal business in San Francisco. He is expected to report Wednesday.

Mark "The Bird" Fidrych, the American League's Rookie of the Year last season after he won 19 games, had the honor of throwing the first pitch in batting practice.

Craig Rupp added 18 points for Lawton, now 5-15, and Jack Bastian had 12.

Ed Greenman and Steve Martin were the only Tigers to hit double digits, netting 10 apiece.

The Blue Devils canned 31 of 75 field goal attempts (41.3 per cent) while St. Philip canned 21 of 60 tries (35.0).

Lawton also held a 43-35 rebounding edge and made 13 turnovers to 22 for the Tigers.

The hosts held leads of 18-12, 37-22 and 50-24 at the quarter stops.

St. Philip ends the season at 3-18.

Canadiens Just Good Enough

UNIONDALE, N.Y. (AP) — The Montreal Canadiens knew they were not going to fool anybody by saying their 5-4 victory over the New York Islanders was the result of 60 hard-working minutes of hockey.

Quite the opposite. Ken Dryden, the National Hockey League's leading goalie, said, "We played well for about 15 minutes overall and were kind of sloppy the rest of the time. It was the kind of night we were very glad we got a win."

Islanders defenseman Denis Potvin felt the same way. Aware that Montreal has not lost a game in its last 1

Cuba Shrouds Angola Involvement In News Blackout

By CLAUDE E. ERBSEN
Associated Press Writer
HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — Cubans are being given only the barest information about their government's continuing involvement in Angola, one of the major stumbling blocks in the way of better relations between Havana and Washington.

Dominican Holiday visit by this correspondent to Cuba, the local press never mentioned that President Carter twice included a pullback from Angola as one of the conditions for normalizing Cuban-U.S. relations.

Foreign residents of Havana say the Cuban people have never been told the number of casualties suffered by their troops in Angola, where they helped a Marxist faction defeat two Western-backed groups and set up a government.

Diplomats and Cubans say the only public reference to Cuban casualties in Angola came in a speech by Prime Minister Fidel Castro last year, when he told a rally that casualties had been "lower than at Playa Giron," the site of the unsuccessful 1961

Bay of Pigs invasion by U.S.-backed Cuban exiles. Castro's government acknowledged less than 150 casualties in that attack. But diplomats claim as many as 450 Cubans were killed in Africa, including two generals. And they say Cuban casualties are continuing in the guerrilla war which Jonas Savimbi's UNITA, the National Union for the Total Independence of Angola, is waging against the Marxist government.

Cuban officials, possibly including Castro himself, told a visiting American congressman that about 50 per cent of the Cuban troops in Angola have been pulled out. However, the congressman, Rep. Jonathan B. Bingham, D-N.Y., was not told the number.

Bingham also reported that the Cubans plan to maintain a "long-term, extensive involvement" in Angola, especially in the technical and medical areas.

American estimates of the Cubans still in Angola vary between 10,000 and 15,000. Given Cuba's population of just under 10 million, this would be proportional to an American involvement of 210,000 to 315,000 people.

Despite the massive contribution of men and supplies, the Cuban people know little of what is going on in Angola. Havana residents say their biggest exposure to it came last year when an Army documentary on the civil war was shown at theaters throughout the city. It drew large crowds.

But there have been no parades for returning soldiers, ceremonial funerals for casualties or other public events to honor the troops. "Internationalism" is the current euphemism for Cuban political activity abroad.

Wicks And Barry Fight Despite Edict

From ASSOCIATED PRESS
Larry O'Brien is not getting his message across. Or maybe it just takes a while to sink in.

Just one day after the National Basketball Association commissioner issued a ringing edict to coaches and players against outbreaks of violence on the court, Sidney Wicks of the Boston Celtics knocked down Golden State's Rick Barry with a looping right and players from both benches joined in the fracas at the Hartford, Conn. Civic Center, where the Warriors beat Boston 101-94 Tuesday night.

The fight broke out with 3:54 to go in the fourth period of the intensely played game.

"He (Wicks) was grabbing me the previous two times down the floor and we couldn't get a call," said Barry. "When he did it again, I pushed him away with my arm and evidently my elbow caught him in the face. Then he started swinging."

A subdued Wicks did not dispute that account.

"He caught me in the face with his elbow and I went after him, that's all," he said. "It was just one of those flash things."

Both men were ejected from the game, and they may well be hearing from the commissioner's office shortly.

Barry scored 22 points before his enforced exit. His final two points came on free throws after a foul was called on Wicks just prior to the fight. Barry raised his right arm with a clenched fist after the shot, and the crowd of 11,273 booed.

In more peaceful NBA games Tuesday night, the Portland Trail Blazers nipped the Philadelphia 76ers 108-107, the Denver Nuggets defeated the Detroit Pistons 110-94, the New York Nets beat the Buffalo Braves 104-95, the San Antonio Spurs outscored the New York Knicks 132-127, the Los Angeles Lakers edged the Atlanta Hawks 92-90, the Chicago Bulls topped the Indiana Pacers 102-85, and the Kansas City Kings beat the New Orleans Jazz 126-104.

Philadelphia rallied from an 18-point deficit to go ahead

Brian Taylor, Ron Boone and Bill Robinson combined for 71

points as Kansas City moved to the 500 mark and one-half game ahead of Seattle in their scramble for the final playoff berth in the Western Conference.

Rookie Scott May scored a career-high 25 points and Wilbur Holland had 22 as the Bulls posted their fourth straight victory and handed Indiana its fourth straight loss.

Larry Kenon scored 30 points and George Gervin 28 as San Antonio posted its seventh victory in the last nine games, pouring in 77 points in the second half.

Cazzie Russell's basket with 26 seconds to play put Los Angeles in front of Atlanta 91-90, then Lucius Allen's free throw accounted for the final margin.

The forwards did the damage for the Nets at Buffalo. Mel Davis scored 22 points, his high since joining the Nets a month ago. Mike Bantom had 21 points and Tim Bassett 18.

PASSES OFF: Covert's Robert Maggard prepares to pass off to an unknown teammate during Tuesday's Class D district game against Gallien. Looking on are Gallien's Rick Kuntz (41), Brad Marshall (13) and John Gunn (partially hidden). The Bulldogs topped the Gaels 73-62 to advance into Thursday's semifinal game against Lawrence. Happy Rozelle Watches Peace Become Official

NEW YORK (AP) — With none of the pomp and all of the circumstance of Grant and Lee putting down their guns and taking up the quill at Appomattox, Ed Garvey and Sargent Karch officially brought peace to the world of pro football.

Tuesday's was a simple ceremony at the offices of the National Football League's Management Council, the haven of the owners, 33 stories above Madison Avenue.

Karch, the executive director of the Management Council, sat next to Garvey, his counterpart with the Players Association. Alongside Karch was Wellington Mara, owner of the New York Giants and president of the Management Council. Alongside Garvey was Len Hauss, a center for the Washington Redskins and a vice president of the association.

And out in the hallway stood Pete Rozelle, the commissioner of the kingdom, beaming because he knew the players will spend the next five years bludgeoning each other in ballparks instead of battering the owners in courtrooms.

"This is their show," Rozelle said, nodding toward Karch, Garvey & Co. And perhaps the most powerful man in professional sports — save for the players' agents and union chiefs — remained on the sidelines this time.

Finally, at 3 p.m., EST, in they strode. They took their places at the head of the oblong table. Cameras began cranking. Tape recorders began whirring. Garvey and Karch took out pens to put their initials to the document which would end more than three years of labor strife and place the emphasis back on training camps instead of restraining orders, on audibles instead of hearings, on uniforms instead of suits.

"Shouldn't I have something to sign? Gimme a piece of paper, somebody," Garvey proclaimed.

As the snickers subsided, a copy of the contract, a stack of papers which will ultimately cost the 28 club owners something like $107 million, was slipped onto the table and the chiefs of the two warring nations put their marks on it.

There are a couple of formalities remaining. On Friday in a federal court in Minneapolis, Judge Earl Larson will review the voluminous document just to make sure everything is legitimate. Then, next Monday, the rank and file of the union, about 60 per cent of the league's 1,200-plus players, will vote on it. Their rejecting it is not only unlikely, it's unthinkable.

Umpires Dispute Settled

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Professional umpires will be on the bases next week when spring training opens for major league baseball.

The umpires and representatives of the American and National leagues reached a tentative agreement Tuesday on a new basic contract to resolve the labor dispute that has simmered since the old agreement expired after the 1976 season.

A spokesman said an attempt to reach the umpires by telephone would be made, with results expected within 24 hours.

The Associated Press learned the new pact was for five years and boosted the starting salary from $15,500 last year to $16,500 this year and next, to $17,500 in 1979-80 and to $18,000 in 1981.

In addition, the plateaus at which large raises are meted out were shortened.

For example, the minimum after three years' service will be $21,500 in 1977-78, $22,500 in 1979-80 and $23,000 in 1981.

Black Couple Moves Back Into Ghetto

By DAVID TREADWELL
AP Urban Affairs Writer
(CHICAGO) (AP) — Most blacks who can afford to are moving out of the ghetto. Charles and Inez McCord moved back in.

The retired couple, both in their early 60s, gave up their $100-a-month apartment in a predominantly white neighborhood and moved into a battered black neighborhood on the city's South Side.

For $5,500 McCord bought the house where his family first lived when it moved to Chicago in 1925.

"It takes vision, a minimum of money and guts, but you can go home again," McCord said. "I'm home and I'm happy. Part of the trouble with the black community is that too many people who could help to improve it want to leave."

The McCords sank their life savings into refurbishing the old two-story brick rowhouse on a once-fashionable boulevard

now blighted by years of change and decay.

McCord said the decision was chiefly motivated by a need to "come back to our roots. For years I'd been living in highrent, middle-class apartments in areas with mostly whites. I felt I was losing my identity as a black individual."

McCord operated a janitorial service until his retirement last year. His wife was a college library director. He has four grown daughters by a previous marriage.

The couple moved into their new home last December following a nine-month remodeling job that brought their total investment to around $50,000. The house, now almost fully restored, is a neighborhood showpiece.

"It used to be the worst-looking house on the block," McCord said. "I call it a damn good investment now. Where else could you get 12-inch walls and 10-foot ceilings for

The house sits only about a block south of a mammoth high-rise public housing project plagued by crime but the couple say they feel less threatened in the ghetto than in their old neighborhood in southwest

Chicago, near the scene of last summer's open housing marches that erupted into bitter racial fighting.

Still, they take precautions. The grillwork over the front windows, for instance, is protective as well as decorative.

The McCords were forced to pay the housing rehabilitation costs out of their own pocket after two financial institutions, including one in which they said they had $10,000 in savings,

On each occasion they asked for $8,000. Their original estimate of renovation costs.

"One banker told me he wouldn't give me $1,000 for the whole block," McCord said. "I took my savings out of the other place after they rejected my application."

Finding contractors to perform the work at a reasonable price also proved difficult.

McCord said several contractors refused to bid on the job, claiming the neighborhood was unsafe. Others quoted fees as much as 50 per cent higher than usual, saying "they would have to pay someone to ride shotgun over their equipment."

There were no less than 10 early stages of renovation, as each day a new problem and an estimated $500 worth of tools showed up, the McCords described over the success of the project.

"But we never gave up on our vision," Mrs. McCord said. "We just kept telling ourselves that we would be going home soon, back to our people."

McCord says, "This street will never be the same as it was years ago, but it could still be a beautiful place to live. I've got the kind of beauty and comfort most people want."

Fewer Poor Kids In South

WASHINGTON (AP) — The number of school children living in poverty rose in the first half of the 1970s in all regions of the country except the South, where nearly one child in five has a poverty-level existence, the government says.

Census Bureau figures released on Monday said the number of children at school age in poverty dropped between 1970 and 1975 by 7.1 per cent to 7.13 million. All of the improvement was registered in the South.

Sentence: 80-120 Years

DETROIT (AP) — Elijah Powell, 41, Detroit, has been sentenced to prison for 80-to-120 years for the decapitation-disembowelment murder of an Ypsilanti Township woman. Powell was convicted of second-degree murder in the case two weeks ago. Police said the charred remains of Christal Davis, 22, were found in October 1975 near a Ford Motor Co. plant at Ypsilanti.

Music Week Added At Van Buren Camp

BLOOMINGDALE — The Van Buren Youth camp near here will offer an extra week of camping this summer designed for music students.

The camp, July 3-9, will be called the Southwestern Michigan Choral Music Camp, sponsored by the Van Buren Youth camp and will be under the direction of Fred Sang of Kalamazoo. Sang is choral director of the Constantine public schools.

Focus of the additional week will be to offer a challenging choral musical experience to high school area musicians along with the camp's regular recreational program, according to camp director Jerry Jennings.

The regular camp season will open June 12.

Cuba Shrouds Angola Involvement In News Blackout

By CLAUDE E. ERBSEN
Associated Press Writer
HAVANA, Cuba (AP) — Cubans are being given only the barest information about their government's continuing involvement in Angola, one of the major stumbling blocks in the way of better relations between Havana and Washington.

During an 11-day visit by this correspondent to Cuba, the local press never mentioned that President Carter twice included a pullback from Angola as one of the conditions for normalizing Cuban-U.S. relations.

Foreign residents of Havana say the Cuban people have never been told the number of casualties suffered by their troops in Angola, where they helped a Marxist faction defeat two Western-backed groups and set up a government.

Diplomats and Cubans say the only public reference to Cuban casualties in Angola came in a speech by Prime Minister Fidel Castro last year, when he told a rally that casualties had been "lower than at Playa Giron," the site of the unsuccessful 1961

Bay of Pigs invasion by U.S.-backed Cuban exiles. Castro's government acknowledged less than 150 casualties in that attack. But diplomats claim as many as 450 Cubans were killed in Africa, including two generals. And they say Cuban casualties are continuing in the guerrilla war which Jonas Savimbi's UNITA, the National Union for the Total Independence of Angola, is waging against the Marxist government.

Cuban officials, possibly including Castro himself, told a visiting American congressman that about 50 per cent of the Cuban troops in Angola have been pulled out. However, the congressman, Rep. Jonathan B. Bingham, D-N.Y., was not told the number.

Bingham also reported that the Cubans plan to maintain a "long-term, extensive involvement" in Angola, especially in the technical and medical areas.

American estimates of the Cubans still in Angola vary between 10,000 and 15,000. Given Cuba's population of just under 10 million, this would be proportional to an American involvement of 210,000 to 315,000 people.

Despite the massive contribution of men and supplies, the Cuban people know little of what is going on in Angola. Havana residents say their biggest exposure to it came last year when an Army documentary on the civil war was shown at theaters throughout the city. It drew large crowds.

But there have been no parades for returning soldiers, ceremonial funerals for casualties or other public events to honor the troops.

"Internationalism" is the current euphemism for Cuban political activity aboard.

Black Couple Moves Back Into Ghetto

By DAVID TREADWELL
AP Urban Affairs Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — Most blacks who can afford to are moving out of the ghetto. Charles and Inez McCord moved back in.

The retired couple, both in their early 60s, gave up their $390-a-month apartment in a predominantly white neighborhood and moved into a battered black neighborhood on the city's South Side.

For $8,500 McCord bought the house where his family first lived when it moved to Chicago in 1925.

"It takes vision, a minimum of money and guts, but you can go home again," McCord said. "I'm home and I'm happy. Part of the trouble with the black community is that too many people who could help to improve it want to leave."

The McCords sank their life savings into refurbishing the old two-story brick rowhouse on a once-fashionable boulevard now blighted by years of change and decay.

McCord said the decision was chiefly motivated by a need to "come back to our roots. For years I'd been living in highrent, middle-class apartments in areas with mostly whites. I felt I was losing my identity as a black individual."

McCord operated a janitorial service until his retirement last year. His wife was a college library director. He has four grown daughters by a previous marriage.

The couple moved into their new home last December following a nine-month remodeling job that brought their total investment to around $50,000. The house, now almost fully restored, is a neighborhood showpiece.

"It used to be the worst-looking house on the block," McCord said. "I call it a damn good investment now. Where else could you get 12-inch walls and 9½-foot ceilings for

The house sits only about a block south of a mammoth high-rise public housing project plagued by crime, but the couple say they feel less threatened in the ghetto than in their old neighborhood in southwestern Chicago, near the scene of last summer's open housing marches that erupted into bitter racial fighting.

Still, they take precautions. The grillwork over the front windows, for instance, is protective as well as decorative.

The McCords were forced to pay the housing rehabilitation costs out of their own pocket after two financial institutions, including one in which they said they had $10,000 in savings, turned down their loan requests.

On each occasion they asked for $8,000, their original estimate of renovation costs.

"One banker told me he wouldn't give me $1,000 for the whole block," McCord said. "I took my savings out of the other place after they rejected my application."

Finding contractors to perform the work at a reasonable price also proved difficult.

McCord said several contractors refused to bid on the job, claiming the neighborhood was unsafe. Others quoted fees as much as 50 per cent higher than usual, saying "they would have to pay someone to ride shotgun over their equipment."

There were times during the early stages of renovation, especially after a carpenter had an estimated $200 worth of tools stolen, when the McCords despaired over the success of the project.

"But we never gave up our vision," Mrs. McCord said. "We just kept telling ourselves that we would be going home soon, back to our people."

McCord says, "This street will never be the same as it was years ago, but it could still be a beautiful place to live. I've got the kind of beauty and comfort most people want."

Fewer Poor Kids In South

WASHINGTON (AP) — The number of school children living in poverty rose in the first half of the 1970s in all regions of the country except the South, where nearly one child in five has a poverty-level existence, the government says.

Census Bureau figures released on Monday said the number of children of school age in poverty dropped between 1970 and 1975 by 7.4 per cent to 7.13 million. All of the improvement was registered in the South.

Music Week Added At Van Buren Camp

BLOOMINGDALE — The Van Buren Youth camp near here will offer an extra week of camping this summer designed for music students.

The camp, July 3-9, will be called the Southwestern Michigan Choral Music Camp, sponsored by the Van Buren Youth camp and will be under the direction of Fred Sang of Kalamazoo. Sang is choral director of the Constantine public schools.

Focus of the additional week will be to offer a challenging choral musical experience to high school area musicians along with the camp's regular recreational program, according to camp director Jerry Jennings.

The regular camp season will open June 12.

Sentence: 80-120 Years

DETROIT (AP) — Elijah Powell, 44, Detroit, has been sentenced to prison for 80-to-120 years for the decapitation-disembowelment murder of an Ypsilanti Township woman. Powell was convicted of second-degree murder in the case two weeks ago. Police said the charred remains of Christal Davis, 22, were found in October 1975 near a Ford Motor Co. plant at Ypsilanti.

Liza's Free NY Concert Could Draw Million Fans

MUSIC MONEY CAN'T BUY: Liza Minnelli has offered to do a free concert in New York's Times Square. The June performance will celebrate the opening of her latest movie, "New York, New York." Insiders who have seen some of the footage from this United Artists film say it's Liza at her very best and predict it will put her back at the top. Another prediction is that she'll attract crowds of over a million, topping by far Barbra Streisand's appearance in Central Park which drew an audience of about 600,000. Welcome back to the Big Apple, Liza.

THE DIPLOMATIC INSIDER: Israel's Yitzhak Rabin keeps rushing off to Geneva to hold "secret" meetings with black Africans. What Prime Minister Rabin is up to is this:

He's trying to line up a coalition of moderate African nations that will simultaneously resume the diplomatic ties with Israel that they broke off two years ago when the Arabs threatened a boycott. Rabin believes the Arabs will be reluctant to offend that big a bloc of moderates if they act in unison.

Q: I was so happy to see Piper Laurie nominated for an Oscar for her great performance in "Carrie," but where's she been all this time? — R.F., San Diego

A: The former 1950's Universal ingenue always said she wanted to do serious roles and not the harem-desert type epics she made back then with Tony Curtis. And Piper is one actress who kept her word when she walked out on Hollywood. She's married to journalist Joseph Morgenstern, once the film critic for Newsweek, and lives happily outside New York City. Aside from her role in "The reportedly decided to retire from gymnastic competition, although she will still give exhibitions.

Q: How serious was the recent accident that Patti Smith had while she was performing in Florida? — D.E., Topeka, Kan.

A: Serious enough so that the Dark Lady of Rock will be out of action for a couple of months. Patti fell off an eight-foot stage during one of her more frantic numbers in Tampa and suffered two hairline fractures of a single vertebra. She needed 22 stitches in her head and received some painful bruises and sprains. If security guards hadn't broken her fall, Patti would be much worse off.

Q: Not a word about Marisa Berenson and her brand new husband James Randall. Are they still honeymooning? — L.D., Pasadena, Calif.

A: Word from Paris is that Randall is getting weary of the party circuit and is not exactly enchanted by all the attention his pretty wife is getting. Trouble in paradise?

Q: Is Fay Dunaway optimistic about her Oscar chances for her role in "Network"? — G.L., Boston

A: Not a bit. Fay is sure Lav Ullmann will beat her for best actress with "Face to Face." Fay thinks she's going to be like Jack Nicholson, who was nominated many times before he won an Oscar.

'Minstrel Man' Is Really Sad TV Show

By JAY SHARBUTT

AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) —

"Minstrel Man," a two-hour drama with music, is on CBS

up visions of happy, lively entertainers laughing and singing their way through life.

But expect the opposite. It's actually a sad show about the off-stage pain of black minstrels in the late 1800s, about how their livelihood depended on perpetuating a racist stereotype, playing the fast-shuffling, joke-cracking dorkie for white audiences.

Said stereotype came years earlier, when white Northern song-and-dance men blacked up their faces and misquaraded as black men in a uniquely American entertainment form, the minstrel show.

Tonight's drama starts in the year 1889, in an era when, as a narrator notes, the only time black entertainers could work in show biz was when they put

"burnt cork on their black faces and imitated the white man imitating them."

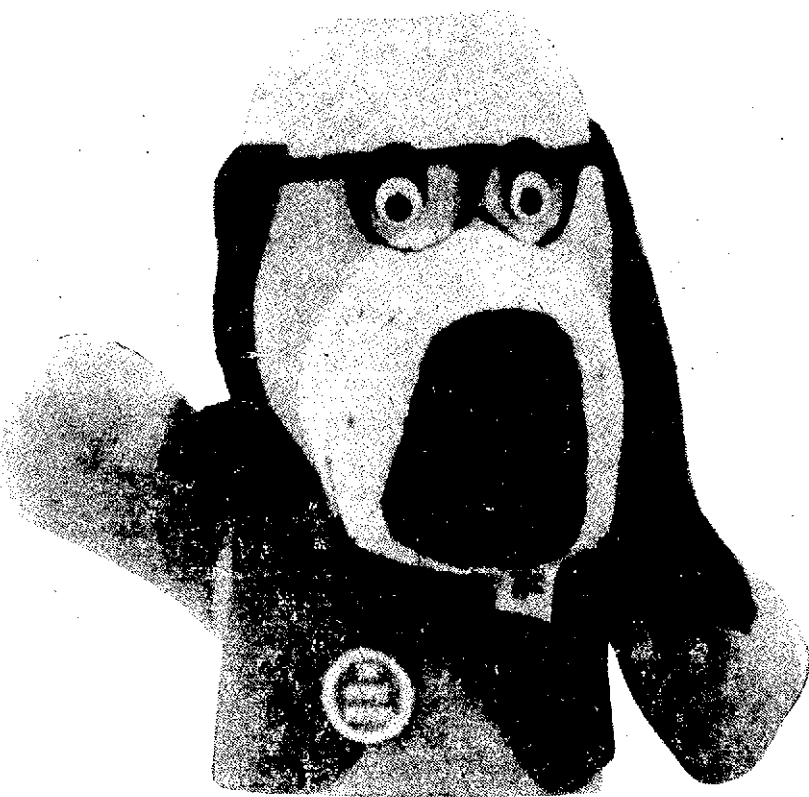

I've heard "Minstrel Man" described as "Roots" in ragtime. It's not quite that. But like "Roots," it's essentially about a quest for black pride, black dignity, in a white world admitting to neither.

The tale unfolds via two young black entertainers, Harry and Rennie Brown, who set out to make their way in show business after their father, also a minstrel man, collapses and dies on stage.

But don't expect a drama that'll make time fly. "Minstrel Man" deserves a cheer for its ambition, zilch for its ability to really bring to life the story of those sad men with the happy faces.

Panel 2: Bart Simpson is falling through a hole in the ground, looking confused with a question mark above his head. Krusty the Clown is standing next to the hole, laughing and saying "HEE-HEE HOO!".

Panel 3: Krusty the Clown is holding a pole and laughing, saying "I GREASED THE POLE!". Bart Simpson is hanging from the pole, looking surprised.

Liza's Free NY Concert Could Draw Million Fans

MUSIC MONEY CAN'T BUY: Liza Minelli has offered to do a free concert in New York's Times Square. The June performance will celebrate the opening of her latest movie, "New York, New York." Insiders who have seen some of the footage from this United Artists film say it's Liza at her very best and predict it will put her back at the top. Another prediction is that she'll attract crowds of over a million, topping by far Barbra Streisand's appearance in Central Park which drew an audience of about 600,000. Welcome back to the Big Apple, Liza.

THE DIPLOMATIC INSIDER: Israel's Yitzhak Rabin keeps rushing off to Geneva to hold "secret" meetings with black Africans. What Prime Minister Rabin is up to is this:

He's trying to line up a coalition of six moderate African nations that will simultaneously resume the diplomatic ties with Israel that they broke off two years ago when the Arabs threatened a boycott. Rabin believes the Arabs will be reluctant to offend that big a bloc of moderates if they act in unison.

Q: I was so happy to see Piper Laurie nominated for an Oscar for her great performance in "Carrie," but where's she been all this time? — R.F., San Diego

A: The former 1950's Universal ingenue always said she wanted to do serious roles and not the harem-desert type epics she made back then with Tony Curtis. And Piper is one actress who kept her word when she walked out on Hollywood. She's married to journalist Joseph Morgenstern, once the film critic for Newsweek, and lives happily outside New York City. Aside from her role in "The reportedly decided to retire from gymnastic competition, although she will still give exhibitions.

Q: How serious was the recent accident that Patti Smith had while she was performing in Florida? — D.E., Topeka, Kan.

A: Serious enough so that the Dark Lady of Rock will be out of action for a couple of months. Patti fell off an eight-foot stage during one of her more frantic numbers in Tampa and suffered two hairline fractures of a single vertebra. She needed 22 stitches in her head and received some painful bruises and sprains. If security guards hadn't broken her fall, Patti would be much worse off.

Q: Not a word about Marisa Berenson and her brand new husband James Randall. Are they still honeymooning? — L.D., Pasadena, Calif.

A: Word from Paris is that Randall is getting weary of the party circuit and is not exactly enchanted by all the attention his pretty wife is getting. Trouble in paradise?

Q: Is Fay Dunaway optimistic about her Oscar chances for her role in "Network"? — G.L., Boston

A: Not a bit. Faye is sure Liv Ullmann will beat her for best actress with "Face to Face." Faye thinks she's going to be like Jack Nicholson, who was nominated many times before he won an Oscar.

'Minstrel Man' Is Really Sad TV Show

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "Minstrel Man," a two-hour drama with music, is on CBS tonight. The title may conjure up visions of happy, lively entertainers laughing and singing their way through life.

But expect the opposite. It's actually a sad show about the off-stage pain of black minstrels in the late 1800s, about how their livelihood depended on perpetuating a racist stereotype, playing the foot-shuffling, joke-cracking dorkie for white audiences.

Said stereotype came years earlier, when white Northern song-and-dance men blacked up their faces and masqueraded as black men in a uniquely American entertainment form, the minstrel show.

Tonight's drama starts in the year 1889, in an era when, as a narrator notes, the only time black entertainers could work in show biz was when they put "burnt cork on their black faces and imitated the white man imitating them."

I've heard "Minstrel Man" described as "Roots" in ragtime. It's not quite that. But like "Roots," it's essentially about a quest for black pride, black dignity, in a white world admitting to neither.

The tale unfolds via two young black entertainers, Harry and Rennie Brown, who set out to make their way in show business after their father, also a minstrel man, collapses and dies on stage.

But don't expect a drama that'll make time fly. "Minstrel Man" deserves a cheer for its ambition, zilch for its ability to really bring to life the story of those sad men with the happy faces.

Going Back Today In History

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Wednesday, March 2, the 61st day of 1977. There are 304 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1836, Texas proclaimed independence from

On this date:

In 1775, colonists in Providence, R.I., publicly

In 1776, American Marines fought their first battle, capturing a British fort in the Bahamas.

In 1861, Dakota was organized as a U.S. territory.

In 1949, an American B-50 Superfort landed at Fort Worth, Texas, after completing the first nonstop flight around the world.

In 1962, there was a military coup in Burma in which Premier U Nu was overthrown by General Ne Win.

Ten years ago: Sen. Robert Kennedy of New York proposed a suspension of American bombing of North Vietnam to open the way to peace talks.

Five years ago: In the biggest narcotics haul up to that time, French customs agents seized nearly half a ton of heroin from a shrimp boat in the Marseilles area.

One year ago: Jimmy Carter won the Democratic presidential primary election in Vermont.

Today's birthdays: Television producer Desi Arnaz is 60. Former movie star Jennifer Jones is 58.

Thought for today: The sensible man is not impressed by what conventional people do or say. — Buddha, Indian philosopher, about 563-483 B.C.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Stock Prices Spurt Up

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, taking off from its best day of 1977, spurted up again today.

In early trading, advanced outnumbers losers by more than 3-2 among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks was up almost two points.

Analysts said Tuesday's rising market resulted in part from internal market forces, and others cautioned that investors still needed reassurances about inflation for the market to maintain its upward climb.

Today's early prices included Westinghouse Electric, up 1/8 to 17 1/2; General Motors, up 1/8 to 71 3/4; and Eastman Kodak, up 3/8 to 76 3/4.

On Tuesday, the Dow Jones industrial average rose 8.31 to 944.73, the biggest gain since Dec. 27, 1976 when the Dow climbed 10.47.

Gainers outnumbered losers by about 5-2 on the NYSE.

Big Board volume reached 19.48 million shares, up 1/8 to 16.22 million on Monday.

The NYSE's composite index rose .45 to 54.68.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index was up .88 at 111.13.

Edison Earnings Up 24%

DETROIT (AP) — Detroit Edison Co. earned $89.5 million or $1.73 per share for the 12 months ending Jan. 31, up 24 per cent from last year, the utility said this week.

In the same period a year ago, Edison had earnings of $72.1 million or $1.49 per share on fewer common shares outstanding.

The average number of shares outstanding was 51,692,487 for the year just ended, compared to 48,402,459 a year earlier.

Edison officials said it recorded an all-time record net winter output in January 1977, mainly because of the cold weather.

Operating revenues for the year ended Jan. 31 were $1.29 billion, up 20 per cent from the $1.08 billion in the previous year.

Parent Firm Is Expanding

JACKSON — Hayes-Albion corporation has announced a five-year, $10.8 million program designed to expand the annual capacity of its Albion castings plant from 100,000 to 122,000 tons. The new facilities will be used to manufacture nodular (ductile) iron as well as malleable castings.

C. E. Drury, chairman of the board and president, said the program, to be financed primarily from retained earnings, will be in two stages. Expansion of the company's molding facilities will begin this month and be completed during the company's fiscal year ending July 31, 1978. Conversion to nodular iron production will be completed during fiscal 1980.

In February, the company announced plans to produce high-volume, permanent mold aluminum castings in its Tiffin, Ohio, plant. The cost of the program is estimated to be $15 million. When completed in the early 1980s, Drury said the facility will have the capacity to produce 18,000 tons of aluminum castings a year.

Hayes-Albion is parent firm of Paramount Die Casting, Stevensville.

Clark Says Firm's Outlook Is Bright

BUCHANAN — Clark Equipment Co., in its 1976 annual report to shareholders said the company is "optimistic about near and long-term outlooks for the company," in anticipation of a gradually improving world economy.

"Clark has taken steps to assure satisfactory production capacity for the years ahead," Bert E. Phillips, president, said in a letter to shareholders.

Elements of that program include a transmission plant opened late in 1975, new construction machinery and axle facilities scheduled to begin production this year, two parts depots under construction and an industrial truck plant currently being expanded. Corporate capital expenditures for 1976 were $42.7 million.

As previously announced, Clark's world-wide sales in 1976 declined 11 per cent to $1.261 million from the all-time high of $1.424 million reported in 1975. Withdrawal from the company's trailer and commercial refrigeration businesses, announced last year, accounted for four per cent of the sales decrease.

Also, as previously reported, net income for 1976 rose 46 per cent to $68.1 million or $4.97 per share compared to $46.6 million or $3.43 per share in 1975. A non-recurring gain of $16 million or $1.17 per share for 1976 is from $20 million of reduced federal income taxes attributable to liquidation of Clark's subsidiary in the United Kingdom, less $4 million additional losses from such liquidation.

Without this non-recurring item, income from continuing operations still reached the second highest level in Clark's history, $52.1 million or $3.80 per share, up 12 per cent from 1975 figures.

Consolidated overseas sales outside the U.S. and Canada in 1976, including $163 million in exports from the U.S., decreased 13 per cent to $485 million. This segment represents 38 per cent of Clark total sales. In addition, licensees posted revenues of $174 million, bringing total overseas sales of Clark trademark products to $659 million, a four per cent decline from 1975.

In the message to stockholders, Phillips outlined asset management strategies directed toward improved earnings for 1977. "Continued programs of inventory and related debt reductions, as well as redeployment of certain manufacturing responsibilities in several areas of the business, have been designed to consolidate operations and increase earnings," he noted.

In the Material Handling Group, industrial truck orders are returning to normal levels after the worst recession in 30 years, Phillips said. The worldwide program to turn company-owned branches into independent dealerships is complete in the U.S. and is expected to be effected in France by 1978.

Clark celebrated manufacture of its 500,000th industrial truck at Battle Creek, and its 625,000th industrial truck world-wide, last October. The company estimates that this represents the manufacture of twice as many industrial trucks as Clark's nearest competitor, according to the report.

The Construction Machinery Group still notes soft demand, but prospects are strengthening for small and medium-sized tractor shovels in both domestic and international markets, shareholders were told.

The General Products Group is well situated to participate in upward trends in transmission and axle markets, the report said. Additionally, Melroe products demonstrated strong sales potential in 1976, especially in new overseas markets, the report said.

Crash Scene Crowd Held At Bay With Shotguns

HELLO AGAIN: Former First Lady Betty Ford waves cheerful hello to friends Tuesday as she and former President Ford arrive in Vail, Colo., for week-long visit. The Fords vacationed in Vail in both summer and winter during Ford's term as President and reportedly will continue to visit for short vacations. (AP Wirephoto)

SOUTHFIELD, Mich. (AP) — Police used shotguns to prevent an angry crowd of onlookers from attacking two men whose car injured three persons during a high-speed police chase Tuesday.

The chase crashed to a halt just inside the Detroit city limits when the fleeing car ran a red light and slammed into three cars, police said.

Police said Mrs. Carolyn Harrison, 29, of Detroit — a passenger in one of the struck cars — was critically injured in the pileup. Mrs. Anna Johnson, 20, of Highland Park and her 42-year-old son, Jamie Jr., suffered minor injuries, police reported.

A crowd that witnessed the crash appeared on the scene with Mrs. Johnson's husband, James, and tried to attack the occupants of the fleeing car, said Southfield police. Police held the crowd at bay with shotguns while they called for aid.

Police said the chase began around 7:30 Tuesday morning when two Southfield patrolmen saw a car speeding out of a parking lot. The officers pursued the car to the Detroit city limits, where it jumped the median strip and began heading in the opposite direction.

The car, with police close behind, sped down a residential street at speeds up to 85 miles an hour, police said. A few blocks later, it ran the red light and crashed into the cars carrying Mrs. Harrison and the Johnsons.

The two men got out of the car and fled on foot. Mrs. Johnson's husband jumped from his car and joined the chase, which ended when two Southfield officers nabbed the men. Police were holding the pair pending charges.

Film Banned In School

ROMEO, Mich. (AP) — The Romeo School Board has banned from local classrooms a controversial film on mob violence. The board voted in favor of the ban 7-0 and agreed to review its media selection policies. The board left the door open for a reversal of the ban in the future. The banned film is called "The Lottery," a 1969 movie which depicts a small town in which the residents hold a yearly lottery and then stone the "winner" to death. The decision came at a meeting of more than 200 persons at a local junior high school.

Crash Scene Crowd Held At Bay With Shotguns

SOUTHFIELD, Mich. (AP) — Police used shotguns to prevent an angry crowd of onlookers from attacking two men whose car injured three persons during a high-speed police chase Tuesday.

The chase crashed to a halt just inside the Detroit city limits when the fleeing car ran a red light and slammed into three cars, police said.

Police said Mrs. Carolyn Harrison, 29, of Detroit — a passenger in one of the struck cars — was critically injured in the pileup. Mrs. Alma Johnson, 20, of Highland Park and her 42-year-old son, Jamie Jr., suffered minor injuries, police reported.

A crowd that witnessed the crash appeared on the scene with Mrs. Johnson's husband, Jamie, and tried to attack the occupants of the fleeing car, said Southfield police. Police held the crowd at bay with shotguns while they called for aid.

Police said the chase began around 7:30 Tuesday morning when two Southfield patrolmen saw a car speeding out of a parking lot. The officers pursued the car to the Detroit city limits, where it jumped the median strip and began heading in the opposite direction.

The car, with police close behind, sped down a residential street at speeds up to 85 miles an hour, police said. A few blocks later, it ran the red light and crashed into the cars carrying Mrs. Harrison and the Johnsons.

The two men got out of the car and fled on foot. Mrs. Johnson's husband jumped from his car and joined the chase, which ended when two Southfield officers nabbed the men. Police were holding the pair pending charges.

Film Banned In School

ROMEIO, Mich. (AP) — The Romeo School Board has banned from local classrooms a controversial film on mob violence. The board voted in favor of the ban 7-0 and agreed to review its media selection policies. The board left the door open for a reversal of the ban in the future. The banned film is called "The Lottery," a 1969 movie which depicts a small town in which the residents hold a yearly lottery and then stone the "winner" to death. The decision came at a meeting of more than 200 persons at a local junior high school.

HELLO AGAIN: Former First Lady Betty Ford waves cheerfully hello to friends Tuesday as she and former President Ford arrive in Vail, Colo., for week-long visit. The Fords vacationed in Vail in both summer and winter during Ford's term as President and reportedly Jamie, and tried to attack the occupants of the fleeing car, said Southfield police. Police
